SECOND JAP BATTLESHIP BOMBED BY U. S. PLANES OFF LUZON COAST

Russians Promise Not To Sign Treaty Unless Allies Agree

Whole of Germany Wants War To Stop Now, Pravda's Editorial Writer Says.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

KUIBYSHEV, U. S. S. R., Dec. 11.—Soviet officials said today that Adolf Hitler had put out peace feelers to Russia. In answer to the peace movement, Soviet officials declared: "A peace with Germany would be made only by joint agreement with Britain and the United States."

The official Communist newspaper Pravda said of the situation: "The Hitler gang is ready any day to sign a peace with Russia if only our government would talk with them."

David Zaslavsky, Pravda's chief editorial writer, said of the German peace feeler that a prerequisite of peace was liquidation of the "Hitler criminals."

"The Hitler gang dreams of peace with us," Zaslavsky said, "because the whole of Germany longs for a cessation of war, foreseeing catastrophe. Hitler promised the Germans victory and deceived them. Now he promises peace, and he also is deceiving them."

Peace with Germany, this writer said, will come only after the German people banish Hitler and his followers, and added: "But this peace will be only by agreement with Great Britain and the United States."

Meanwhile, United States Charge d'Affaires Walter Thurston informed the Soviet vice commissar for foreign affairs, S. A. Lozovsky, that the United States was at war with Japan. The formal message from Washington was received by Thurston at 1:30 a. m. today, although it was sent December 8.

(This dispatch was filed before the United States was at war with Germany and Italy.)

Soldiers To Get Christmas Mail

The war won't interfere with Santa Claus—he'll come through O. K. for the boys in service.

This was indicated yesterday when Army officials announced that Christmas gifts for soldiers should be sent to the last known address of the men in uniform. From there, the mail will be forwarded if there is a change of address.

U. S. Answers Axis Challenge, Declares War

Both Houses Take Momentous Step Without One Opposing Vote.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Congress unceremoniously declared war on Germany and Italy yesterday to an accompaniment of American successes on the Pacific which found the nation's airmen sinking a Japanese battleship, a light cruiser and a destroyer.

Without a single vote of opposition, both houses quickly took the step which made this nation a full and formal participant in the world-wide fight against Axis domination.

President Roosevelt, who had asked for the declaration immediately upon learning that Germany and Italy had declared war on the United States, signed the war resolutions as soon as they were received at the White House.

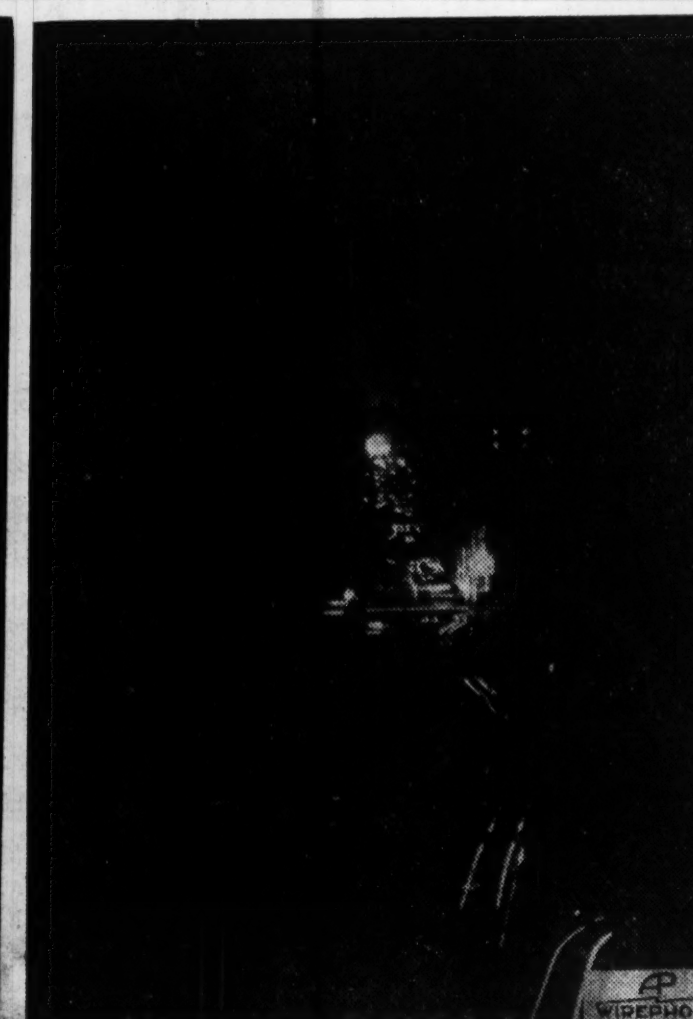

The tremendous lineup of the world powers for the prosecution of World War No. 2 was complete except for one major exception, Russia, which is at war with Germany and Italy, has yet to declare herself against Japan, but Secretary of State Hull expressed confidence that she would do so.

Just before going into conference with Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet ambassador, Hull told reporters:

"For our part we have no doubt that the government and the people of the United States will do a good job for their

Atlanta's Santa Claus Is in War Up to His Ears, On U. S. Side

By LAMAR Q. BALL.

Santa Claus has gone to war—on the side of the United States—and he's in it up to his ears.

This is no joke.

The old boy announced himself yesterday in a downtown department store in one of those brief moments when he came up for air after listening to several score of children confide into his ears just what they wanted for Christmas.

He had been bluff and tender with the children, had stroked their heads and patted their hands and assured them that his North Pole factory is working on a 24-hour basis just to bring them the marvelous gifts they're expecting. When he stood up, though, he said quietly:

"I've been wondering about those three boys of mine. All three of them in the service. I know they'll do a good job for their country—just read this letter I got in the mail from the oldest one today."

Out of his red, fur-lined pockets, he pulled a crumpled letter and here is what it said:

"Dearest Dad: There is a war and I am now in it, but that must not be a cause for you to worry. I have a good job here in the service. Of course, there is danger and there will be more danger to come but if I am to die a soldier's death, so be it! There is no cause for worry. I have no fear of death, only a queer emotion that some day I will come home wrapped in all the glory of war with an infallible memory of all the heroism of war that goes with it. If I don't, some day we shall meet in a place where there will be no war, worry or strife. You must think of me as doing my duty to God and country. Be brave and show outward pride, that the mite of humanity you helped bring into the world is now a soldier doing his part of defending our great and wonderful country. You must do all you can in the way of national defense, no matter how little it may be. It will aid the cause. You must pray, not only for me and others in the Army, but for the innocent women and children who will have to endure untold suffering from this fight for freedom of religion, speech and democracy. I am not afraid to die for this, and you must not be afraid for me. That would be hypocrisy. I am here to do my duty to the best of my ability—no man could do more—no one, calling himself a man, could do less.

"I will write more details later."

Registration Of All 18 to 65 Studied by U. S.

Army Appeals for 10,000 Women To Volunteer as Nurses.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—

Registration of all men and women from 18 to 65 years of age may be asked by the government in an all-out mobilization of the nation's human resources for the war with the Axis.

Brigadier General Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service, disclosed today that this plan was under study as the Army called for 10,000 volunteer nurses and congress swiftly passed legislation removing prohibitions against service of selectees outside the Western Hemisphere.

"We undoubtedly are soon going to consider the registration of women," Hershey told a press conference.

He went on to estimate that 20,000,000 could serve by replacing men in factories, enlisting in civilian defense or with the armed service in noncombatant capacities.

The general proposition of registering and classifying all able-bodied men and women aged 18 to 65 was described by Hershey as the "Number 1 project at this time."

This would require new legislation. Emphasizing that the idea still was in the study stage, Hershey said he thought congress should enact legislation presenting the people with "a broad liability to another place."

Knox in Honolulu; 3 Enemy Warships Are Sent to Bottom

Chinese 'Big Push,' Hurlled To Relieve Besieged Hongkong, Takes Heavy Toll of Nipponese

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The Navy announced last night that Admiral Thomas C. Hart, commander in chief of the Asiatic fleet, reported that Navy patrol planes scored bomb hits on a Japanese battleship of the Kongo class off the coast of Luzon.

The Navy, in its third communique of the war, said the Japanese ship was badly damaged.

The Japanese navy has four battleships of the Kongo class. The Kongo and Hiei were commissioned in 1912 and the Haruna and Kirisima in 1913. All four have a standard displacement of 29,330 tons and complements of about 980 men each.

The government in Washington had already reported the Haruna was bombed and sunk.

Navy officers emphasized the damaged war vessel was in addition to the Haruna, which the Army announced had been sunk by Army planes.

Ships Refitted.

All four battleships of the Kongo class were refitted between 1926 and 1930, and the Kongo was reported to have been completely rebuilt to provide additional protection against torpedo and aircraft attack.

Secretary of Navy Knox, meanwhile, arrived at Honolulu yesterday afternoon.

This was announced early last night by the Navy Department, which gave no other details. It had been known only that Knox was absent from Washington.

While all official information was lacking, the purpose of the secretary's trip apparently was to make a personal investigation of the smashing Japanese surprise raid on the naval base and other defense installations at Honolulu Sunday.

Many hard American blows were falling upon the Japanese assailant in the Pacific. In that vast theater of early tragedy—where the invader had won initial successes by springing without warning—the news was no longer of American disaster, but of American victory.

Emerging Story.

This was the emerging story last night:

Officially confirmed by the American government:

Four Japanese aerial attacks on the Wake Island outpost, and one by light naval forces, beaten back in the last 48 hours; a Japanese light cruiser and a Japanese destroyer sunk; American losses were an unstated number of planes; Wake still holding firm although momentarily expecting renewed assaults and perhaps an attempt at a Japanese landing.

The U. S. Army announced in a communique early today that the Japanese have improved their

Hawaii Downed 20 Jap Planes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(INS)

Twenty Japanese war planes were destroyed during the attack on Hawaii Sunday, Territorial Governor Joseph P. Poindexter tonight informed Hawaiian Delegate Samuel Wilder King.

In an overseas telephone conversation, the Governor said the Honolulu newspapers today published the news, authorized by the commanding general of the Hawaiian department, of the destruction of the 20 enemy aircraft. Poindexter did not say how the Japanese attacking planes were brought down.

strength in northern Luzon, the island upon which Manila, capital of the Philippines, is situated, but "the situation remains unchanged materially."

There was an unconfirmed report that a small force had landed at Legaspi, a port of the Albany gulf on the southeastern coast of Luzon, about 250 air miles southeast of Manila.

These followed unofficial reports that the Philippine army had recaptured the region about Aparri in the north and was driving the Japanese back into the sea.

Airport Reported Seized.

The American defenders apparently had smashed other Japanese efforts to set invading forces firmly ashore, save possibly for one new landing by parachute. Unofficially, however, an airport near Haglan, about 70 miles south of Aparri, had been seized by Japanese paratroopers, but that Philippine constabulary forces were preparing to assault the presumably small numbers of invaders there.

Today's communique said: "The enemy has improved his strength in northern Luzon. However, the situation remains unchanged materially. A small force is reported to have pushed ashore at Legaspi, but hitherto the report has not been confirmed and further details are lacking."

Manila Under Alarm.

Manila was under air raid alarm for an hour and 40 minutes early this morning—from 3:50 to

The Life of Our Lord by Charles Dickens

Written for His Children in 1846-49 and Reissued as Family Secret for Nearly a Century.

Jesus as Healer and Friend of the Lowly. Succoring the Ill and Stilling the Sea, Depicted in Novelistic Story.

CHAPTER THE FOURTH.

There were in that country, where Our Saviour performed His Miracles, certain people who were called Pharisees. They were very proud, and believed that no people were good but themselves; and they were all afraid of Jesus Christ, because He taught the people better. So were the Jews, in general. Most of the inhabitants of that country were Jews.

Our Saviour, walking once in the fields with His Disciples on a Sunday (which the Jews called, and still call, the Sabbath) they gathered some ears of the corn that was growing there, to eat. This, the Pharisees said, was wrong; and in the same way, when Our Saviour went into one of their churches—they were called synagogues—and looked compassionately on a poor man who had his hand all withered and wasted away, these Pharisees said, "Is it right to cure people on a Sunday?" Our Saviour answered them by saying, "If any of you had a sheep and it fell into a pit, would you not take it out, even though it happened on a Sunday? And how much better is a man than a sheep!" Then He said to the poor man, "Stretch out thine hand!" And it was cured immediately, and was smooth and useful like the other. So Jesus Christ told them, "You may always do good, no matter what the day is."

There was a city called Nain into which Our Saviour went soon after this, followed by great numbers of people, and especially by those who had sick relations, or friends, or children. For they brought sick people out into the streets and roads through which He passed, and cried out to Him to touch them; and when He did, they became well. Going on, in the midst of this crowd, and near the gate of the city, He met a funeral. It was the funeral of a young man, who was carried on what is called a bier, which was open, as the custom was in that country, and is now in many parts of Italy. His poor mother followed the bier, and wept very much, for she had no other child. When Our Saviour saw her, He was touched to the heart to see her so sorry, and said, "Weep not! Then, the bearers of the bier standing still, He walked up to it and touched it with His hand, and said, 'Young man! Arise!' The dead man, coming to life again at the sound of the Saviour's voice, rose up and began to speak. And Jesus Christ leaving him with his mother—ah how happy they both were!—went away.

By this time the crowd was so very great that Jesus Christ went down to the waterside, to go in a boat, to a more retired place. And in the boat He fell asleep, while His Disciples were sitting on the deck. While He was still sleeping, a violent storm arose, so that the waves washed over the boat, and the howling wind so rocked and shook it, that they thought it would sink. In their fright the Disciples awoke Our Saviour, and said, "Lord! Save us, or we are lost!" He stood up, and raising His arm, said to the rolling sea and to the whistling wind, "Peace! Be still!" And immediately it was calm and pleasant weather, and the boat went safely on through the smooth waters.

When they came to the other side of the waters they had to pass a wild and lonely burying-ground that was outside the city which they were going. All burying-grounds were outside cities in those times. In this place there was a dreadful madman who lived among the tombs, and howled all day and night, so that it made travellers afraid, to hear him. They had tried to chain him, but he broke his chains, he was so strong; and he would throw himself on the sharp stones, and cut himself in the most dreadful manner, crying and howling all the while. When this wretched man saw Jesus Christ, a long way off, he cried out, "It is the Son of God! Oh, Son of God, do not torment me!" Jesus, coming near him, perceived that he was torn by an evil spirit, and cast the madness out of him, and into a herd of swine (or pigs) who were feeding close by, and who directly ran headlong down a steep place leading into the sea, and were dashed to pieces.

Now Herod, the son of that cruel King who murdered the Innocents, reigning over the people there, and hearing that Jesus Christ was doing these wonders, and was giving sight to the blind, and causing the deaf to hear, and the dumb to speak, and the lame to walk, and that He was followed by multitudes and multitudes of people—Herod, hearing this, said: "This man is a companion and friend of John the Baptist." John was the good man you recollect, who wore a garment made of camel's hair, and ate wild honey. Herod had taken him prisoner, because he taught and preached to the people; and had him then, locked up, in the prisons of his palace.

While Herod was in this angry humour with John, his birthday came; and his daughter Herodias, who was a fine dancer, danced before him, to please him. She pleased him so much that he swore an oath that he would give her whatever she would ask for. "Then," said she, "father, give me the head of John the Baptist in a charger." For she hated John, and was a wicked, cruel woman.

The King was sorry, for though he had John prisoner, he did not wish to kill him; but, having sworn that he would give her what she asked for, he sent some soldiers down into the prison, with directions to cut off the head of John the Baptist, and give it to Herodias. This they did, and took it to her, as she had said, in a charger, which was a kind of dish. When Jesus Christ heard from the Apostles of this cruel deed, He left the city, and went off with them (after they had privately buried John's body in the night) to another place.

City Cancels $3.80 Tax Bill Of Bob Bunnelle, in London

The Atlanta city government is no Shylock, and besides it is willing to contribute $3.80, to the defenders of the British capital. That in essence was the statement made yesterday by Riley F. Elder, municipal revenue collector, who recommended cancellation of a bill for $3.80 against Robert (Bob) E. Bunnelle, formerly attached to the Associated Press bureau here and now bureau manager of the news agency in London.

Elder said "London is a fur piece to go to collect $3.80 in city taxes and besides those boys are catching enough hell as it is."

Bunnelle, according to records filed his 1939 tax return, and then was transferred, leaving Atlanta before the payments became due. He never paid them and Elder sent him a tax notice.

Yesterday Bunnelle wrote Elder in part: "The police might find it a little difficult to serve me with a summons just now, but since I hope to return to Georgia, I'd like to keep the record straight."

He added if four months' residence required payment of the tax he would do so, but Elder said "I believe the city can just forget this little item as a contribution to the information we have gotten from Bunnelle's pen in London."

Vichy Giving Warships To Italy, Ankara Says
BERN, Switzerland, Dec. 11.—(AP)—The Ankara radio reported tonight that France had agreed to transfer some warships to Italy to convoy Italian transports in the Mediterranean. This, the broadcast indicated, had been arranged in yesterday's meeting of Vichy Vice Premier Darlan and Italian Foreign Minister Ciano at Turin.

The radio, which did not give the source of its information, also said that France had given Italy the use of the Port of Bizerte in Tunisia.

Dr. Patten, 87, Retired Pastor, Dies in Augusta

Served as Minister of Decatur Presbyterian Church 21 Years.

Dr. James G. Patten Sr., 87, for 21 years pastor of the Decatur Presbyterian church, before he retired, died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Donald Kirkpatrick, in Augusta, it was reported here.

A native of Tennessee, Dr. Patten attended Southwestern Presbyterian University at Clarksville, Tenn., and Union Theological Seminary at Richmond, Va.

He left Decatur in 1917 shortly before the Rev. D. P. McGeachy, present pastor, was called to the church. Surviving are his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Kirkpatrick and Clemmie Patten, all of Augusta; two sons, Dr. E. D. Patten, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Greenville, S. C., and Dr. James G. Patten Jr., pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Waynesboro, Va.

Funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning from the Decatur Presbyterian church.

Production Quotas On Passenger Cars, Trucks Ordered Cut

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—The Office of Production Management ordered previous production quotas on passenger cars and light trucks for December cut 25 per cent and those for January cut 50 per cent.

The revised maximums set for the automotive industry, with December's new curtailment taking effect December 15, will mean a reduction of 51,212 cars from the quota of 204,848 originally set for the entire month.

In January, the previously set maximum of 204,848 will be reduced to 102,424.

Emergency Step.
The new curtailment, ordered as an emergency step to conserve steel and other critical materials used in the automotive industry, means that the December output must be trimmed a total of about 80 per cent compared with last December's production and that January's output must be reduced 75 per cent compared with the same month a year ago.

Light truck production beginning December 15 will be reduced by 6,042 trucks from the maximum of 24,169 previously established for the month and January's output will be reduced by 12,084. Leon Henderson, director of the OPM supply division, said the emergency measure—which involves a complete revision of previously announced quotas for February as well—had the "wholehearted approval and co-operation of the industry and labor."

Supply Study Begun.
"I want to emphasize again," Henderson declared, "that there is no guarantee that sufficient materials will be available to permit manufacturers to achieve the maximum production permitted."

Automobile and truck manufacturers will be permitted to adjust production schedules between December 15 and January 31 so that the over-all curtailment may be worked out in as satisfactory a way as possible from the viewpoint of both labor and management. OPM's automotive branch has begun a study of the industry's increasing problems of material supplies and labor displacement in an effort to determine how production will be affected beginning February 1.

U. S. Gets 2d Jap Battleship

5:30—but no raiders were reported.

In the running aerial struggle over Manila and vicinity, Japanese attacks of Wednesday on Manila itself, Cavite naval base and Nichols air field were said to have caused heavy damage, press estimates putting the casualties in afternoon raids at 30 dead and 300 wounded, but from 9 to 15 Japanese bombers were marked as shot down against four American planes lost.

Suspected fifth columnists still were being rounded up.

In the Vichy theater, the British allies also reported a measurable turn for the better in their position.

British bombers were reported to have captured or killed 15 Japanese pilots, the radio correspondent said.

The main British land forces have not yet engaged the Japanese who have gained a foothold north of Singapore, he added.

Chinese troops attacking all along the Kwangtung front to relieve Japanese pressure on Hongkong have inflicted 15,000 casualties on the Japs in a continuing two-day offensive, the China radio announced yesterday from Chungking.

Heavy blows were dealt to the Japanese especially on the northern and western anchors of the battle front, the account states.

The central sector of the front was in the Shichow area about 130 miles north of Canton. Approximately 1,000,000 Japanese soldiers still are in China, and about 400 Japanese planes are based on Hainan Island, 200 miles southwest of Canton, the radio said.

Leave Manchuria.
But Japanese troops were reported in Chungking as withdrawing from Manchuria and

F. D. R. Thanks Political Chiefs For Aid Pledge

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, hailing offers of the major political parties to aid the war effort, asserted today that they were capable of "inescapable service" and he thought they could function to the best advantage in the field of civilian defense.

Edward J. Flynn, Democratic national chairman, wired Chairman Joseph W. Martin Jr., of the Republican national committee, on Tuesday declaring politics stood adjourned and pointing to the possibilities of service by the two political organizations.

Martin wired back that Republicans would gladly answer any call to national service and stood ready to contribute their talents and abilities in every way to the defense of their country.

material supplies and labor displacement in an effort to determine how production will be affected beginning February 1.

Henderson also said that he had notified the industry of implications in the order issued last night by OPM "freezing" the sale of rubber tires and that, as a further conservation measure, no spare tires are being placed on passenger cars and light trucks now coming off assembly lines.

Although a large stock pile of crude rubber is available to cushion effects of the war on imports, Henderson asserted, this reserve must be used with great care.

$50,000 Asked For Emergency Use by Police

Committee Will Present Recommendation to Council Monday.

A $50,000 emergency fund to provide additional equipment and officers for the Atlanta police department was recommended for 1942 last night by city council's police committee and will be presented to council Monday.

The fund will be dispensed by the committee and Police Chief Hornsby to the "best advantage in assisting to protect the lives and properties of Atlantians if and when the need arises." The plans were not made public.

The committee also voted to provide an in-service training school for all department members and for those who may become policemen in the future.

Mayor McCraw, an advocate of the training school, offered the ordinance, which sets up a faculty and makes it mandatory for each departmental member to attend special classes 100 hours a year.

Man Confesses He Tried To Wreck Train

Tells FBI He Wanted To Be Hero and Get Reward.

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 11.—(AP)—A 38-year-old Negro confessed today, the FBI announced, that he set a charge of dynamite on a Florida East Coast Railway trestle, then reported it to police in the hope he would become a hero and receive a reward.

R. G. Danner, head of the FBI Miami office, took Stokes McCreary before United States Commissioner Roger Edward Davis, where he was charged with violating the federal antisabotage statute, pleaded guilty and was bound over under $5,000 bond.

Two sticks of dynamite, wired to the rails and attached by a long wire to a dry-cell battery hidden near by were discovered about midnight on McCreary's tip.

Police said apparently one passenger train had passed over the spot, but that the wire was too long to bring current to the caps in the dynamite, thus preventing an explosion.

McCreary at first asserted he had seen two white men placing the charge. Later, Danner said, he told questioners he had been paid $200 by a white man to do the job. The man was absolved in connection with the case.

Finally, Danner said, McCreary admitted he placed the charge because a friend of his in Georgia once found a broken rail, flagged a train and was given $500 reward and a job for life by the railroad company.

LONG DISTANCE—Yes, sir, it's a long distance from Japan to the long-distance telephone building in San Francisco, but it's not quite far enough. So, in case those pesky Japs get a wrong number and think they're bombing a plane factory, 3,000 sandbags are being piled around the phone edifice. Just in case.

Glenn Holland Killed in Miami Airplane Crash

Former Tech Grid Star, 2 Others Die as Training Ship Falls.

Glenn A. Holland, of Atlanta, air carrier inspector of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, a widely known Tech football player of the late 1920s, was one of three men to die in the crash of a two-engine training plane of Pan-American Airways at Miami yesterday.

The machine was seen to take fire a mile off shore. Flaming, it plunged into eight feet of water. Holland and Joseph C. Barrett Jr., the pilot, were dead when rescuers reached the airplane. The third occupant, W. S. Sorenson, radio operator, of Miami, was pulled from the machine alive, but died soon afterward. He was well known in Atlanta.

Holland's mother, Mrs. Ida W. Holland, of Atlanta, survives.

Holland was captain of the 1924 Tech High football team, southern champions, who defeated Boys' High, 69 to 0. He was named on the all-southern prep school team. He played end for Georgia Tech on the 1928 Rose Bowl team, which beat California January 1, 1929.

Later he was connected with Delta Airlines, then became an aeronautical inspector for the government, in which capacity he had served for several years.

Georgians Warned On 'Tale-Bearers'

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Georgians were advised today to beware of tale-bearers bent on spreading stories that are harmful to public morale.

Ben Robertson, South Carolina newspaperman who spent 18 months in England as a war correspondent, said Americans should make an effort to curb the spread of unconfirmed rumors. He cited reports now circulating for the effect that Russia soon would make peace with Germany.

"Nobody can or will win this war except the United States," he told workers of the Georgia Agricultural Extension Service attending their annual conference.

"It will take everything we've got and it will take a long time," he added that the war would be won in Berlin, not in Tokyo.

Asked if he thought the United States would be subjected to bombing raids, he answered affirmatively but said he thought the country could face bombing. He said it was unlikely that eastern cities would be bombed.

Australia Nears Full War Footing

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Prime Minister John Curtin announced sweeping emergency measures tonight to draft all available manpower into the armed forces and place the entire nation on a war footing.

Single men from 18 to 45 and married men from 18 to 35 will be required to register under the new draft laws. Veterans of the last war were being mobilized for guard and coast defense duties. The cabinet laid plans for drastic gasoline rationing and checked fuel, coal and clothing stocks and air raid precautions.

Women rushed to answer a call for volunteers for the auxiliary services.

Many Hot Lunches Served Sumter Pupils

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.
AMERICUS, Ga., Dec. 11.—Thirty thousand hot lunches are served monthly to the children of Sumter county schools, it was revealed at a meeting of the County Teachers' Association here last night.

More than 100 teachers and friends of schools heard R. L. Ramsey, of Atlanta, secretary of the Georgia Education Association, discuss "Federal Aid in Education," dealing with house bill No. 1313, which will, if enacted into law, provide the schools of the nation with $300,000,000 in federal funds, of which Georgia would benefit from $6,000,000 to $12,000,000, according to the speaker.

It was indicated that many Sumter county teachers are in favor of the federal aid.

Funeral Rites Are Set For Reuben James Men

BOSTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Memorial services for the 100 men who lost their lives in the torpedoing of the United States destroyer Reuben James on the night of October 30-31 will be held on Sunday aboard the frigate Constitution, known to the nation as "Old Ironsides."

In announcing the ceremony, Rear Admiral W. T. Tarrant, commandant of the First Naval District, said limitation of space would preclude the presence of other than the families of those killed aboard the old warship, now tied up at the Boston Navy Yard.

TO MY WIFE WITH LOVE

Guess I haven't told you my nickname at the office is "Hard-Boiled." Guess I don't have to. But you must know that underneath I'm still that same tongue-tied fellow who took a month to get up nerve enough to ask you to marry him. I'm no Boyer, you know, just a husband with a tongue that has never learned to say the things you probably want to hear. But this Christmas I'm going to break down and buy you something pretty-special that will say them all for me. I want it to be one of those trailing robe-or-negligee-things you can wear at home in the evening. I can think of nothing better to convey all my love to the swellest girl in the whole world . . . from that guy she married.

GRiffin Yule Fund Totals $100,000

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

GRiffin, Ga., Dec. 11.—Three textile plants of Griffin will pay $68,000 to members of Christmas savings clubs operated by those mills within the next three days. The mills will pay the members along with their regular weekly checks, according to an official here.

The mills' savings clubs, plus an additional $35,000 in Christmas savings paid out by a local bank, will bring in more than $100,000 in savings by Griffin people.

Merchants have already reported a brisk Christmas business, with customers buying at least as heavily as in former years. They are expecting a spurt in Christmas trade as soon as the money from the Christmas clubs has been paid.

Toy stores and departments are reporting shortage in some of the better class merchandise now, and assert that few of the items which have become exhausted can be replaced.

Repulse Survivors Describe Suicidal Abandon of Japs

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Aerial torpedoes fired with suicidal abandon sank the British battleship Prince of Wales and battle cruiser Repulse, Cecil Brown, CBS correspondent and survivor of the Repulse, reported today in a 2,000-word log he jotted down during the attack.

Russia's Stand Against Nazis Cheers Capital

No Doubt U. S. S. R. Will Do Full Part, Hull Says.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—The declaration of Soviet officials that Russia would never make peace with Germany except by joint agreement with the United States and Britain cheered this capital, though there was no immediate comment from the State Department or White House.

Among members of congress there had been indications of some uneasiness over the long hours of silence in Kuybyshev after the Japanese attack on the United States.

However, no such feeling had been evidenced at the State Department and only a few hours before the Soviet declaration Secretary of State Hull asserted the United States had "no doubt that the government and people of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics will do their full part in standing side by side with all liberty-loving people against the common menace."

Hull issued this reassuring statement shortly before a conference with Maxim Litvinoff, the newly arrived Russian ambassador, which was described as for the purpose of a general exchange of information.

After this meeting, Litvinoff declared to reporters that Russia and the United States have "common cause and a common fight" but, despite a barrage of questions on that point, gave no hint of what course the Soviets would adopt with respect to the war in the Pacific.

He disclosed, however, that he had seen President Roosevelt and Harry Hopkins, the President's close friend and adviser, earlier in the day and said he expected to see Lord Halifax, the British ambassador, soon, adding that the latter visit would be only a courtesy call on a diplomatic colleague.

As for his talk with Hull, Litvinoff said, "We understand each other." He added: "Today you have declared war on Germany and Italy and they are the great enemy."

In response to one specific question as to Russia's attitude toward Japan, Litvinoff replied: "Japan has taken no action against Russia, and Russia has taken none against Japan."

$240,000 Levied In Tobacco Fines

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 11.—(AP) Fines totaling $240,000 were assessed late today against three major tobacco companies and 13 executives, convicted October 27 of anti-trust charges.

Denying arguments for a new trial and an arrest of judgment, Federal Judge Church Ford fined the American Tobacco Company, Liggett and Myers, and the R. J. Reynolds Company $5,000 each on each of three counts, a total of $15,000 for each company, likewise, the 13 individuals were each fined a total of $15,000—$5,000 on each of three counts.

Defendants also were ordered to pay costs of the trial on the monopoly charges, estimated to amount to more than $50,000.

NAMED ON COMMITTEE.

TOCCOA, Ga., Dec. 11.—R. W. Acree, local businessman, has been appointed a member of the National Re-employment Committee for the Gainesville area. One of the main functions of this committee is to insure jobs for soldiers both now and when they are again returned to normal civilian life at the end of present hostilities.

for registration and a narrower liability for service.

"I don't visualize five or six million men marching off to war, but we must try to be ready through a measured approach to the problem," he said.

"There is something to be gained by registering and classifying a broad group of people."

Under the present selective service act, men between 21 and 35 inclusive were registered. About half of the present 1,600,000 men in the Army were drafted under this act.

Hershey estimated that 1,000,000 more were immediately available from the registered group, though he said this might mean lowering the standards for acceptance. He made clear that the first calls would go to men in this group.

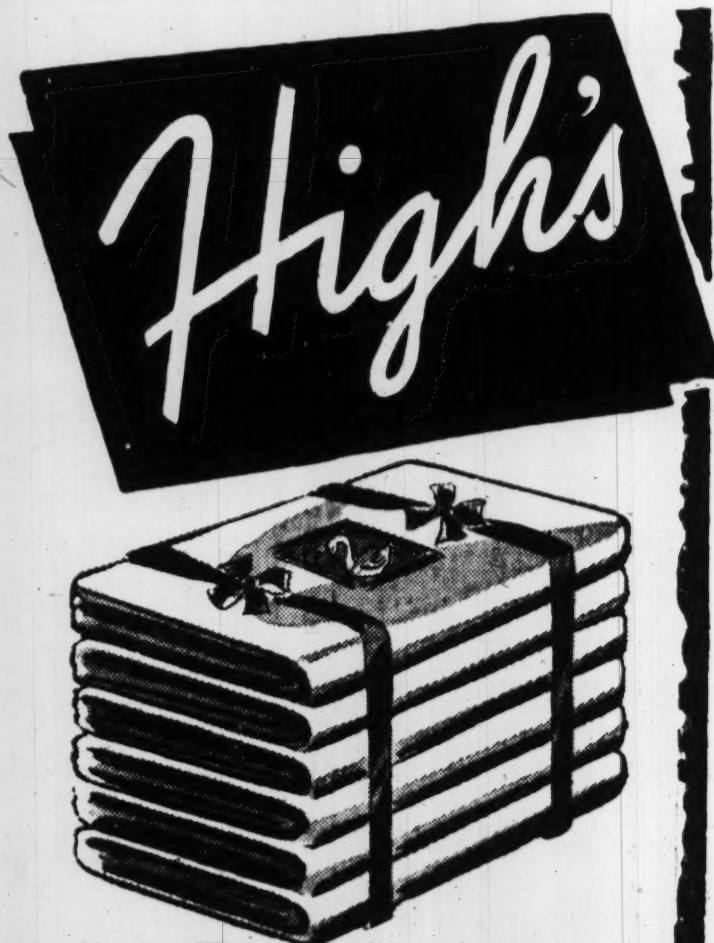

"Let's use what we've got first," he said. "I believe we should use the group 21 to 28 now to the limit of efficiency."

Nazis Replace Commander on Stalemated Moscow Front

Russians Push Germans Back, Capture Cities

'Exterminate Invaders' Demands Newspaper Izvestia.

KUIBYSHEV, U. S. S. R., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Field Marshal Sigmund Wilhelm List has replaced General Fedor von Bock as commander-in-chief of the German armies on the Moscow front where the Germans have been trying for more than two months to advance against the Soviet capital, it was announced today.

Although it was not known whether von Bock was killed or recalled, the change was regarded as a result of the unsuccessful German offensive, and continuing Russian counterdrives said to be pressing the Nazis steadily westward.

Military dispatches said Red army tank units cleared the Germans from the Tula-Serpukhov-Moscow highway by smashing Colonel General Heinz Guderian's fourth Nazi tank division, Tula is 110 miles south of Moscow.

The Germans were reported being pursued southwestward, and abandoning settlement after settlement to the Russians.

Thirty more villages near Yelets in the Orel sector 200 miles south of Moscow also were retaken, the Russians said.

The new German commander before Moscow, Field Marshal List, led the successful Nazi push into the Balkans last spring.

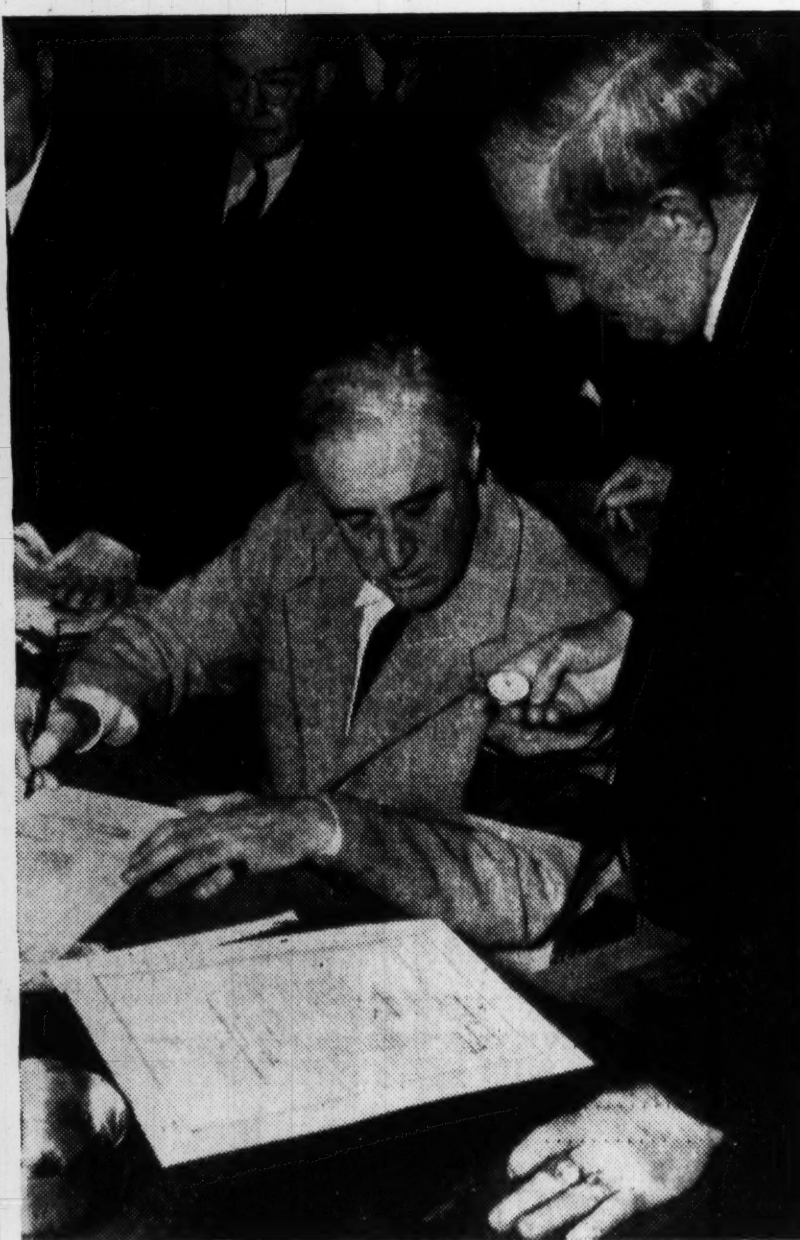

The newspaper Izvestia jubilantly proclaimed Russian successes and said "the Soviet army must not only liberate cities and villages, but must exterminate the invaders."

But the government and press were silent on the United States-Japanese war. Newspapers continued to print objective accounts of the fighting.

"COME IN THREES"—President Roosevelt, who signed a declaration of war against Japan Monday, spread two more such declarations on his desk yesterday, one against Germany, one against Italy. "Everything seems to come in threes," he commented. With lips drawn back from clinched teeth, he signed the declaration against Germany (left). Then he checked the time with Senator Tom Connally, standing by with watch in one hand, cigar in the other (center). Again the pen scratched, and the United States was officially at war with Italy (right). The two declarations of war were passed by the house and senate yesterday without a single opposing vote.

Gunshot Wound Fatal To Elberton Resident

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION.

Thomas and his wife lived in the same home with Swearingin at the old Brewer place, about two miles from Elberton.

Swearingin is survived by a daughter and several nieces and nephews.

Grim-Visaged F. D. R. Signs War Papers

Dozen Congressional Leaders Watch During Historic Moment.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—A grim-faced man perched a long cigarette holder on the edge of his desk today, picked up a pen and wrote across the lower edges of two documents "Franklin D. Roosevelt."

The chief executive had signed the resolutions of congress declaring a state of war with Germany and Italy—as he had signed a similar document Monday formalizing the conflict with Japan.

A dozen congressional leaders of both parties peered over his shoulder as, in the dead silence of the presidential office, the pen scratched across the two rectangles of stiff paper. The undershot jaw jutted forward in savage manner.

Pens Time. As he signed each document, he penned in the lower left corner the precise time of his signature—3:05 p. m. (E. S. T.) for the German resolution, 3:06 p. m., for the Italian.

Chairman Tom Connally, Democrat, Texas, of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee held a watch for the President to see.

The spectators were the same who saw him sign the Japanese resolution on Monday: Vice President Wallace; Speaker Rayburn; Chairmen Connally and Bloom, Democrats, New York, of the Senate and House Foreign Relations Committees; Majority Leaders Barkley, Kentucky, of the senate and McCormack, Massachusetts, of the house; Republican Leaders McNary, Oregon, of the senate, and Martin, Massachusetts, of the house; Senator Austin, Vermont, assistant minority leader in the senate; Representative Eaton, New Jersey, ranking minority member of the House Foreign Relations Committee; Senator Glass, Democrat, Virginia, member of Woodrow Wilson's war time cabinet, and Representative Luther Johnson, Democrat, Texas.

Spreads Documents. One of the spectators said that as Mr. Roosevelt spread out the documents before him on the same spot where he had signed the resolution last Monday he commented:

"Everything seems to come in threes, and here they are."

Senator Glass was reported to have told the President that there was a suggestion when the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was working the resolutions that it should be done so as not to hurt any feelings. Glass, wagging his finger grimly, exclaimed: "Not hurt their feelings! Hell, we want to kill 'em!"

Mayor, Council Heads Pushing Defense Setup

Strong New Ordinances Will Put Teeth Into War Measures.

Plans for creation of the Atlanta Volunteer Defense Corps, in which every loyal citizen of Atlanta will have a part, moved swiftly and cautiously yesterday when about 30 leading citizens and city department heads deferred adoption of a definite program until city council Monday passes ordinances necessary to implement the efforts to defend and protect Atlanta.

Mayor LeCraw and Councilman James E. Jackson Jr., chairman of the Atlanta Volunteer Defense Council, were empowered to take "all steps necessary to defend Atlanta and to map all plans for its defense while the council itself is not in session."

It also was decided to open headquarters in a conference room adjacent to LeCraw's office, and to employ a full-time secretary to man the office.

Councilman John A. White will draft ordinances empowering the police and the defense council to enforce blackouts, clear streets and to enforce any other rules regarded as necessary to protection of the city and its citizens.

It was pointed out by speakers that one person who refused to cut off his lights during a raid might endanger the lives of 10,000 persons.

"We just can't allow that condition to exist," Jackson said. "We must mean business about this, and if the mayor and council can pass ordinances making the defense work effective, it will do it."

White agreed and said he would ask City Attorney Jack C. Savage to prepare "strong ordinances—just as strong as we can go"—giving the police, the corps or any other officially designated as enforcement officers the authority to enforce all rules and ordinances by making arrests immediately if necessary.

Jackson told those present that he had asked some of the department heads to be present because they are familiar with defense activities. Several of the department heads and many city workers already have taken courses in such work.

"We are not going to ask anyone what they want to do," Jackson said. "We are going to assume, and I know it is a true assumption, that everybody wants to do his full share in this effort. This is no plaything. It may become grimly serious, and can become so before we know it."

Volunteers Sought.

"We therefore are asking for volunteers, and we want everyone connected with it to be willing to serve where his services will be most effective. We are not frightened. We are being prudent. We are determined. We mean to do everything possible to protect Atlantans. That is what the citizens expect of us."

"When our program is completed, we propose to hand written instructions to leaders and tell them to go to work and get the necessary volunteers to do the job expected and required of the unit. That's the only way to do it. We should be organized and functioning by this time next week."

The mayor has a signed petition from 91 civilian employees of the Quartermasters' Division of the Fourth Corps Area offering their services as air raid wardens, and Mrs. William C. Arnold, president of the Atlanta-Parent-Teacher Council, offered the service of her organization "in any way we can best serve."

Rally Tonight.

L. Carl Plunkett, president of the Inter-Civic Council yesterday sent letters to nearly 100 affiliated organizations inviting them to be present at the Chamber of Commerce building at 8 o'clock tonight, to pledge anew their organizations in the program.

LeCraw yesterday appointed Jackson, Councilmen Frank Wilson, White and Roy Bell as council representatives on the defense group.

Harry Poole was named to head the ambulance service, and said he will schedule a meeting of all funeral directors and others operating ambulances to make every one in the city "available if needed."

Among those attending the first session of the council yesterday were:

James M. Patterson, assistant Scout executive of the Atlanta Area Council; George L. Shadburn, business manager of the United Motors Service; O. C. Blackburn, tax agent of the Southern Railway System; Neal P. Ponder, advertising manager of Quality Service Stores; H. L. Eberle, Davison-Paxon; B. W. Marshall, of the Junior Chamber of Commerce; B. W. Caldwell, personnel director of Rich's, Inc.

Leaders Attend.

Charles B. Fisher, president of the Scouters' Club; Mrs. W. R. Millers, of 1315 Day street, S. W.; Mrs. Henry T. Truitt, of 1158 Arden avenue, S. W.; Mrs. Clara Millers, of 1123 Princess avenue, S. W.; W. M. Marr, Scout executive; C. H. Van Ormer, president of the Second Ward Alliance; Miss Ira Jarrell, president of the Atlanta Public School Teachers' Association, Mercer Harbin, 228 East Lake drive; J. H. J. Bradley, of 1144 Rosedale drive, Northeast.

Following are the department heads who attended:

Police Chief Hornsby; L. Glenn Dewberry, superintendent of the city hall; Bill Edens, executive secretary of Mayor LeCraw; W. Zode Smith, waterworks; Clarke Donaldson, construction; H. J. Cates, sanitary; George I. Simons, parks; M. L. Thomas, traffic engineering.

Farm Women Aid Fulton War Drive

Fulton county farm women are co-operating with the nation's war effort, Frances Moore, FSA home supervisor for the county, announced yesterday.

"In this county," she said, "145 families on the FSA program have pledged that they would preserve 85 to 100 quarts of food for each member of the family. The same number of families have been asked to grow 12-month gardens, besides increasing their production of eggs, milk and pork. The response is gratifying."

Miss Moore said the response of farm families shows that the housewife of the low income farm family has found her place in the nation's plan of defense and has accepted it. She estimated 40,000 quarts of food would be preserved in the county within the next year.

Insurance Policies Don't Cover Fire Damage Caused by War

By IRA WOLPERT.

For North American Newspaper Alliance. NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—The wail of sirens announcing New York's first air raid alarm scared a lot of people in the metropolis and its suburbs, but it paralyzed that select group of attorneys who specialize in real estate and insurance.

They were the only ones among the city's 7,000,000 who realized that the standard fire insurance policies covering the buildings in the big town—and probably in all other cities and towns—carry a clause in fine print relieving the insurance companies of all responsibility for damage caused by "war, invasion or civil commotion."

Fears Confirmed.

Recalling pictures of London and other British cities with their rows of gutted business and residential buildings after the Nazi blitz, a group of the lawyers got together and decided to do something to protect New York property owners. They called on the insurance companies. Their worst fears were confirmed. The insurance companies decided that the obscure clause in standard policies would make most fire insurance policies in the city invalid in cases of bomb damage.

The lawyers asked the insurance companies what they could do about it. Then the companies went into a huddle. After discussing all the pros and cons they decided that the best they could do would be to issue special policies. But they decided that these special policies would be for a period of two months only and that the rate for buildings of brick and wood construction up to five stories would be 30 cents per $100 for the two-month period.

The standard insurance rates for similar buildings are $5 per $1,000 for three years, or less than 2 cents per hundred for two months.

"War" Policies.

To make matters even worse, the insurance companies decided that they would not write any "war" policies on buildings in the vicinity of gas tanks, docks, war factories or military installations of any kind.

The lawyers are hoping that before the first actual raids on New York or other American cities the government will step into the picture and adopt measures similar to those in effect in England, where the government has insured all real estate against damage resulting from military operations of any kind.

Fog Expected To Aid Nazis' Ocean Raids

Heavy Ships May Try Solo Attacks in Atlantic.

By BLAIR BOLLES.
For North American Newspaper Alliance.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The directors of the British and American sea fight see prospects of new complications, now that the cold season has brought fog to the north Atlantic. Representatives of the admiralty in London have told our Navy Department they expect the German pocket battleships and cruisers will make solo attempts under the fog's cover to leave their continental shelters and ply the ocean highways as raiders.

The Germans have kept their big ships close to port since the battleship Bismarck was sent to the bottom last May, after it got as far as Denmark strait, between Iceland and Greenland. Sending the Bismarck out was a costly gamble for Hitler, for the British sunk her, and the heavy cruiser Prinz Eugene escorting her was damaged so badly that she is still laid up.

New Menace.
The Germans, if they can run the British blockade out into the open sea, will present a new menace to shipping bound from the United States to England, Africa and the Asiatic Middle East just about the time American flag ships begin to make dangerous voyages into the war zone. Hitherto the zone has been barred to American ships by the now-amended neutrality act.

According to British experts, the grand strategy behind the German use of their capital ships as raiders would be the hope they would divert British—and American naval ships from their patrols in the North Sea, the North Atlantic and the Mediterranean and cause them to be sent on wild chases after the swift German vessels.

Such a diversion, my informant says, would facilitate the task of the U-boats operating south of Iceland, the biggest graveyard for torpedoed merchant ships.

Desperate Chance.
The naval feeling on this side is that Germany will take a desperate chance in putting her ships out on the wide water, but that the chance is worth the candle from the German point of view.

The ships are no good to Germany when they are at anchor or in drydock. Using them as raiders is the only avenue open to the Nazi naval strategists. The ships are too few in number to risk them in any sort of mass action.

This war, with its Montevideo and Oslo, and the last, with its Jutland and Falklands, have produced many lessons making it plain that Germany is doomed to failure in pitched sea battles.

The ships which anti-Axis observers think are still available to the Germans for winter raiding are these:

Von Tirpitz Useless.
Admiral Scheer, 10,000-ton pocket battleship, with a speed of 26 knots and a cruising radius of 10,000 miles at 15 knots.

The heavy cruisers Admiral Hipper and Seydlitz, 10,000 tons each, with 8-inch guns, speed of 32 knots.

The light cruisers Nürnberg and Köln, 6,000 tons each, top speed of 32 knots.

The light cruiser Emden, 5,400 tons, 29 knots.

The battleship Von Tirpitz, sister to the Bismarck, is considered useless for German purposes except as something huge to which the Nazis can point with pride. Like the Bismarck, it is thought to displace about 50,000 tons, but it cannot maneuver on the open sea unless it has other fighting ships to attend it. The Tirpitz was said to have been hit in the Baltic by a Russian air bomb. The Germans are building two other large battleships of the Bismarck type.

Costly Record.
The Germans' two other battleships, Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, are useless to the Nazis so long as the British navy controls the sea along the coast of France. They are in French harbors blockaded by English and English fliers have bombed them repeatedly. The story of German sea action since the war's outbreak is a

'No Strike' Conference Called By Roosevelt; 24 Summoned

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP) President Roosevelt tonight summoned 24 representatives of industry and labor to meet in Washington next week to work out a no-strike program insuring a continuous flow of war supplies to defeat the Axis powers.

In a statement announcing the conference, the President said that the "first and essential objective" would be a unanimous agreement to prevent production interruptions due to labor disputes for the duration of the war.

The conferees will consist of 12 representatives of labor—six each chosen by the CIO and the AFL—and 12 industrialists selected by the chairman of the business advisory council of the Commerce Department. Later, Mr. Roosevelt said, he will appoint a moderator and associate moderator.

In stressing the need for unanimity of approach in providing machinery to prevent labor disputes, Mr. Roosevelt said: "It is not expected that there will be any hesitation on the part of either labor or industry to accept this basic condition of the nation's safety."

The machinery for reaching amicable agreements, the President said, might include "appropriate procedures for adjusting disputes, for mediation and for resort in defense industries to some tribunal whose decisions will be binding by agreement on all parties."

He added, however, that it was up to the conferees to decide the form the machinery will take "so long only as an agreement is reached."

"Since the efficacy of that agreement," he asserted, "will depend upon the voluntary co-operation of all concerned, emphasis is placed on the fact that it must represent a unanimous accord."

Mr. Roosevelt told reporters at a press conference Tuesday that he was considering calling such a conference to consider an agreement to replace antistrike legislation.

The house passed an antistrike bill last week, but senate action has been held up pending the outcome of the conference.

SEVEN-DAY WEEK URGED IMMEDIATELY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Sidney Hillman asked the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations today to introduce immediately seven-day, 168-hour week operation in defense industries and make adjustments later in existing contracts and wage scales.

"The outbreak of war makes it imperative that American defense industries increase their production to the maximum as fast as that is humanly possible," the OPM associate director said in letters to William Green, AFL president, and Philip Murray, head of the CIO.

"Most of these plants are now covered by collective bargaining agreements, with regulations governing work assignments," he said.

"These regulations will, of course, be involved to some extent in the change-over to continuous operation. In normal times, any necessary modification or adjustments in these regulations would be negotiated before working schedules were rearranged."

"To prevent delay, I ask that (the AFL and the CIO) now urge (their) constituent unions to short cut this procedure. I suggest that continuous operation be introduced immediately, and that adjustments required under trade union agreement be negotiated while the change-over is being made, or after it is completed."

And so, despite a furious senate exchange which found Senator Tobey, Republican, New Hampshire, charging inefficiency in the Navy Department and receiving a scornful tongue lashing from Lucas, Democrat, Illinois, the capitol last night found the war outlook considerably more cheering than in the aftermath of the blow the Japanese struck at Pearl Harbor.

The break was as curt and abrupt as the Mexican severance with Japan last Sunday. President Manuel Avila Camacho already had said the new Axis declarations of war against the United States would be considered aggression against Mexico.

The sinking of the Japanese battleship Haruna had already been announced when congress met to declare war on Germany and Italy. Its action was swift, and taken in an atmosphere which combined the detachment of passing a minor bill with a steely determination.

There was no flag waving. There were no flights of patriotic oratory. Congress simply and in routine fashion adopted a resolution.

Brief Message.

In both houses a very brief message from the President was read first of all:

"On the morning of December 11, the government of Germany, pursuing its course of world conquest, declared war against the United States."

The long-known and long-expected has thus taken place. The forces endeavoring to enslave the entire world now are moving toward this hemisphere.

"Never before has there been a greater challenge to life, liberty and civilization."

"Delay invites great danger. Rapid and united efforts by all of the peoples of the world who are determined to remain free will insure a world victory of the forces of justice and righteousness over the forces of savagery and barbarism."

"Italy also has declared war against the United States."

"I therefore request the Congress to recognize a state of war between the United States and Germany and between the United States and Italy."

Separate Resolutions.

Separate resolutions naming Germany and Italy were presented and the votes were taken immediately. The Senate voted 88 to nothing for war against Germany and 90 to nothing for war on Italy.

Two senators who were absent for the first vote arrived in time for the second.

The house meanwhile was voting 393 to nothing for war on Germany and 399 to nothing for war with Italy. But in that chamber one member, Representative Jeannette Rankin, Democrat, Montana, voted "present."

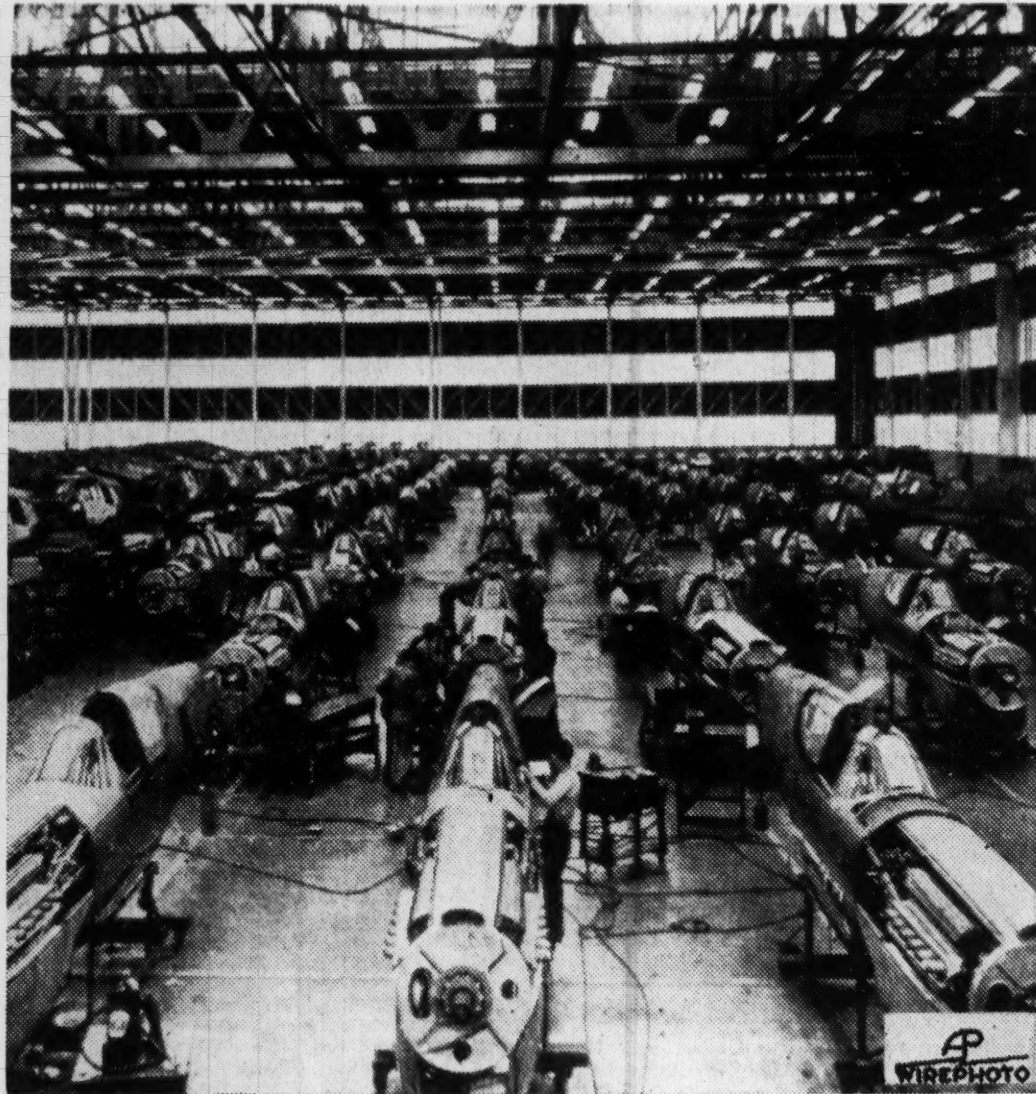

It was she who cast the only vote on Monday against war with Japan.

The declarations were rushed to President Roosevelt, and he signed them immediately upon their arrival at the White House.

Congress, meanwhile, went on to legislation for the prosecution of the war and approved a bill which would permit the Army to send draftees, reserves and others outside the Western Hemisphere. Its consideration Wednesday had been blocked by Senator Johnson, Republican, California.

That done, the Senate ran into the Tobey-Lucas exchange.

Tobey asserted that the fleet's heavily attacking Japanese landing forces which had gained a lodgment in the Malay Peninsula and near the Thailand frontier. A communique announced that the British lines there were holding and that there had apparently been no further Japanese attempts to land in the Kuantan area, 200 miles north of Singapore.

A large percentage of the Japanese planes attacking the Malay Peninsula are piloted by Germans, the London News Chronicle's Singapore correspondents reported.

Tobey asserted that the fleet's listening devices "weren't working" at Hawaii last Sunday, that it "lay at anchor and no steam up," and that more ships were sunk than the President had revealed. He demanded that Secretary of the Navy Knox be replaced by a "responsible" man who believes in "efficiency" rather than in public statements.

Aroused and angered, Senator Lucas, Democrat, Illinois, pounced upon Tobey's remarks, and drew from the New Hampshire senator a statement that the source of his information was two other senators. Tobey said he had demanded an investigation of the facts but so far they had not been made available.

"I wouldn't want to tell all I've heard on the floor of the senate about the debacle at Pearl Harbor," Tobey shouted.

Lucas replied that it was "a serious thing to indict anyone until you know what you are talking about." Tobey, he added, did "not know what he was talking about and he admits that he does not."

"You, Mr. Senator from New Hampshire," he shouted at Tobey, "are no naval strategist. You may think you can run this war from the floor of the senate, but you cannot. You must have faith in the men of the Navy."

"The time has passed for you to continue the type of tactics you have employed in the United States senate. Why, if we had followed your advice, I hate to say where we would be today."

"Oh shame on anyone at this hour—only 48 hours, no details, no nothing—standing on the floor of the senate, denouncing and condemning everything!"

Berlin Declares War.

In Berlin, preceding the American war declaration, Adolf Hitler declared war against the United States and announced that Germany, Italy and Japan were pledged in a new alliance to fight it together to a finish.

In the course of an address to the Reichstag which lasted an hour and a half, Hitler repeatedly and violently attacked President Roosevelt and expressed on behalf of "the German people" belief and satisfaction with the Japanese attack on America.

Before he spoke, the declaration of war was handed—at noon, Berlin time (5 a. m. Atlanta time)—to United States Charge d'Affaires George L. Brandt by Joachim Von Ribbentrop, Hitler's foreign minister. This declaration, which was not made public until it was announced by Hitler, did not mention Japan, but accused the United States of acts of war at sea against Germany.

It concluded: "The Reich government therefore severs diplomatic relations with the United States of America and declares that under these circumstances, brought about by President Roosevelt, Germany also, commencing today, regards herself in a state of war with the United States of America."

Handed Passport.

Brandt was handed his passport after Hitler had started speaking in the Kroll Opera House.

A number of United States citizens in Germany were placed under arrest, a Wilhelmstrasse spokesman declaring that as many were being taken into custody in Germany as German citizens were arrested in the United States. This, by German count, is 400.

A number of Americans, however, were said to remain at liberty. Most American newspaper stated, would depend on the treatment of German journalists arrested in America.

The main fact in Hitler's speech, aside from the announcement of the war declaration, was his disclosure of the new three-power accord which supplements the tripartite pact under which Hitler declared war and pledged Germany, Italy and Japan to make common war against the United States and Britain, to fight "to a victorious end with all available means," to "bring about a just order" later and to refrain from concluding a separate peace "without complete mutual consent."

In Rome, Premier Benito Mussolini linked Fascist Italy's destiny with that of "heroic Japan" by declaring war on the United States in a five-minute speech from the balcony of the Palazzo Venezia.

"I say to you, and you will understand," he told party faithfuls below him, "that it is a privilege to fight with them (the Japanese). . . . Italians, once more arise and be worthy of this historical hour. We shall win."

A propaganda ministry broadcast quoted the Fascist ruler as saying that President Roosevelt was "a real tyrannical democrat," who "wanted the war and had prepared for it day by day with diabolical obstinacy."

Thus Italy joined her fortunes with Germany and Japan in a world struggle precipitated by the tripartite Axis alliance (a pact which provided, however, that Italy and Germany were to go to Japan's aid only if Japan were attacked).

Draftee Gets Release, Seeks To Rejoin Army

CAMP BLANDING, Fla., Dec. 11.—(AP)—They told Corporal William J. Horan, of Waterbury, Conn., several weeks ago that he could go home and forget about the Army because he was over 28.

But today, Horan was back again. He said he had spent his own money for the trip down and that he wanted to join his old outfit—Company F, 102d Infantry Regiment.

Army officials said they thought it could be arranged.

Guam's Serenity Shown by Letter

In sharp contrast to the picture of today, Christmas presents and golf were principal worries of Major Donald Spicer, war plans officer for the United States Marines on the Island of Guam, when he wrote on October 15 to his young son, Donald W. Spicer, a freshman at Emory University.

Cautiously mentioning his military work in the letter, the father apologized for a shortage of suitable Christmas presents and added a check would probably be the only gift. He pointed out there was not a great deal to write at this time, since most of the "interesting things" were either confidential or secret.

"I am also supposed to become intelligence officer for the island soon," he wrote. "Along with being executive officer of the barracks, I will have plenty to keep me busy. But there is still plenty of time for golf. Playing nearly every day I have gotten down to an average of about 76."

'We Are All in This,' Says Churchill, Pledging British Aid

Many To Lose Lives, English Leader Warns

'Would Rather Perish Than Be Conquered,' Parliament Told.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—With five simple words—"We are all in this"—Winston Churchill proclaimed today Britain's proud determination to stand at the side of the United States and maintain at any and every cost the mighty barricade now thrust up across the world against the Axis marauders of Europe and Asia.

Speaking before Germany and Italy had declared war upon the United States, but in consciousness of the imminence of that last step, he told the parliament:

"Our foes are bound by their ambitions and their crimes to seek implacably the destruction of the English-speaking world and all it stands for. It is the supreme barrier for all their kind.

"If this should be their resolve we are prepared to meet it. If they should declare themselves resolved to compass the destruction of the English-speaking world I know I speak for the United States as well as for the British Empire when I say we would rather perish than be conquered.

"Let us be killed."

"On that basis, and putting it at the worst, there are quite a lot of us to be killed."

And, he pointed out, Britain and America were not alone, for the Chinese, the Dutch and the republics of the new world were standing up to be counted, and Russia was now driving the Germans back through the chill wastes of the Soviet Union and sealing "one of the outstanding blunders of history."

Summing up the greatest division of nations since the world began, he declared:

"Not only the British Empire now, but the United States are fighting for life. Russia is fighting for life. China is fighting for life. Behind these four great combatants and communities are ranged all the spirit and hope of all the conquered countries in Europe, prostrate under the cruel domination of the foe.

"I said the other day that four-fifths of the human race were on our side.

Flays Hideous Evils.
"It might well be an understatement. Just handfuls and cliques of wicked men and other military or party organizations have been able to bring these hideous evils upon mankind.

"It would indeed bring shame upon our generation if we did not teach them a lesson which will not be forgotten in the records of a thousand years."

The political and military advantages of the complete British-American alliance now joined was seen here tonight, after Mr. Churchill's speech and the final action of the American congress, as immeasurable both in morale and in weapons.

Many quarters predicted that the morale of the German and Italian peoples would suffer tremendously with the realization

10-Billion-Dollar War Bill Indorsed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—A bulky war supply bill carrying approximately $10,000,000,000 was given speedy approval late today by the senate appropriations committee as it added $500,000,000 for additional fighting planes for the Navy.

Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, chairman of the subcommittee which handled the measure, said he hoped to get senate passage tomorrow and send the big fund back to the house for action on senate increases over the house bill of about $1,800,000,000 in cash and contract authorizations.

that the full might of America was now arrayed against them. Reflection brought confidence that the war in the Pacific, far from shutting off the flow of United States aid to Britain and Russia, would mean that the full productive power of the United States would now be devoted to equipping all who fight the Axis.

Reviews Struggle.
Only guarded comment was made as to what in some quarters was called the one remaining "anomaly"—the peaceful status between Russia and Japan.

Perhaps expressive of the general attitude was an editorial in Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard emphasizing that "only Moscow can decide" as to "how much Russia's engagement in the east interferes with her battle against the chief enemy of mankind—our chief hopes of victory in future must hang on Russia's power of counter-offensive."

Reviewing before parliament the course of a struggle that now convulses almost the whole of the habitable globe, Prime Minister Churchill found as always news that was good and news that was bad.

Aside from Russia—where he said Hitler's disaster would "constitute an event of cardinal importance in the final decision of the war" and where the German armies already had suffered "a bloody loss almost unequalled in history"—he reported victory for the first phase of the British offensive in North Africa.

True, he said, not all had gone as had been wished, but nevertheless "I am bound to say it seems very probable" that it would do so.

British Command Air.
British mastery was attained in the first phase despite tank losses heavier than had been expected, he went on, and British air strength remains superior for the last phase despite the "most extravagant" aerial reinforcements brought in by the Germans from the Russian and other fronts.

He disclosed incidentally that the Libyan field commander, General Sir Alan Gordon Cunningham, had been succeeded, because he was suffering serious overstrain, by Major General Neil Methuen Ritchie.

Turning to broader theaters, the prime minister promised that Britain would keep her pledges of heavy material aid to Russia, but at the same time must recognize that for the next few months at any rate "the volume of American supplies reaching Britain and the degree of help given us by the

SEC Stops U. S. Trade In Securities of Axis

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—The Securities Commission today advised stock and bond exchanges and securities dealers and brokers throughout the nation to stop handling all transactions in Japanese, German and Italian bonds or other securities.

Officials said the "advice" probably would be extended immediately to securities of other countries dominated by Axis powers, with the exception of those occupied countries which have exited governments supporting the democracies.

U. S. Navy will be reduced."

"The gap must be filled," he added, "and only our efforts will fill it."

Santa in War Up to Ears, On Side of U. S.

Until then, I remain as ever and always

"YOUR LOVING SON."

Worried, But Proud.

Old Santa sighed as he crumpled the letter back into his pocket. "That's from the oldest—and he's my stepson. He's 21 years old. I have another son—my own—in the air service at Chanute Field in Illinois. He's 19. And then, there's the third boy. He's 17, and he's in a radio detachment somewhere. Every letter I get from him is mailed from a different field or camp and I have no idea where he is. But every one of them are fine boys and they're all crazy about one another and me. We have been a happy family. I know they'll come through."

The quiet black eyes peering through the mop of gray whiskers looked far off into space.

Santa Claus was worried about those boys of his.

"But—I'm proud of everyone of them and I know those boys will do their share for their country," he commented.

Faraway Look in Eyes.

Tiny girls and boys were plucking at his long, red cloak.

"Come on—Santa—look at me."

Old Santa gathered a little girl up into his arms.

"What do you want for Christmas, you little darling, you?"

I know you've been a good girl without even having to ask you. Anybody can look at you and know you're a good little girl."

The swarm of children was on again.

A half hour later, he stepped heavily off his throne—still with that faraway look in his eyes.

"Those are all good boys," he said. "They've done the right things all their lives. I wish I knew where they are. I want to send them something for Christmas and all I can do is to mail their presents to their last address. I only hope their gifts will reach them—it would be tough having Santa Claus for a daddy and then not even getting his very, very special gifts."

Santa Identified.

In private life this particular Santa Claus is W. E. Normand, and he lives at 294 Grant Park Place.

The stepson, from whom he received that letter yesterday, is Billy Thompson, who is a photographer in the air service.

"Only the good Lord knows where he is today," said Santa.

The second son is W. E. Normand, Jr., and he's the one at Chanute Field—in the air service.

The third son is 17-year-old John Douglas Normand and he's the one in the radio detachment that has been skipping around in the maneuvers and from camp to camp until his father has no idea where he is.

Billy Thompson was educated last at Commercial High school. The other two boys—the younger ones—went to Hoke Smith Junior High school.

The father—who is the bluff, old bewhiskered Santa right now—is a shoe salesman in the store where he now rules as Santa.

Orders Abolish '4-A' Selectee Classification

Boards Are Instructed To Place All Available Men in '1-A.'

Georgia selective service headquarters was ordered yesterday to abolish the "4-A" classification in which some 1,900 Georgians with previous military service have been placed, and to put available men in class "1-A," ready for immediate induction into the Army.

Boards were also advised that only because of "physical disability or incompetency" will any more selectees already inducted be released from service.

The orders, part of a sudden move to increase the armed strength of the nation, came in two telegrams from Brigadier General Lewis B. Hershey, national selective service director.

Lieutenant Colonel H. Cliff Hatcher, assistant state director of selective service, said the second instruction would prevent men over 28 years old, men with dependents, and those with hardship cases from obtaining release.

The "4-A" classification includes registrants who have had three years in the Army, six years in the National Guard, four years in the Navy, or six years in the reserve.

Most of the men reclassified into "1-A" are slated to be inducted within the next two months under an order received earlier this week calling for induction as fast as possible of all available men.

EATONTON, Ga., Dec. 11.—W. D. Strubling was named worshipful master of the Rising Star Masonic Lodge No. 4 here Monday night.

Other officers named were Yulee T. Pharr, senior warden; J. Frank Walker, junior warden; the Rev. Lon Knight, chaplain; Charles S. Brown, secretary; R. E. Nelson, treasurer; Solomon Paul, Tyler; Forrest Perryman, senior deacon; Marion Adams, senior steward; and Fred Ritchie, junior steward.

The oldest organization in the county, the Rising Star lodge was chartered in 1818, the fourth Masonic lodge to be chartered in the state.

Some enemy units which took refuge behind defenses west of El Adem and south of Tobruk were attacked; British armored units also drove off a number of German tanks which tried to break up operations west of El Adem by Indian and English forces.

These appeared to be Axis rear-guard actions.

A communique also said that Poles of the Tobruk garrison, now joined firmly with the main British forces in the vast desert battleground, had stormed and taken two posts in the western Tobruk defenses to which some Axis units were still clinging.

A communique reported discovery of a total of 37 abandoned German tanks.

(In London, a British military source said he believed the main movement of British forces northwest from El Adem might be the start of a big new battle of encirclement.)

Governor Is Thanked For Fund for G. M. C.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.
MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Dec. 11.—Marion Ennis, president of the Georgia Military College Alumni, and Paul Torrance, secretary of the group, have made public a copy of resolutions passed by the alumni members, expressing appreciation to Governor Talmadge for the grant of $100,000 with which to restore the old capitol building, which was practically destroyed by fire early this year.

The resolutions relate the history of the building and of the college, saying that the institution was created by the legislature in 1879 and in 1900 given its present name.

The resolution was passed at the annual meeting of the Alumni association on November 27.

KNOW YOUR FLAG—A mother, whose five-year-old son goaded her into writing and illustrating a book on the American flag, is Mrs. Beatrice B. Grover, who was in Atlanta yesterday autographing volumes for Atlantans. Her husband is a vice president of Time, Inc., publishers of the magazines Time, Life and Fortune.

Citizens of Stephens Rally Defense Units

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.
TOCCOA, Ga., Dec. 11.—Stephens county and Toccoa are rallying to meet the present crisis in the sudden war with Japan. The city and county were officially organized October 22 for national civilian defense, in compliance with the national defense program, and work will begin immediately toward the instruction and carrying out of the duties of the various air-raid service committees and personnel, appointed then for just such an emergency as is now faced.

Mayor H. W. McNeely is local chairman of the defense unit, and W. J. Andrews is co-ordinator for civilian defense in Stephens county.

Various industrial concerns and strategical military objects in and around the city are being guarded by United States soldiers from Fort Benning.

Mother Writes Book on Flag; Is Visitor Here

Mrs. Beatrice Grover
Goaded to Task by Son, Aged 4.

Five-year-old Robbie Grover was getting impatient. He wanted some sort of a direct answer to his question:

"Mamma, tell me about the flag. Why is it like that—with those stars and stripes?"

The mother was becoming alarmed.

She knew part of the story—not all of it.

She was trying to avoid Robbie's insistent questions, but he's not the sort to be turned aside.

Mrs. Grover went through all the New York stores, trying to buy a book that told the story of the flag—in a simple style that a child could understand.

She was becoming as desperate as Robbie.

Only One Thing to Do.

"Well," she told herself, "there's only one thing for me to do. I'll have to study all about the flag and I'll write a book."

So Mrs. Grover sat down and drew a few dozen illustrations. She really is an excellent artist with an individual style, and her pictures have the touch that appeals to children.

Then, she put the pictures together and wove a story around them—a short, simple story—that carries all the highlights of the birth of the flag, its growth and development and its significance.

In simple language she told how the American colonies joined together and became the United States of America. She told how the flag was designed as an emblem of the unity of those colonies and she told how the Star-Spangled Banner was written.

Then, she added a section on the "Rules About Our Flag" which really has some startling information for adults.

"That," she said yesterday, "was how I happened to write a book—and illustrate it."

On the sixth floor of Rich's this pleasant, pretty young mother sat at a table autographing copies of the book for a number of Atlantans, guests at a reception in her honor.

Wife of Publisher.
Mrs. Grover is Mrs. Beatrice B. Grover. She is the wife of Allen Grover, vice president of Time, Inc., the firm that publishes those super-circulating magazines Time, Life and Fortune.

"We have been living on a farm in Connecticut in the summer and spending the winters in New York City," she said, "but as soon as I get back, we're moving to Washington. My husband has been transferred down there."

The book already is in its second printing and the title is "Broad Stripes and Bright Stars."

Besides being a mother, Mrs. Grover is a portrait painter, so the talent that she has put into the illustrations of the book is real talent.

Pilot Club Is Organized By Women at Moultrie

Mrs. Zuma Potts was elected president of the club; Mrs. Mattie Abernathy, first vice president; Mrs. Alton Gammage, second vice president; Mrs. Lucile Vinson, recording secretary; Miss Annie Dixon, treasurer; Miss Ruby Beaty, recording secretary; and Mrs. Henry Kendall, parliamentarian.

Atlanta Groups Forego Parties, Aid Red Cross

Fraternities, Sororities and Workers To Participate.

Atlanta high school fraternities and sororities and divisions of two large business firms will cancel their customary Christmas entertainment this year and play Santa Claus to the Red Cross.

In a joint meeting at the Piedmont Driving Club, 18 high school fraternities and sororities decided to give 10 per cent of their dues to the Red Cross and schedule "inexpensive" entertainments for the rest of the year, instead of their usual elaborate dances.

Bill Magbee is president of the fraternities, and Betty Brown heads the sororities. Mrs. J. L. Appleby, of the Red Cross, appeared before student representatives and explained how they could help through their organizations.

Instead of having their usual Christmas Eve party at which they exchange presents, the ready-to-wear department of Davison-Paxton's will take up a collection and give it to the Red Cross. Margaret Mitchell, of "Gone With the Wind" fame, will accept the contribution for the Red Cross, and Mary Chapman will make the presentation. There are approximately 100 employees in this department. The general directory department of the Southern Bell Telephone Company has canceled a similar party and pledged their contributions to the Red Cross, C.

K. Jones announced. Jones said he understood other departments in the telephone company were considering doing the same thing. Employees of the general directory department number about 40.

Decatur Drug Stores Enlist; Kits Prepared, Corps of Messengers Being Trained

Drug Stores, long noted for their versatility in dealing in everything from chocolate sodas to safety pins, have added still another duty in Decatur—that of a defense agency.

Taking their places in the DeKalb county civilian defense effort, nine drug stores in the city yesterday agreed to provide emergency first aid equipment, available at all hours, and a corps of messengers who could assure contact between vital points in case of failure of regular communications.

First aid kits, as specified by the Red Cross, are being prepared by all druggists and will be placed just inside the door of each store. They will be available at a moment's notice, ready for use, even after business hours, when the kits can be obtained by breaking the glass in the front door.

Eighteen messengers now employed by the Decatur drug stores will begin a training course in emergency messenger service next Wednesday at 1 o'clock at 124 Atlanta avenue under the direction of William Peiot. No drug deliveries will be made in Decatur from 1 o'clock until 2, while the first class is in progress.

The messengers, both white boys and Negroes, are especially valuable because of their knowledge of streets in the town. They will be enrolled as regular members of the DeKalb Civilian Defense Committee.

Radio, Firearms Seized in Boston

BOSTON, Dec. 11.—(P)—A radio transmitting set, located only half a mile from the command post of the Boston harbor defenses, and a large store of firearms were seized tonight as police and federal agents arrested separately for questioning an alien and a naturalized citizen who had been under surveillance.

Detective Lieutenant James V. Crowley said 20 shotguns and rifles and 15 revolvers were found in the North End locksmith shop of an Italian alien, and Winthrop Police Chief William E. Pumphrey said the radio set was found in a cellar one-half mile from Fort Banks.

HAWAIIAN BATTERY COMMANDED BY ATLANTANT—These men in Battery F, of the Coast Artillery unit at Schofield Barracks, near Honolulu, Hawaii, are commanded by an Atlantant, First Lieutenant Richard N. Fickett III, son of Richard N. Fickett Jr., of 1783 Ponce de Leon avenue, N. E., and member of a prominent Atlanta family. Young Lieutenant Fickett is a graduate of Georgia Tech. His battery, an anti-aircraft unit, was one of those under fire by the Japanese during the recent attack at Pearl Harbor. This picture was made September 20.

Latins Are Linking Their Defenses To Divide the Axis

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 11.—(P)—Latin America was linking defenses and joining the hostilities tonight to throw an impassable bar from pole to pole and split the newest Axis aggressor in the orient from her accomplices in Europe.

The pace of hemispheric collaboration, already stepped up since the Japanese attack on the United States last Sunday, quickened when the whole of the Axis entered the world conflict today.

First reactions to the full Axis belligerence were new declarations of war by Costa Rica, which last Sunday became the first of all the 21 American republics to declare against Japan, and by the Dominican Republic and Mexico's abrupt break of diplomatic relations with Germany and Italy, following identical action against Japan.

Mexico already had frozen Axis funds.

Cuba's Declaration.
Cuba's declaration of war against Germany and Italy was approved unanimously by the chamber of deputies and sent to the senate.

The Axis' last regular transit link with the western hemisphere was choked off when Standard Oil stopped the trickle of gasoline to Latin, the Italian trans-Atlantic airline.

It was considered likely that Latin's four planes in Brazil might try to make a break for home with the little fuel they have left.

The U. S. embassy instructed U. S. businessmen in Brazil to discharge all German-born employees.

Brazil's expression of solidarity with the United States against the entire Axis was expected tomorrow.

Elsewhere, there were these developments:

Costa Rica: Planned internment of Axis nationals, expropriation of their property.

Bolivia: Pledged solidarity with United States, troops guard mines. El Salvador: Froze Axis funds, sent 300 more workmen to Panama Canal defenses.

Colombia: Planned declaration of solidarity tomorrow, froze Axis funds.

Cuba: Interned 39 Japanese on Isle of Pines, dismissed 108 Japanese fruit packers there.

Peru: President expressed nation's desire to collaborate with United States for defense.

Nicaragua: Expected to declare war on Germany and Italy, already has against Japan.

Guatemala: Students called for war on Axis, already has been declared against Japan.

Argentina: Planning to consider United States nonbelligerent, all Argentine political leaders telegraphed pledge of solidarity to United States congress.

Panama: Closed schools indefinitely, started registering all citizens for service in any capacity, authorized United States troops to take over strategic areas for canal defense.

Wholesale Food Prices Are Up 15.5 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(P)—Wholesale food prices, the Labor Department reported today, were 15.5 per cent higher during the week ending December 6 than they were in the corresponding week a year ago, but still were 1.2 per cent below the level of December, 1929.

The December 6, 1941, index of 92.2 represented a drop of 0.1 from the previous week. It was, however, 0.4 per cent higher than the same week of 1937.

Yule Musical Programs Set In LaGrange

Candlelight Christmas Service To Be Given Sunday by College.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. LAGRANGE, Ga., Dec. 11.—LaGrange, for years literally ringing with Christmas music throughout December, has begun the presentation of a program of holiday music that promises to top that of previous years.

Wednesday night, Mrs. Clyde Dudley, chairman of the music section of the LaGrange Woman's Club, sponsored a musical at LaGrange College, which included vocal, violin, piano and organ selections, with group singing of Christmas carols.

On Sunday afternoon, December 24, LaGrange College will present the annual candlelight Yule service at 5 o'clock in Dobbs' auditorium. This event is known as LaGrange College's Christmas gift to LaGrange, and is featured by 50 students of the Glee Club, speech department and chapel choir under the direction of Miss Alma Lundman, department of speech, and Miss Elizabeth Gilbert, director of voice.

Another outstanding musical offering scheduled this year is for 5 o'clock next Wednesday afternoon, when 500 elementary school children of the city will give a program of Christmas carols and holiday music. These children, composed of those in the grades from 4-7 throughout the city, will sing at the First Baptist church under the direction of Mrs. Eugene Baker, director of music in the elementary schools of LaGrange, and accompanied on the organ and piano by Mrs. Alvin Davis and Mrs. R. E. McTigue.

Christmas cantatas are being arranged in many churches, and the Callaway Choral Club is planning a presentation of Christmas music, the date to be announced later.

Mr. Fisher says, "It is our purpose to call in a few leaders to discuss home defense and make plans for a permanent organization. These leaders will head committees and each committee chairman will enlist the services of all persons interested in his particular program. The object is to be prepared for whatever may come."

17 Feared Lost When Freighter Collides, Sinks

BOSTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Fears were entertained tonight that 17 members of the crew of the freighter Oregon perished when she sank after a collision with a naval vessel off Nantucket yesterday.

Of a crew believed to have numbered 42, the rescued totaled 25 and 9 bodies were recovered, leaving 8 missing.

State Hospital Raise Refused By Executive

Milledgeville Delegation Seeks Vainly To Get Salary Change.

Requests for an adjustment of wages at the Milledgeville State hospital have been turned down by the Governor, it was learned yesterday.

A Milledgeville delegation, including Dr. L. P. Longino, hospital superintendent; County Court Judge C. B. McCullar, and about 10 employees of the institution called on the Governor and asked that he increase salaries sufficiently to offset increased living costs.

Dr. Longino said "the Governor just didn't see fit to act on the requests at this time." The superintendent added the Governor didn't make any promises for the future.

Salaries at the institution now range anywhere from $35 to $145 per month, including board, Dr. Longino said.

Reports from Milledgeville said an employee association was being formed in an effort to force higher salaries, but Dr. Longino said he knew nothing about such a group.

This organization, it was said, would be set up similar to federal civil service employee groups and bring pressure on governmental officials.

Miss Ernestine McGill will give a talk on "The War in the Home," and Charles J. Currie, chairman of Greater Atlanta Defense Council, will also speak.

WOMEN IN DEKALB SIGN UP FOR SERVICE

Band Instruments Saved at Chamblee

Thousands of dollars worth of band instruments were saved Monday night when the Chamblee High school building burned down, Dr. R. C. Edwards, band director, announced yesterday.

The Chamblee band, rehearsing no win the Methodist church, will fill its schedule of concerts, he said. The band is to play at 7:30 o'clock Monday night at the McDonough school auditorium, at the Norcross elementary school auditorium Thursday night, and at Lawson General hospital at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, December 21. Edwards said volunteers brought more than $2,800 worth of instruments out of the burning school building and even saved the grand piano and the band music.

Two British Cadets Die In Alabama Plane Crash

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Two British flying cadets died last night in the crash of their United States Army training plane near Gainesville, Ala., it was announced today by Maxwell Field, here.

The cadets were identified as Peter Greene, 20, of Rose Bank, 170 Stroud road, Gloucester, and Stanley Holden, 30, or 233 The Ridgeway, North Harrow, Middlesex.

The crash occurred at 10:30 p.m. when the plane, a Cessna 441, was on a training flight. The pilot, a U.S. Army aviator, was killed.

The cadets were identified as Peter Greene, 20, of Rose Bank, 170 Stroud road, Gloucester, and Stanley Holden, 30, or 233 The Ridgeway, North Harrow, Middlesex.

80,000 in Yugoslav Army Resists Nazis

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 11.—(AP)—A Yugoslav army of 80,000 Serbs under General Draja Mihailovic "continues to hold its positions" south of Belgrade despite heavy Axis pressure, the Yugoslav command announced tonight.

These Serbian troops who took to the hills after the defeat last spring were reported fighting seven Axis divisions in the Morava river valley near the towns of Kragujevac and Knjazevac.

U. S. Suspends Mail Service With the Axis

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—The Postoffice Department suspended today all mail service from the United States and its possessions to Germany and Italy and all points under their control.

Gibraltar, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, Russia and unoccupied France now are the only points in continental Europe for which mail will be forwarded.

All foreign transit mails to and from Germany and to and from Italy will be held in postoffice exchange offices.

Blackout Is Held At Ford Factory

DETROIT, Dec. 11.—(AP)—The Ford Motor Company's huge River Rouge plant and suburban Dearborn held a 10-minute blackout tonight, and officials of both the company and city termed the rehearsal "highly successful."

It was the first blackout trial in this area and was staged on two hours' notice.

Whistles and sirens signaled the start of the blackout. Within 10 seconds the brilliantly lighted Ford plant darkened strikingly. All lights winked out and 24,000 men within the plant stood in darkness beside their stilled machines.

All known survivors, under orders not to discuss the sinking, were assembled in Boston tonight for an appearance tomorrow at a Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation hearing.

Meanwhile, the Navy, the Coast Guard, the freighter's agents and all others in any way connected with the disaster remained rigidly uncommunicative. Even the medical examiners who viewed the bodies declined to announce the cause of death.

However, there was reason to believe some of the missing were in a lifeboat which capsized after drawing away from the Oregon.

Some members of the crew were forced to leap into the sea as she sank, and it was thought a few might have succumbed to the icy water.

The collision occurred before dawn, and at first the Oregon's officers hoped to bring her into port. Several hours later, however, a radiogram said that she was sinking. The Oregon, a new motorship, was believed to have suffered greatest damage in the fore section. This theory was supported by the fact she was able to proceed for a time under her own power.

Many of the survivors were in makeshift attire and showed signs of strain and fatigue.

Salaries at the institution now range anywhere from $35 to $145 per month, including board, Dr. Longino said.

Reports from Milledgeville said an employee association was being formed in an effort to force higher salaries, but Dr. Longino said he knew nothing about such a group.

This organization, it was said, would be set up similar to federal civil service employee groups and bring pressure on governmental officials.

Newspapers Pledge Backing To War Effort

Publishers' Association Thanked by F. D. R.
for Support.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(AP)—The American Newspaper Publishers' Association, through its president, Walter M. Dear, publisher of the Jersey City (N. J.) Jersey Journal, has pledged to President Roosevelt its "active support for the defense of the American way of life."

Dear sent the following telegram to the President: "On behalf of the newspapers of the United States may I assure you that we stand united to render all active support for the defense of the American way of life? We await your call for any service we can render."

The NPA made public the following reply to Dear from President Secretary Stephen Early: "Please accept the President's thanks for your telegram of December 8. The President is most appreciative of the pledge of active support for the defense of the American way of life which you give in behalf of the newspapers of the United States."

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(INS)—Gloria Vanderbilt, society's 17-year-old glamour girl, of New York and Beverly Hills, will marry Pasquale (Pat) di Cicco in the near future, her mother announced tonight.

The announcement did not come as a complete surprise since the couple has been going together in Hollywood for several months.

Gloria Vanderbilt several years ago was the center of a bitter court battle between her mother, Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt, and her aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney.

She is the daughter of the late Reginald C. Vanderbilt and was to have made her debut in society this winter.

Di Cicco, an actor's agent, was formerly married to Screen Star Thelma Todd, who died in 1935.

Mr. Vanderbilt and her mother, who have been in New York for several weeks, will return to California early next week.

The advance payment will be made so employees will have ready money for Christmas shopping.

ATLANTA, DECEMBER 12, 1941.

So What?

So Germany and Italy have formally declared war against the United States. Which fact makes absolutely no difference. For we knew it had to come, by declaration or action; we are prepared for it; and we have long realized that, if this world is to be fit place for our children and their children's children, the beastly thing for which the Axis powers stand must be wiped from the globe.

The ideology for which America stands, freedom and individual human dignity, is utterly irreconcilable with the ideology of the Axis powers, conquest by force and rule by the might of the sword.

President Roosevelt, in his speech of Tuesday night, put into forceful words what all of us have known. That the attack upon us by Japan, with all its treachery and dissimulation, is but a piece with the whole record of Nazi methods, that when Japan attacked we were, actually, joined with the enemies of all the Axis powers.

It is, perhaps, good that Germany and Italy should have taken this formal step. For it should clear the world atmosphere and remove, forever, any doubt in any American mind as to the fundamental causes in this world-wide war.

We have, most fully, for long known where we stand and where Germany and Italy, under Hitler and Mussolini, stand. Now that knowledge has been formally accepted. Now we know, beyond last shred of doubt what we, as a nation, have to do.

It is a simple, uncomplicated task. It is to give of ourselves to the utmost, for Victory! Over all our foes, the enemies of decent life and freedom for ourselves, as well as all mankind.

Women Must Serve

In ancient days wars were fought between armies. Today they are fought between entire populations. Not only the armed forces of America are directly involved in our war with the Axis, but of scarcely less importance are the workers in the war factories and, after them, the civilian population as a whole.

Women, as men, must cheerfully and gladly do their share for victory.

A special field for the services of women in urgent need for volunteers is the field of nursing. A campaign is already under way, all over the nation, to recruit 50,000 student nurses. They will, everyone of them, be needed, vitally, before the war is over.

Already there is a shortage of trained nurses. Many of the best are going into Army or Navy service. These must be replaced as quickly as volunteer student nurses can be trained. Nursing schools in various hospitals, including those in Georgia, are being expanded, and it is hoped the number of volunteers sought will be ready to fill the new student classes which begin in February.

In addition to this, there is urgent need for thousands of women to learn the course, given by the Red Cross, as nurses aides. This course calls for women who can spare the time from their ordinary home duties to put in 150 hours of actual work as hospital aides and in classes. Those hours are required for graduation. These women, in case of war emergency at home—if, for instance, our own cities were bombed—would be invaluable. To their work would, undoubtedly, be attributed the saving of many lives.

In any event, war is going to demand the creation of many new hospitals and the rapid expansion of existing hospitals. Unless American womanhood responds quickly, there will be a tragic shortage of nurses to care for those who will demand the best care we can give.

College or high school graduates who wish to volunteer for student nursing courses should apply to the Georgia Nurses' Association, 131 Forrest avenue, N. E.

Graduate nurses who wish to enter the Army Nurses' Corps should apply to Miss Mary Gavin, 729 Grant building.

And competent women who can take the course in nurses aide work, should apply to Miss Lillian Cumble, secretary of the Red Cross Nursing Service, 848 Peachtree street.

Criticism Allowed

Another challenge to freedom of the press has been eliminated. In a five-to-four decision the Supreme Court of the United States has upheld the right of a newspaper to criticize courts at any stage of their work.

The case decided involved the Los Angeles Times. The paper had been cited for contempt of court because of several editorials published in 1937 and 1938 commenting on convictions of persons not yet sentenced. The amazing thing about the charges brought against the Los Angeles Times is their source. The citation originated not with the judges involved, but with a committee of the Los Angeles Bar Association constituted for the specific purpose of bringing charges against the paper.

Had the decision of the court been against the newspaper, its effect would have been far-reaching. The charge against the paper contended that editorial comment while a case still was pending constituted a threat to impartial administration of justice. Had this contention been substantiated, in many cases comment would have been barred not for days or weeks, but for years.

The Supreme Court ruling, written by Justice Black, declared it makes no difference whether the case under criticism is technically pending at the time, so long as the comment does not constitute a "substantial" or "serious" danger to the impartial functioning of the judge.

No judge with a normal amount of intestinal fortitude would want to enforce such a regulation on the press. By his act he would admit that he was weak—that he could be influenced by newspaper comment and caused to sway from the course of justice. No strong judge would make such an admission. No judge weak enough to be so swayed should be allowed to retain his position on the bench.

Another challenge to one of the inherent freedoms of this country, one of the freedoms which the young men of this country are again taking up arms to defend, has been met and put down.

Army Health

The United States Army is registering its best health record in history. And this, it is well to bear in mind, is being accomplished during the period of the Army's greatest peacetime mass mobilization of men. The record speaks forcefully in favor of the two major factors accounting for the record—prompt recognition and treatment of illness. The figures also show the health and life expectancy of men of military age is better in the Army than in civilian life.

This splendid achievement must come as encouragement to all citizens, but more especially to those whose kin are in the Army. Credit for the achievement cannot be simplified to the point of saying, "He is the one," or "That is the reason." It is a combination of happy circumstances which have made the record possible, such as the fact that adequate military housing has gone a long way toward keeping respiratory diseases at a minimum. And, to name another factor, the present-day soldier seldom becomes ill of any disease which can be avoided by immunization processes.

For the civilian, there is a lesson to be gained in that what the Army can, and is accomplishing, in the way of health can be duplicated in everyday life. It is not too much to hope that the day is not far distant when the same factors responsible for the Army's health will help to establish the same fine record among the great majority of our people. It is common sense.

Georgia Editors Say:

CALLING ALL AMERICANS!

(From the Tifton Gazette.)

War was thrust on the United States Sunday, despite even a direct appeal by President Roosevelt to the emperor of Japan for peace in the Pacific. At the same time Japanese envoys were talking peace in Washington, Japanese naval ships were taking positions for attacks that cost the precious lives of Americans. The attack called to mind the Chicago gangster method of shaking hands with a victim so the victim could not draw a gun in his own defense while being "rubbed out."

Today the world is at war; every continent is involved; every language will be spoken on the battlefield. It is all one war, now; democracy against rule by the greatest in might.

Because we are at war, America needs every son and daughter to take up whatever task may be assigned and do it to best of your ability; whether it be fighting, or manufacturing, or paying, or just doing what you can at home. Because we are at war there can be room for but one people in this country—Americans.

Because we are at war, there can be room for but one aim in this country—to defeat the enemies of this country and the enemies of government by the people, of the people and for the people, everywhere.

Because we are at war, there can be but one party—the party of the people, led by the President.

Because we are at war, there can be but one faith—in God and country, and the righteousness of the cause for which we fight.

Because we are at war, there can be but one flag—the Stars and Stripes.

Because we are at war, there can be but one slogan: Keep that flag flying wherever Americans may be.

WASHINGTON PARADE

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

SADDEST FACE OF ALL WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Two nights in the Orient, corrected him, launched their treacherous attack on our Hawaiian fortifications. A high OPM official, who has spent some years in the Orient, was dining with a companion at the Mayflower hotel. Seated alone a few tables away was Saburo Kuruusu, special "peace" envoy sent to the United States by the Tokyo government to conduct negotiations over the Pacific.

"He had the saddest look on his face of any man I ever saw," the OPM official remarked in telling of the incident later. "He looked like he had just come from the funeral of his dearest friend. There he sat—alone—in a not inconspicuous place where many eyes could behold him—glum, silent and forlorn-looking."

Because of the prominence of their dining room neighbor, the OPM official and his companion fell to discussing him.

The sad look in Kuruusu's eyes was remarked on by the OPM man's friend also: "He must have received some very bad news," the friend said; "I never saw a person with such a sad look in his face."

REALLY, HAPPIEST The OPM official who had spent many years in the Orient, corrected him, the OPM official who had spent many years in the Orient, corrected him, the OPM official who had spent many years in the Orient, corrected him.

"He is the happiest man in the world," he said, referring to the sad-eyed Kuruusu. "Some great good fortune has befallen him. He is enjoying himself immensely."

The OPM official's companion, who was untutored in the ways of the Orient, was dumfounded. He looked at the sad countenance of the Japanese "peace" envoy and then focused a quizzical expression on his dinner host.

"You don't know the Japanese temperament," the OPM executive explained. "When a Japanese looks that sad in public he has either just inherited a great fortune, or he despised mother-in-law has just died. In anything really bad had happened to him he would be giving a party and pretending to be the happiest man in the world."

"That Jap," continued the OPM business head who had spent a number of years in the Orient, "knows something that pleases him very much. He never was more happier over anything in his life. Behind that self-imposed sad look is a smirk of great personal self-satisfaction. He must have accomplished whatever it was he came over here for."

SHOULD HAVE KNOWN Thirty-six hours later, as the first bombs were falling on Hawaii, special "peace" Envoy Kuruusu and Tokyo Ambassador Nomura, like a grinning pair of hyenas, were bowing their way into the presence of Secretary of State Hull to inform him that the negotiations between the two countries were off.

Looking back on the hotel dining room incident in the light of the momentous events that have since transpired, the OPM official who had spent so many years in the Orient is haunted by the sad expression in Kuruusu's eyes.

"I should have sensed that something like this was in the air," he said. "It's a part of the Japanese character. It is their simple way of trying to perpetrate a deception. When they are sad, they pretend to be glad. When they are glad, they appear to be sad. "Kuruusu had the saddest look on his face that night I think I ever saw in a man."

WANTED TO BE SEEN Somehow the picture of that eleventh-hour dining room scene, as related by the OPM official, more nearly epitomizes the perfidy of the little Nipponese empire dining alone in Washington's most prominent hotel—with a sad, very sad, expression in his slanted eyes. Because of the importance of his mission and the high official position he held, he could have been at a dozen more interesting places and surrounded by an imposing entourage.

It was most unusual that he should be dining—alone—at a hotel instead of the Japanese embassy, where he customarily belonged. The fact that he was dining alone—at Washington's leading hotel, with its constant flow of high governmental personages, was indicative of some dark design. He wanted to be seen with that sad look in his slant eyes.

Only the OPM official, with his background of experience in the Orient, saw something sinister in the "peace" envoy's self-imposed solitude and outward sadness.

SOLE PURPOSE There is no longer basis for any other conclusion, of course, but that Kuruusu was sent to Washington by the Tokyo government for the sole purpose of lulling us to sleep while final preparations for the Pacific attack were being made. Actual launching of the first hostile fleet movements must have gotten under way shortly after his arrival here a few weeks ago, since it takes about two weeks for a submarine to travel the 3,800 miles distance from Japan to the Hawaiian Islands. Both submarines and surface craft are known to have taken part in the attacking operations.

Obviously he came to the United States to create an illusion. The tricky little Japs had already laid their plans for striking unaware. Kuruusu's mission was to keep us deceived until the blow could be struck by pretending to be carrying on negotiations all the while.

He deceived us until the very end with his tactics. It was a part of his Oriental tactics to pretend to be sad over the progress of the "peace" negotiations, when inwardly he was glad. Only the OPM official, after years in the Orient, saw something sinister in his sadness.

Entertainment

For Army Men.

My old Broadway friend, Oscar Doob, he who perpetrates the smarter sort of advertising for the pictures and shows under the banner of Loew's Theaters—which includes our own Grand—has got himself a new job. He is on the publicity force for USO—Camp Show activities. In addition, of course, to his regular job.

He describes, in a recent letter, something of the gigantic job American show business is doing, in this respect. It is, he says, like building a new, nation-wide show circuit overnight.

One interesting item he reveals, is a few sentences about a meeting, last Sunday, in the offices of Abe Lastfogel, well-known theatrical executive who has given his services to USO—Camp Shows. The subject of discussion for this meeting, was plans for sending a camp show to Hawaii and the Philippines, to keep the boys over there from being bored. They were actually talking about this, when the flash of the news of the Japanese attack came over the radio. Boredom? In Hawaii? On Sunday afternoon?

To Quote

Oscar.

However, to quote some parts of Oscar's letter. Writes he: "The American Entertainment Force has its bases on Broadway and Hollywood. Eleven 'regiments' have been recruited from the ranks of screen, stage and radio, and the 'invasion' of Army, Navy and Marine camps has begun. It is mostly an 'amazon army'—because pretty, talented actresses make up most of its front lines.

"More than $1,000,000 worth of fun is being sent into the theaters by the USO Camp Shows, Inc., headed by Eddie Dowling. This is the government designated agency to supply 'live' entertainment to the boys in service."

Although much of the talent and executive leadership is volunteer, gratis service and the performers, stage hands, etc., are working at minimum salaries, with all unions and guilds co-operating, the coast-to-coast "marches" of traveling shows will cost, including transportation, more than $1,000,000 next April. Of that cost, about $250,000 may be recovered through the 20c admissions charged. The balance is being made up by grants from the U. S. O.

Eleven units—including some 500 performers, technicians and personnel—are already on the march, to cover 65 major camps. In January, more companies will be sent out to "invade" an added 150 camps that now have lesser stage facilities and must have a different type of show.

Lastfogel, head of the William Morris booking offices but devoting his time to USO Camp Shows, has arranged bookings so that as many camps as possible will have Christmas Eve and New Year Eve shows—for the boys unable to leave the camps over the holidays.

Scouts Want

Old Shoes.

Friend of mine, a scoutmaster, wants a little publicity here in reference to a plan for Boy Scouts to collect all the old, second-hand shoes they can in their neighborhoods, during the period from December 15 to 24.

Need for shoes, is to provide for hundreds of boys and girls, men and women in Atlanta who do not have shoes to cover their feet, in the winter weather. The old shoes will be taken to County Welfare headquarters, at 160 Pryor street, S. W., where there is a shop equipped to repair second-hand shoes. There they will be put into usable shape and distributed to folks who, without this help, would go only with broken, leaky, unfit shoes through the winter.

Seems like a worthy cause and it is to be hoped the scouts will find plenty of old shoes when they start their collection rounds.

Twenty-Five Years Ago Today.

From the news columns of Tuesday, December 12, 1916:

"For the first time in the history of the organization women are to participate in the annual banquet of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, to be held this year December 29."

And Fifty

Years Ago.

From the news columns of Saturday, December 12, 1891:

"Jackson McHenry's military company, the Governor's Volunteers, is preparing for a grand blowout on New Year's Day. It will be the annual celebration of the emancipation proclamation, according to the bills."

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Dealing NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—The same Monday morning papers which carried the awful news of the attack on the United States also published, in smaller measures, news of the conquest of the free American citizen in his own land by John L. Lewis and the rest of the breed of unionizers.

Dealing off the bottom of the deck, the national government betrayed every worker in the country in the decision of the packed arbitration board to grant Lewis the closed shop in the so-called captive mines of the Steel Corporation.

The whole transaction reeked of treachery, for there never was an instant's question of the result and the decision is the worse because this victory over the American people was handed to a man who had wiped out one whole week's coal production in these mines in a time of terrible national peril. It is absolutely immoral by the President's own admission because he himself had promised that the government would never order the institution of the closed shop and had described such official compulsion as "too much like the Hitler method."

And the subterfuge by which John R. Steelman technically detached himself from the government service so that his deciding vote would not be that of a government official is itself as truly Hitlerian as Hitler's nonbelligerency in the initial Japanese attack on us.

Lewis Has It is hard to ignore the utter wrong of the verdict, but the personal triumph of Lewis is a special aggravation for this man has absolutely no claim on any American, but, on the contrary, in view of his sullen obstruction of the national war effort, deserves more personal enmity than consideration.

If such conduct is to be rewarded at the expense of all patriotic Americans then every adventurer and profiteer is invited to sabotage and loot while sailors and soldiers die for the lack of guns and ammunition.

The worst of it all is that President Roosevelt doesn't have to haggle with Lewis or any other unionizer, needn't appease any of them, can tell them all to go to hell, kick them out of his office and win the greatest efforts and the most devoted support of all the workers by appealing straight to them over the heads of these sordid political and financial war profiteers. The American people are at war now and they will stand by the President in anything he does. They will stand by him in spite of this cynical and needless imposition on their loyalty, but they have a right to know that he will stand by them and not play low politics at the expense of their liberties, with men who put partisanship or personal power above the safety of the nation.

Unnecessary The President's radio report to the country was a great rallying speech which aroused only dread of the future and determination to win. No loyal American who heard him would hesitate to work longer hours or seven days a week if called upon or to brush off any union boss who dared to interfere, so it was not only wrong and a repudiation of a promise to the people to give Lewis his closed shop, but absolutely unnecessary.

If Lewis had dared to call another strike in those or any other mines after the attack on Pearl Harbor the whole American people, including those very miners who he would have cheated out of news that John L. Lewis had been jailed away for the duration. And if that would be a serious impairment of a sacred constitutional principle in the interests of national safety, as I am not ready to admit it would be, then anyway it would affect only one individual, and an obstructor at that, whereas this decision of the packed arbitration board unquestionably does impair a sacred right of 130 millions to work though they refuse to join a union.

And if it is argued that one man's right is as sacred as the same right of all the rest, then that argument comes awkwardly from those who said that, after all, only a few men, a scant 5 per cent of the miners in the captive diggings, would be driven unwillingly into the union and that these few were the real rascals of the lot.

Can Trust Not only is the President free to command the unions, as he commands the rest of us in all things now, but in the interests of unified effort he has a duty to refrain from gratuitous acts which flout the loyal feelings of the vast majority of the people, to say nothing of flouting their constitutional rights and their confidence in their government's pledge to them. He can trust all the people to support him and demand their country and any unionizer who dares to interfere represents nobody but himself, no interest but his own.

The People If night should fall before the heart has said "I love you" the urgency would have it say, "Shut the latch against the noisy day. Pulling its cloak about the sleeping bed. If winds should sigh like children being led. Upstairs of darkness where faint shadow play. Or eaves half-waken when thick branches sway. And tumble down to their cold, quiet bed. Give me one moment, but one moment more. Before we stay the throbbing of desire. Before waves cease to pound the heart's bright shore. Give me sprinkle ashes on the fire. Give me one moment yet in which to hold my breath. Before the night grows cold. —JOSEPH ELLIS JR.

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH MCGILL.

BENNETT CLARK'S HYPOCRISY A new low in intellectual depravity has been reached by Senator Bennett Clark, of Missouri.

He has asked that Secretary Knox, of the Navy, resign because the Navy was unprepared for the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. The post was caught napping, with the harbor packed with ships. (This explains unusual success of Japanese bombing.)

Bennett Clark is the last man who should raise his voice in any sort of statement.

It was Bennett Clark who led the fight which prevented the fortification of Guam, which would have made it a great naval and air base, and restricted Japanese activity in the Pacific.

Had Guam been a major naval and air base the United States now would have a base from which aid to the Philippines could be launched in force.

Had Guam been fortified the United States would have a link between the Philippines and Hawaii.

Had Guam been fortified the United States would have a base from which to launch bombing attacks on Japan.

Bennett Clark prevented it. He was the man about whom the forces rallied to prevent passage of the bill.

It was Bennett Clark who said that fortifying Guam would be "putting a dagger at the throat of Japan." (She has one now at our own throat.)

It was Bennett Clark who said, "Any move to fortify Guam is closely equivalent to war."

He said that before Germany went to war. He led the fight to stop it.

It is this man who demands the resignation of Secretary Knox.

If that is not a new low in intellectual depravity then we have never seen one.

CLARK SHOULD RESIGN If Bennett Clark had intellectual honesty, he would resign from the United States senate. His handiwork in the Pacific is apparent. No one man has done the military strength of his country more harm than this smug, often-wrong-but-never-in-doubt senator from Missouri.

The United States Navy twice tried to obtain funds to fortify Guam.

The President asked for it as he had asked for airplanes and more ships. (Bennett Clark helped defeat the bill.)

The house of representatives, led by Clark's isolationist group, defeated it. The vote showed 138 Republicans against it, 64 Democrats, two Progressives and one Farmer-Labor man. For fortification were 152 Democrats and 15 Republicans.

When the house bill, with the Guam item, arrived in the senate, Clark helped prevent an effort to have it reinstated.

He was the leader of the opposition which called the President a warmonger and declared the Navy officials were merely seeking large appropriations.

Clark would not put a dagger at Japan's throat.

The dagger now is at our own and the man who helped, more than any other one man, to make that possible, now wants the secretary of the Navy to resign because the Pacific fleet, close-packed in Pearl Harbor, was caught napping.

Last year, just to keep the record straight, the Navy tried to get $1,000,000 with which to start work on $3,000,000 worth of improvements.

The isolationist gang, which didn't want to annoy Japan, beat that.

The spectacle of Bennett Clark now having the gall to raise his voice against our setbacks in the Pacific is one of the most repulsive spectacles ever seen or heard in our congress.

THE MARINES COME THROUGH! Even while Bennett Clark, with contemptible hypocrisy, was baying his criticism, the United States Marines were writing a glorious chapter in their already glorious history.

Days ago the Japanese announced that the flag of the Rising Sun was flying over Wake Island, Midway and Guam.

Yesterday came word that the small garrison of Wake Island was still there.

By the dawn's early light the flag of the Marine Corps and of the United States were still there.

Not only were they still there but they had, in the past 48 hours, beaten off four attacks by land, sea and air.

Tough on Birds, All This Air War, Thinks Mr. Reeves

The robins have flown to the tropic zone—
To places like old Havana,
And the swallows rest or prepare a nest
Back in dear old Capistrano.
But there isn't a place on the earth
From Los Angeles to Burma, Where the peaceful dove with his song of love
Can settle on terra firma.
Oh, he dare not fly across the sky,
Where the bombing planes go zooming
And he can't alight for his rest at night
Where the earthly flowers are blooming,
For the air is a hell from the shot and shell.
And the blossoms, the buds and grasses Have bent their heads where the hobnail treads
Or have withered from poison gases.
Poor dove of peace! When the battles cease
And we live in a sweeter season,
When the mad desire of a world on fire
Has yielded to right and reason,
You can come again as you did when rain.

And Noah's eyes scanned the clearing skies
And the animals quit bawling.
But if we had wings, those feathery things,
All you peace doves use for flying,
We would disappear in the stratosphere
Or, at least, you would find us trying!

Listening In

Out at our house we have been paying more attention to the radio than usual.
Day after day, for several years, it has been silent, except when we noted in the newspaper radio column a n announcement of something we thought we should especially like.

But, beginning with last Sunday afternoon, our radio has remained "tuned in," lest we lose some war item of tremendous importance.
Naturally, we have suffered a bit. We have suffered innumerable programs sponsored by various manufacturers. We have tuned them as low as we could and tried not to listen. But always we have an ear cocked for an interruption. For something from the Far East.

I'd like to pay a tribute here and now to a large number of the sponsors who pay huge sums for radio time.
Their "commercials" have been cut short. Night or two ago I listened to three or four programs which assuredly had been revamped, rewritten. The music was all of the patriotic type. I think I heard "The Star-Spangled Banner" at least five times that evening. It would have bored me immensely three months ago. But all those five times I stood up at "attention" and felt that the skirring tune meant something. It was like standing at the curb, watching a parade, when the flag comes by. Something grips you in the throat. Something dampens your eyes.

I want to hear the radio go on with its usual programs, interrupted now and then by news from the "front" if there is a front.

Thank heaven, up to this writing, I haven't heard any comedians inserting any gags about the war into their stuff. They've been sticking to their scripts. This is no time for kidding about the war.
That may be all right—later. But not now.

Printers—even the best of them —will sometimes overlook or mix up a line in copy. Which may account for a recent item in the Wunder News:

"Mrs. J. K. Smith the hostess, will be fair and cool today and unsettled and stormy tomorrow."
"I'll bet she was—before and after reading that item."

"Santa Claus"

Santa Claus is the name of Georgia's newest community—down near Vidalia. It was incorporated by act of the last legislature. It is described as a "wide place in the road."

Somewhere out west there is a town called Santa Claus whose postmaster has "mopped up" because thousands of folk sent him postcards and packages to be postmarked and mailed from that address. But the Georgia community is out of luck thus far—it hasn't been approved as a post office, so there is no "Santa Claus" dating stamp. Maybe by next year.

Last Monday's Valdosta Times carried as a front page head:
"U. S. IN WAR." Five-inch type.
On an inside page the Times says the same word type—usually used for circus posters and such job printing—had been used for the identical headline in April, 1917. They just dusted it off.

One bright spot—if you have noticed it: "Xmas" for Christmas has virtually disappeared from public prints, in news, advertisements and billboards. There never was any excuse for it.

University Offers Facilities to U. S.

President Roosevelt has been offered full facilities of the University System of Georgia for "training the youth of the state for a highly mechanized Army and in whatever other ways may be requested."
Chancellor S. V. Sanford yesterday made public a telegram to that effect sent to the President with full approval of the State Board of Regents. The action was taken at a recent meeting.

Good Morning

By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

A GRACIOUS GIFT.

Mrs. W. T. Clinkscales Sr. called while I was away from the study, and wanted me to come to their home. When I got the message, you can imagine my feeling, when I tell you that her son, Lieutenant Robert S. Clinkscales, is one of the men from our church, stationed in the Philippine Islands, at Clark Field, Fort Stotsenburg. It was just at supper time when I got to the Clinkscales' home on East Lake road. I rang the bell, and, immediately, Mrs. Clinkscales came to the door. My fears were allayed, when I saw that smile.

Mr. Clinkscales came, too, and wanted to know if I wouldn't have some supper. I knew everything was all right. And when Mrs. Clinkscales hurried to her room to fetch a letter, and, opening it, handed me a check. I looked at it, scarcely able to keep up with the rapidly-growing events. It was a check for $100, made payable to the Georgia Baptist Orphans' Home, signed by Robert S. Clinkscales. I couldn't speak, and they couldn't speak. We were all crying for sheer joy.

And then Mrs. Clinkscales read me the letter from Bob. It went on to say:

"Mother, I have been reading in The Christian Index about the boys and girls at the Home in Hapeville, and I want you to give this check to Dr. Newton and ask him to let this go as a part of the offering of Druid Hills church to the orphans for their Christmas.

Only don't mention me in the matter."

I should explain that we send The Christian Index, our Georgia Baptist paper, to all our men in the service, along with our church bulletin and a specially prepared Sunday school quarterly for the men in service, on duty. Robert had read in The Christian Index about the Christmas offering for the Home in Hapeville, and there was his check for $100. It was just last Sunday that we had the boys and girls from the home at our church, and it is next Sunday that we receive the special Christmas offering, so Robert was right on time.

I came away from the Clinkscales' home last Tuesday night, realizing anew what I have deeply felt from the time the first man of the more than 100 left our church to enter the service, that these men are thinking as they have never thought—they are remembering their Creator, and the principles of righteousness which they were taught in their youth, in the home and in the church and in the school. And, the further fact, that we are wise if we do

Tobacco Seed Beds

Prepared in Lowndes

VALDOSTA, Ga., Dec. 11.—
Lowndes county farmers are actively preparing ground for tobacco seed beds for the 1942 crop.
The plots will be burned over to destroy all weed and grass seed, and tobacco seed will be planted by the last week in this month.

The acreage in this county for 1942 will be approximately the same as last year, though a larger yield is expected. However, prospective growers are wondering if the war will affect the foreign market to a greater extent than war conditions of the past two or three years.

everything within our ability, as pastors and parents and friends, to sustain the fine morale of these men who fight today on the frontiers of freedom. God be thanked and praised for such soldiers as Robert Clinkscales, who, facing death, remember the little children back at home who are bereft of earthly parents, but whose hearts beat faster in expectation of the Christmas season. Looking at this check here on my study table as I write this column, my mind goes back to those words of the Lord Jesus, when He said: "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

Donation to Opportunity Fund Can Make a 'Merry Christmas'

By FRANK DRAKE.

The time between now and Christmas is mighty short, Atlan-tans. There is much to be done in this brief space.

People are busy shopping and buying gifts for their loved ones and planning a merry Christmas despite the war and its horrors.
But there is still a great work to be done. Atlanta's neediest and most deserving families—the ones which can be rehabilitated—have got to be taken care of.

Gifts Acknowledged.

Small donations, gifts of dollars or dimes, are needed to help see these worth-while mothers and fathers through, and The Constitution and the Family Welfare Society, which annually co-operate in sponsoring the Opportunity fund, are appealing to you for your contribution to make this Christmas a bright and cheerful one for families that now are struggling against odds they cannot beat without your help.

Every gift will be acknowledged, in your name if you like, or anonymously as many prefer.
And every cent you give will go to help the Opportunity fund, because there is no "overhead" charge.

Donations made to the Opportunity fund are deductible from income taxes, since this is an organized charity, and there are many, many people here in Atlanta who could help these families materially with small cost to themselves because of this.

Advantage of Fund.

If you are planning to do something for others this Christmas, consider the advantages of giving to the Opportunity fund. It buys loads of Christmas happiness for poor boys and girls and mothers and fathers and it works all year round helping ill and injured men and women, deserted mothers, widows, orphans and families struck by misfortune. It aims toward giving destitute families something to stand on while they win victory for themselves in becoming self-supporting again as soon as possible.

Opportunity gifts are spent for food, rent and clothing, but they give people a chance to become independent! Send or bring a gift this Christmas to Hugh H. Trotti, vice president and business manager of The Constitution, who is treasurer of the Opportunity fund.
Nickels and dimes count importantly, too.

Opportunity No. 5

A woman died four months ago in Atlanta and her death notice in the paper read: "She is survived by her husband and five children, Gerald, Harry, Marian, Lucille and Teddy."

You probably read it. But you didn't THINK about it. You didn't know she died of an infectious disease. You didn't know the eldest child, Gerald, is only 16, that Harvey is 15 and Marian is almost Earns Small Salary.

You didn't know that this survivor-husband, Mr. A., earns only a small salary in a perfectly respectable job. You could not have known those things, unless you knew the family, because such facts are not printed except when families happen to become your Christmas Opportunities in the annual campaign for the city's neediest families conducted by The Constitution in co-operation with the Family Welfare Society.
Mr. A. is your opportunity No. 5.

No one thinks, when he first reads a death notice, of all the ramifications that are there. If it had been Mr. A. who died, people might have thought, "Well, how is she going to get along." But they don't immediately think of what happens when a man is left with a large, young family.

Diet, Clothing Needed.
Mr. A. has got to think of it.
His wife died of an infectious disease—and now he must provide ample protection for his children (all of them are in school). These boys and girls must have a good diet, warm clothing and an adequate place in which to live. That is for their protection, and for the protection of the community.

He cannot care for them properly by himself. He has got to have a woman's help in managing his sons and daughters. (This can be arranged for reasonably.) But the fact remains, Mr. A. does not earn enough to buy them all the proper food they must have, to pay rent, to buy the medicines, the other things such a family deserves.

Atlantans could see him through this emergency (there's definite hope for this family), by contributing to the Opportunity Fund this Christmas. Send or bring a gift to Hugh H. Trotti, vice president and business manager of The Constitution, who is the fund treasurer.
Every cent you give will go to the family you want to help.

Breakfast Gets Attention As the Forgotten Meal Of the Working Girl

By Ida Jean Kain

The old song had it that heaven would protect the working girl. But nowadays she is expected to eat in self defense. Just to make sure that she gets her protective foods. New York is waging a nutrition campaign to call attention to "the forgotten breakfast," the breakfast which the working girl needs to make a girl plump or thinner. And the way things are shaping up, any meal that fails to measure up to the nutrition yardstick will soon be contraband.

The main reason the working girl doesn't care much about food is that she does not realize how extremely important the three balanced meals a day are to health and looks. Then, in addition, it seems that she almost regards adequate nutrition as a menace to her figure. She entertains the strongest convictions that milk is fattening and that such wholesome foods as bread, butter and potatoes are practically fatal. As for greens, she just plain does not like them.

What the working girl needs is a little first-hand experience with the A, B, C's of nutrition. Balanced meals help to balance the scales as well as build health. An adequate breakfast—one that includes fruit juice, one egg, whole wheat toast and coffee—furnishes no more calories than doughnuts and coffee. But the balanced menu means vitamins, minerals, protein and pep.

The best luncheon the business girl can order is the regular bill of fare. Let's say it consists of meat loaf, a cooked vegetable, bread, beverage and dessert. By taking skim milk or buttermilk, whole grain bread and a fruit for dessert, there's a margin of protection without too many calories. Leaving off the rich dessert is what keeps the calories within bounds. It's a mistake for the business girl to try to get by on a sandwich and coffee.

A balanced dinner really can make a girl plump or thinner. Since this meal is the last chance to complete the list of protective foods needed during the day, it should be chosen with oversight.

at the other two meals in mind. If there was no green or yellow vegetables on the lunch, one should be included at dinner, along with a salad of uncooked greens, lean meat or fish or fowl or eggs; whole grain bread, dessert, and beverage. To dodge calories, the dessert should either be a low calorie fruit—or left off. Instead of milk, an ounce of yellow cheese may be used.

Every working girl in the country would be smart to check over the list of protective foods and to see that she gets them every day. Money for adequate nutrition is the best investment she can make. Here are the nutritional allowances recommended daily for the business girl:

Calories, 2,100; protein, 60 grams; calcium, 48 grams; iron, 12 milligrams. Vitamins A, 5,000 units; B-1, 400 units; C, 1,400 units; B-2, 1.8 milligrams; D, 400 units.

And below is the list of protective foods which furnish the essentials in the amounts recommended. This list should be used daily in the diet:

Fruit—2 fresh fruits, one a citrus, an orange, grapefruit, or the juice or tomatoes, or the juice. Vegetables—2 cooked, one green or yellow.

Raw vegetables—Use daily a raw vegetable salad. The greener the leaves the better. Watercress is nutritionally valuable.

One egg at least four times weekly.

Lean meat, fish or fowl, six ounces daily. Once weekly liver or other meat organs should be used.

Butter—3 pats.

Plan the three meals a day around this protective list, adding any other foods you like within your calorie quota.

MY DAY: Defense Plans Go Into Action

By Eleanor Roosevelt

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Wednesday.—We arrived in Los Angeles in the rain yesterday morning. The Governor of California and the mayor of Los Angeles met us. The Governor drove off with Director LaGuardia, Mr. Gilbert Harrison and I followed with the mayor. I was astonished to find that, even now, some people can't believe our shores are actually a possible target for attack.

We went straight to the state building, and in a very few minutes the state council of defense met in open session. All the seats in the room were filled and people stood in the aisles as the morning wore on.

I felt extremely virtuous, because I had not gone to the hotel to dress. I usually feel that is essential after a night trip. I patted myself on the back and felt that, since this was not entirely comfortable, that this was my first real job for civilian defense.

It is remarkable how a real threat will change the whole aspect of a situation overnight. The state defense council met, found an executive secretary, decided to establish a central office in the state capital in Sacramento and two branch offices in San Francisco and Los Angeles. The local council of defense was setting up its volunteer office also.

Guards had already been placed on watch at all strategic places, such as bridges, in the state. The need for money was already being canvassed and the Governor was making necessary preparations to meet the requirements.

Director LaGuardia made an excellent speech and it was splendid to see the response to concrete suggestions. In the afternoon, the meeting was divided and Mayor LaGuardia went to a meeting of the section of police and fire patrol, while I went to the section on health and welfare.

I found that there were many very excellent plans on paper, but the actual assignment of people to specific posts and their training in what they should do on those posts had not yet been undertaken. It seems to me that, with real danger hanging over our heads, when we discuss the actual work that has to be done, we discover that the protective measures are really very closely allied to the voluntary participation.

You cannot, for instance, be a good air raid warden without knowing exactly how all the people in your section live and what their needs are. Yet the air raid wardens are trained under the Army, and the community services, which they have to invoke to do their job well, are all on my side of defense.

Inexpensive Hand Cream For the Family

By Winifred Ware

An effective hand cream that's inexpensive is a necessity in the modern woman's beauty budget. It saves money for its user in the long run, for it's so much easier to prevent cracked knuckles and rough, smarting skin than to repair them, once the damage is done.

You'll want a cream that rubs in easily so that you will not have to waste some of your precious time working it into hands. (I know how busy you are these days with defense work and Christmas preparations.) There's one that actually seems to melt when you apply it. It leaves no stickiness or greasy film.

It's important to use this cream after every washing of your hands. Keep a jar of it in your desk drawer, if you work, and another at home. Incidentally, the men in your family will be using that jar at home, for it's a cream with only a faint, clean odor which men don't find objectionable.

You'll discover this cream is economical enough so that you won't have to worry about the expense involved in using it often. A 2 1/2-ounce jar costs but 39c, and it takes very little of it for each application.

This isn't a new cream. I've used it for years . . . but it's a cream I think you'll be happy to know about if you've never tried it. I'll be glad to tell you what it is if you call Winifred Ware at Walnut 6565 or write in care of The Constitution, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Back Teeth Deserve Most Care

By Dr. William Brady

Recently a correspondent told us here how she had to join "one of the three letter associations, due to financial depression and old age (45)," expressed her gratitude for the immediate attention she can get from one hospital if she cuts her finger or has any similar emergency, and the thorough examination and excellent treatment, including medicine and if necessary operation she can get from another hospital if she suffers a more serious illness or accident—but when she has a toothache she can get no treatment through the relief agencies until the tooth is hopelessly damaged and then the first mentioned hospital will extract it.

The correspondent, whose spirit seemed admirable in the face of adversity, went on to describe the tragic plight of a woman of her age minus most of her teeth trying to get or hold a job, especially if one or more front teeth be missing. She just could not afford to have $3 fillings, she said, and so had been compelled to lose a good many teeth in the past few years.

Of course I have no personal acquaintance with or knowledge of the correspondent. I wonder, though, what were her circumstances before the "financial depression and old age" overtook her, and more particularly I wonder what her casual or offhand ideas respecting conservation of the teeth were when she was in better circumstances. I suspect she had the common notion of that—the notion that as long as the teeth that "show" are not visibly damaged one need not pay much attention to the condition of the "back" teeth until toothache or other serious manifestation drives one to a dentist. This notion or attitude regarding the care of the teeth is held by an astonishingly large number of people today, people who would resent being called anything but intelligent, people who can well afford regular care by the dentist.

Louella Parsons Gives Up Her Idea Of Making a Trip to London

By Louella O. Parsons

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(INS)—The original that Gene Towne and my old friend Mark Kelly authored—"Miss Grant Takes Richmond" (cute title) will be made by Columbia with Rosalind Russell and Melvyn Douglas in the star spots. It's a comedy about a hard-boiled gal named Grant, who takes a southern aristocrat named Richmond over the hedges and while the situations are on the spicy side—it's all in good Hays office-approved fun. This should be a relief to Melvyn Douglas after the unfortunate experience with Garbo in "Two-Faced Woman."

Hasn't been much news about Gene Towne since he stopped producing his own pictures, although he has not been inactive. For the past six months Gene has been working closely with USO officials planning entertainment for the Army camps and writing original plays and skits. At one time M-G-M was on the verge of buying "Miss Grant Takes Richmond" but when Roz left the story followed her.

The President's speech was heard in every New York theater between the first and second acts of the shows followed immediately by "The Star-Spangled Banner." We were in the audience at "The Land Is Bright" and it was thrilling to hear everyone simultaneously start singing the national anthem with such sincere feeling it brought a lump to many throats. I was so surprised by Martha Sleeper's performance in this Edna Ferber-George Kaufman play. When I first met Martha she was just a schoolgirl with ambitions to be an actress. She is really outstanding as "Tana" and well justifies the confidence of John Murdock, her uncle, in her. K. T. Stevens, Sam Wood's lovely daughter, is very good and another member of the younger generation

John Barrymore's daughter, Diana, is interesting. The John Hallidays are in Honolulu, and friends who have been commuting for pictures, coming back to Hollywood only when he liked some particular script. The Halladay home is not in Honolulu proper, but faces the Pacific ocean and is not far from Pearl Harbor. They live almost next door to Cris Holmes, whose island palace is—or was—one of the show places.

SNAPSHOTS OF NEW YORK AND HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Gloria Vanderbilt and Pat Di Cicco walked into the Stork Club just as we were leaving. They had arrived in the morning from Los Angeles and Gloria is here to spend the holidays.

Instead of their romance being on the wane, as other columnists have insisted, they are more in love than ever and this comes first hand; was on the Fred Allen broadcast tonight and "We the People" December 16 and then home. Thought I might go to London but now that the war is coming to us there is no need for me to go across the ocean to meet it. Speaking of Fred Allen, he has the same type of comedy that made Mark Twain's name a household word and Will Rogers such a beloved figure. All the people on the Allen show love him. I worked with "Uncle Jim," who has been on the Allen show since it started. That's the name they call him. "Uncle Jim" discovered Red Skelton in a marathon dance team, and Red still writes to him for advice.

Here's How to Wash Rayons, Silks and Wool

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Better Fabrics Testing Bureau, widely-known authorities on all textile and fabric subjects, say "Wash rayons, silks, and woollens in Super Suds." Here are their expert instructions:

Test a small patch in plain water for color-fastness. If color runs, it's not washable. (Test woollens in soapy water.)

Wash garments separately, by hand.

Use lukewarm suds as follows: Dissolve Super Suds completely in warm water, then add cold water to get lukewarm suds.

Do not soak. Wash quickly and gently. Do not rub, wring or twist. Woollens especially shrink from rubbing—avoid any excessive handling while wet.

Rinse thoroughly, gently, in clean, lukewarm water.

Roll in towel, but don't leave there. Never dry woollens in excessive heat or direct rays of sun.

Shape garments over ironing board before ironing. Use a moderate iron.

Certain types of weaves and prints should never be washed. Many makers guarantee washability. Look for this when you buy.

Georgia's Defense Agencies Consolidate

By WILLARD COPE.

A comprehensive step, integrating state civilian agencies working for national defense, was taken yesterday as organization of the special local services required under combatant conditions was used.

Two existing agencies, the State Council for National Defense and the State Planning Board, were merged with the Citizens' Defense Committee, appointed Monday by Governor Talmadge with Hughes Spalding as temporary chairman.

Decide on Setup.

A session which followed issuance of the Governor's proclamation effecting the merger decided upon a setup extending directly from the state committee headquarters to county control centers for five specific purposes, as follows:

1. Aircraft warning, with a distinct organization for each 32 square miles.

2. Medical services, first aid, nursing, etc.

3. Maintenance of public works.

4. Maintenance of utilities.

5. Maintenance of transportation and communication facilities.

In addition, in communities of 5,000 population or more, there will be three additional categories:

1. Auxiliary fire-fighting service, maintained at four times the size of the existing peacetime organization.

2. Air raid warden service, supplying a post for each 500 persons.

3. Auxiliary police, three times as large as the existing organization.

All first aid classes and preparation of bandages will be carried on through local branches of the Red Cross, where demands upon state organization for instruction will originate.

Plan for Director.

It is planned to have an executive director for the state committee at the state headquarters, with a clerk, possibly supplied through WPA, for each county control center, assisting the executive director of the county council.

The proclamation putting the change into effect read as follows:

"In the interest of national defense in the state of Georgia and in order to centralize, integrate, and co-ordinate the various agencies, all working for national defense,

"It is hereby ordered that the State Council for National Defense be and the same is hereby merged with Citizens' Defense Committee created by executive order, dated December 8, 1941, and the same shall hereafter function as Citizens' Defense Committee.

"It is further ordered that the members of State Planning Board become ex-officio members of Citizens' Defense Committee, and that said planning board hereafter function with Citizens' Defense Committee as a part thereof.

"THIS DECEMBER 11, 1941.

"GOVERNOR EUGENE TALLMADGE."

Ordered to Stand By.

All newspapers and news services were urged by Major Owen Warren, adjutant of the defense corps, to emphasize again the announcement Wednesday that only those corps members who receive specific orders are to report for duty.

"All others will stand by," he said, "until they are actually called. We have been besieged personally, by telephone and by telegraph, by men wanting to go into action. This splendid spirit is most heartening. Specifically, however, the active duty proclamation at the moment applies only to those units which have been notified."

Headquarters of the Atlanta British War Relief organization urged all of its members to volunteer for active war service in every field for which they are fitted. The organization, meantime, is continuing its original efforts.

Members of the West End Civilian Club, headed by Dr. Charles Howard, suggested national adoption of the club's innovation of a "walking blood bank," consisting of a register of volunteer donors, whose blood has been typed and recorded, permitting instant call when needed.

Air Post for Nunnally.

It was announced from the Office of Civilian Defense that William Nunnally, Atlanta aviation enthusiast, had been appointed as wing commander of the new civil air patrol.

Work of registering and fingerprinting all employees and other attaches of the Municipal Airport and airlines was proceeding rapidly as part of the plan to safeguard the port from sabotage.

It was announced by Lieutenant Commander D. Ward Harrison, commanding the Navy air base, that the training program was "humming" and that arrangements were being made for added barracks, mess hall and recreation space.

In addition to the merger proclamation affecting the defense committee, the Governor made two other moves in efforts to strengthen the defense efforts:

1. Added six new members to the original defense committee.

2. Set up a women's branch of the citizens' group.

The supplemental list of new members included Herbert Bloch, of Macon; Isadore Gelders, of Fitzgerald; Dr. Richard Binion, of Milledgeville; Norman Elsas, of Atlanta; Sam Cohn, of Columbus, and Freeman Strickland.

Women Appointed.

Appointed to the women's division were Mrs. Shelby Myrick, of Savannah, temporary chairman; Mrs. W. D. Lamar, of Macon; Mrs. Marie Rourke McAnaney, of Savannah; Mrs. E. R. Harris, of Winster, president of the American Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. Christine Pedrick, of Quitman; Mrs. Gertrude Harris, of Atlanta, president of the lawyers' association; Mrs. Murdock Equest, of Atlanta; president of State Garden Clubs; Mrs. John Monaghan, of Pelham; Mrs. D. M. Minchew, of St. Simon's Island; Mrs. William T. Healey, of Atlanta; Mrs. Charles D. Center, of College Park, secretary of National Congress of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Mrs. W. S. Mann, of McRae; Mrs. H. K. Park, of Columbus; Mrs. Fred Hayes, of Toccoa; Mrs. Ralph Butler, of Dallas, president of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. R. A. Long, of Atlanta, president of Parent-Teacher Association; Mrs. John A. Hunnicutt Jr., of Atlanta; Mrs. R. C. Fryer Jr., of Manchester; Mrs. S. V. Sanford, of Athens, president of the Colonial Dames; Mrs. Frank A. Dennis, of Eatonton; Mrs. Max Kutner, of Rome, and Mrs. Max Land, of Atlanta.

The Governor also made public a communication from the Governors' Conference and Council of State Governments asking that the state take any direct action with respect to the apprehension and detention of enemy aliens since this would only duplicate duties assigned to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Offers Hospital Facilities.

In announcing his new appointments, the Governor said Dr. Binion had offered the services of his Milledgeville hospital, ambulances and other facilities for use in the defense program.

Macon summoned her civilians to a mass registration, designed to list them by occupation and abilities, and Major A. J. Swann placed cards at the Chamber of Commerce office in the auditorium for the big job.

Moultrie considered a proposal to counteract the procrastination of bond buyers by setting aside "group days" when clubs and other organizations would march to the post office and make their defense purchases.

Tift county began enrolling volunteers, the Pilot Club hitting 100 per cent. First aid classes were outlined.

Albany sent 10 picked men, armed, to protect the water, light and gas plants. They were given full police powers over the premises they were guarding.

Augusta instructed curiosity seekers to stay away from defense and public works sites, now under guard.

Harry Ballance Named Variety Chief Barker

20th Century-Fox Official Succeeds W. K. Jenkins.

Harry Ballance, district manager for 20th Century-Fox in the southern territory with headquarters in Atlanta, yesterday was named chief barker of the Atlanta Tent No. 21, Variety Clubs of America, succeeding William K. Jenkins, who has served in that capacity since the charity organization of showmen was organized here a little more than two years ago.

Ballance had for two previous terms served as first assistant chief barker of the tent and has directed transportation arrangements to two national conventions which resulted in such large numbers of members attending that the tent has won attendance trophies each year.

Named to serve with Ballance were: E. E. Whitaker, general manager of Lucas & Jenkins, first assistant chief barker; Willis Davis, also of the L. & J. organization, second assistant chief barker; Paul Wilson, Atlanta branch manager of 20th Century-Fox, property master, and R. B. Wilby, head of the Wilby-Kinney circuit, dough guy.

Last Monday the following were elected to the board of directors, in addition to the officers named above: Jeff Davis, Dave Prince, Jimmy Harrison, Sid Reams, Jenkins and Dick Ford.

Sumter county leaders assumed as their chief obligation the task of keeping highways open and bridges in condition for use.

Milledgeville announced a registration to begin Monday, when cards would be available. Hazlehurst called on Captain E. E. Dill, of Waycross, to organize a corps of 40 men in a defense unit.

University of Georgia faculty members were prepared to offer their classes for defense duty if and when needed.

Appointment of an air raid warden chief for each of Georgia's 159 counties was authorized by Colonel Richard C. Job, executive director of the Georgia Council for National Defense.

Charles A. Collier, chairman of the State Defense Council, was directed to make the appointments. There are already 1,106 observation posts in the state.

War Takes Play in Newsreels Showing at Movie Houses Here

By LEE ROGERS, Motion Picture Editor.

War took the play in all newsreels on programs opening yesterday at movie theaters, with each release giving more or less the same current and background pictorial history of America's entry into the war. Most complete is the March of Time release at the Roxy, which gives a brief history of war since the 1914 prelude through the second day of the U. S. A. in the present conflict.

With the exception of these reminders of current conflict, the films this week offer complete entertainment outside the realm of war.

That is, all except "Sergeant York"—the best film of the week—and even that deals only briefly with the war years in the life of the great American hero. Gary Cooper is at his best in the title role of this feature at the Fox.

Next best bet is "H. M. Pulham, Esq.," in which the depths to which love can penetrate social barriers is discussed amidst romance, comedy and a few tender tears for the girls at Loew's. "Dr. Kildare's Wedding Day," at the Rialto, is filled with heart throbs. It has comedy and tragedy and ranks among the best in this popular series. For those who love excitement portrayed by experts in the art of terror, by all means see "The Maltese Falcon" at the Roxy.

SERGEANT YORK GOOD FOR MORALE

Beautifully drawn and executed is the movie story of the life of Alvin York, No. 1 doughboy hero of the American nation, which has won universal acclaim from all audiences which have seen "Sergeant York," now at the Fox at slightly advanced prices.

It easily ranks among the top motion pictures of 1941 and is a credit to all connected with it—Warner Brothers, Producer—Director Howard Hawks, Gary Cooper, the star, the writers and supporting cast.

Gary Cooper gets the feeling of this role to turn in what may easily be the Academy Award-winning male performance of the year. He plays "Alvin York" as a living hero, a doubly difficult assignment—with proper restraint and with proper gusto when the occasion demands. With the aid of his film pal, Walter Brennan (this time as the mountaineer preacher), George Tobias, Ward Bond and others, he gives the film a wholesome humor with tenderness, to make his role as typically American on the screen as it was in real life.

Most of the film deals with York's life in the hills of Tennessee, of his hell-raising days, of how he got religion, of his great love for Jean Leslie (plays this role), his conscientious objection to going to war, his final conviction after a talk with a Camp Gordon officer of how to justify both teachings of the Bible and patriotism. His exploits overseas give a certain humor to even the grave war scenes, but they and his hero's welcome back home take only a small part of the film footage.

"Sergeant York" is one picture of the 1941 season that is "must"—and entertaining—for every moviegoer.

ADROIT DIRECTION HELPS 'PULHAM'

The other girl in the lives of men is the romantic hinge around which M.-G.-M. brings to screen life the best selling novel "H. M. Pulham, Esq.," at Loew's. It opened yesterday for a week.

Through adroit direction of King Vidor and a good cast, a more or less dreary-sounding film comes lively, though serious, entertainment on the screen. Hedy Lamarr, doing her best acting to date in a talking role and making the business girl of the twenties look most glamorous, plays the part of Marvin Myles, the girl whose vision of loveliness lasts 20 years.

The characters are drawn clearly. Robert Young, in the title voice of security directing in cross ways.

NEW KILDARE EPISODE PACKS MORE DRAMA

"Dr. Kildare's Wedding Day," which opened yesterday at the Rialto, packs more drama than any of this series to date. It has romance, tragedy, music and a new medical lesson, this one dealing with saving the life of a great musician whose hearing is handicapped by too much spaghetti and too little vitamin B-1.

The usual M.-G.-M. cast is present—Lew Ayres, Laraine Day, Lionel Barrymore, and the Blair hospital regulars, plus Red Skelton and Nils Asher.

"THE MALTESE FALCON" IS CHILLY THRILLER

Warm up for the chills of a thriller if you're heading for the Roxy theater any night this week. "The Maltese Falcon" has as tangled a plot as the mystery business has presented in many a film cycle.

With Humphrey Bogart as the tough border-line private detective with a sufficiently bad reputation to get lucrative accounts, Peter Lorre as an agent who'll not stop short of murder when his cunning fails, and Mary Astor as the beautiful but tough woman-in-distress who plays a game of love to ensnare stooges to her side, "The Maltese Falcon" offers a plot which requires the solving of three murders.

Miss Lambeth, Of Agnes Scott, Succumbs Here

Popular Student's Plans For Christmas To Be Executed.

Death of Miss Virginia Lambeth, 20, popular Agnes Scott junior, will not cause any change in the plans for 50 Decatur Negro children, inmates of the Decatur Mission, to correspond with Santa Claus.

Miss Lambeth, president of the Presbytery Council of Young People, a member of the junior class at Agnes Scott, and a volunteer worker in the Decatur Mission, died yesterday following a three-day illness from a blood infection.

As a worker in the mission, Miss Lambeth had written 50 cards to Santa Claus for the Negro children. She had planned to distribute them among the inmates Sunday, with instructions for the children to mail the cards immediately to Santa Claus, so that St. Nick could know what they wanted for Christmas.

Other officials of the mission yesterday took over the task of handling the cards just as Miss Lambeth had planned, and they will be distributed Sunday.

Funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock this morning, at the Oakhurst Presbyterian church, with the Rev. Russell F. Johnson, the Rev. Harold C. Smith and Dr. J. R. McCain, president of Agnes Scott, officiating. Burial will be in East View cemetery.

Miss Lambeth is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Auburn C. Lambeth; two sisters, Misses Margaret and Lynda Lambeth, and a brother, A. C. Lambeth Jr.

CAA Removes Prohibitions on Civil Aviation

Strict Regulations To Govern Private Flying in U. S.

Civil pilot certificates, suspended last Sunday when the Civil Aeronautics Authority grounded all flying except governmental and regularly scheduled passenger liners, were reinstated yesterday in an order issued in Washington, by the CAA.

In lifting the suspension, CAA authorities said no private pilot will be permitted to fly anywhere in the United States unless he is a citizen of the United States and an investigation proves good character and loyalty to the United States.

Jack Gray, manager of Candler Field, last night said approximately 75 or 100 Atlantans are affected by the order, and will be permitted to resume flying.

Under the new regulations, all private pilots will be required to carry an identification card, showing finger prints, photograph and signature, and he must obtain clearance papers from a police officer or other authorized person at an airport before he can take off.

General Motors Defense Output Beats Schedule

Machineguns, Engines, Shells Rolling Fast, Sloan Reports.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(P)—Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of the General Motors Corporation, said in a statement issued today that production of defense equipment in production in General Motors plants was ahead of schedule.

Orders on such work with a contract value of $720,000,000 involving machineguns, Diesel engines, Allison engines, gun housings and shells, the executive said in a defense production progress report to General Motors stockholders.

"Unusual production achievements have, in some instances," he said, "permitted rapid acceleration of deliveries." Total deliveries of Allison engines, based on dollar volume, were rapidly reaching original contract schedules at the end of the third quarter of 1941. They were equivalent to 91 per cent of original schedules as projected for that time.

It is a matter of satisfaction to be able to report that production is now at the full schedule rate.

Sloan reported there were plans calling for production of light, medium and heavy tanks by the Cadillac and Fisher Body divisions of General Motors.

Incomplete Homes To Get Materials

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(P)—The OPM arranged today to make building materials available where they are needed to complete privately financed homes and apartment houses for which foundations were in place October 9.

Leon Henderson, civilian supply director, said a special preference rating order would be issued December 22 to cover an estimated 70,000 partially completed dwelling units on which construction has been delayed by government limitations on new buildings.

The effect of the order will be to put builders of these units in line for purchase of materials not required for defense.

YOUNG ATLANTAN SHOPS ARE THE CENTER OF OUR SECOND FLOOR EXCITEMENT!

'Moments' Is Title of Poems Published by Lamar Sparks

By SALLY FORTH.

... "MOMENTS" IS THE TITLE of a blue-bound book of poems by that former Atlantan, Lamar Sparks, which is just off the press. Lamar, whose last letter to Atlanta friends bore a Philadelphia postmark, is well known in literary and newspaper circles here, and her host of friends will be eager to read her book of verse, which is published by Dorrance & Company, of Philadelphia.

Dedicated to her mother, Mrs. Willis B. Sparks, whose beauty and social graces made her one of the south's loveliest belles during her young ladyhood, the book contains 80 poems! They deal skilfully with such significant subjects as Power, Progress, Thought, Forerunner, Evolution, Rebirth and Success.

Ever a thoughtful person, Lamar possesses a keen and inquiring mind which made her successful as a journalist in Atlanta several years ago. You will recall that she was first connected with the former Georgian-American, and later with The Constitution.

A member of a prominent Macon family, she has enjoyed the advantages of education and travel. But she was not content to remain in Macon as the center of her parents' household. She wanted a career. And, with the publication of "Moments," she becomes a writer of distinction.

Among her poems is one on SECURITY, a subject of poignant appeal to every American today, which reads:

"A land is at hand where man discovers rest,
Where mind, relenting, yields itself to life,
Turning from gain to a gratifying quest Impervious to restlessness and strife;

"Where greed and apprehension no more dwell
Than detail on a sun-wrought copper sea;
Where all men know that Truth alone can spell
The final meaning of security;

"Where toilers turn from fortresses and face
A source of strength that once the Wise Men saw,
And find the rest of worlds that swing through space
With no support but everlasting law."

The last pages of the book are dedicated to a series of outline thoughts which are indicative of the depth and seriousness of the author's purpose. To give you an idea of what they are like, a few of them are reprinted herewith:

"The heart waited for Time to draw Pain's javelin from her side."

"Thought need know no winter and no barren boughs."

"Sorrow lifted his cup to your lips, but the potion scalded my heart."

"With love's departure the heart made her home in the land of make-believe."

More than ever now, your co-operation is needed in helping to support the morale of the men in service. Have you called Mrs. Wilmer Dutton (Hemlock 1467) to tell her how many students from the Naval Air Base you will take for Sunday dinner? Mrs. Dutton would also like to contact hostesses who will take students from the air base for Christmas dinner.

... WAR MEANS self-denial, but people quickly adjust themselves to the serious issue. For that reason Dr. and Mrs. Floyd McRae have decided not to give their annual egg-nog party this Christmas.

The McRae party on Christmas morning became an institution in Atlanta's social life. The first party given by the popular couple took place the Christmas Dr. and Mrs. McRae moved into their home on Habersham road.

Mrs. McRae experienced a real heartache in arriving at this decision, because, she says, "We love to have our friends with us on Christmas morning."

"We are at war," she said, when one of her friends ventured to remonstrate with her about giving up the merry tradition associated with her Christmas party. "The Red Cross needs everything that the people of Atlanta can give. It wouldn't seem right to give the party when everything we have is so badly needed by the Red Cross."

Mrs. McRae will give to the Red Cross the money that the Christmas party would have cost. She is director of Volunteer Service for the American Red Cross in Atlanta.

... THE Junior League not only had had a preview premiere and a regular showing of its Silver Jubilee Follies, but last night two "post-views" were given—one at Base Hospital 48 for men who were wounded in the last war, and another at the Recreation Center at Fort McPherson for the selectees stationed there. The performance at Base Hospital was given at 6 o'clock, and as soon as the show was over, without ever stopping to take a breath, members of the cast and others assisting with the show got their properties, etc., together and rushed out to Fort McPherson for an 8 o'clock performance. The two assignments couldn't have been in two more remote sections of Atlanta, for one was in the extreme northern part of the city and the other in the extreme southwest section.

Ruth (Mrs. Howard Jr.) Candler, who was production chairman for the Jubilee Follies, and did a magnificent job staging the anniversary event, had settled down Monday for a well-deserved rest from the six weeks of strenuous work incident to the presentation last week, when the two calls from Base Hospital and Fort McPherson urgently requesting that the show be given came almost simultaneously. Without a moment's hesitation, she began to assemble the cast and made preparations for the presentations for last night. Alfred Burke, who directed the Follies, agreed to stay over to direct the two "post-views."

The Follies were presented on December 1 for the convalescents at Lawson General hospital and 25 of the selectees from Fort McPherson were guests of the Junior League at the closing performance Saturday.

Miss Reeves Wed To Arthur Edge At Noon Service

THOMASTON, Ga., Dec. 11.—Cordial and widespread interest centers in the announcement made by Mrs. Dixon Howard Reeves, of Thomaston, of the marriage of her daughter, Miss Margaret Elizabeth Reeves, to Arthur Brannon Edge. The ceremony took place at noon Wednesday, December 10, at the Druid Hills Presbyterian church, Atlanta. The service was read by Rev. William M. Elliott in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends.

The bride was modestly attired in a costume suit of aqua wool trimmed with a lynx collar and worn with British tan accessories and a shoulder spray of bronze orchids.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Reeves, the former Miss Nettie Smith, and the late Mr. Reeves, of Thomaston. Her only brother is Dixon Howard Reeves, of Atlanta.

Mrs. Edge received her early education at Robert E. Lee Institute, Thomaston. She later attended Wesleyan College, of Duke University and has travelled extensively both here and abroad.

Johnny Mize Traded to Giants

BY JACK TROY

Spared By Nippon Somehow it doesn't seem so important now. That is, those life-and-death struggles between the old rivals in football. (Georgia alumni thought differently, however, in making up a neat financial gift for Coach Wallace Butts.)

Scarcely more than a month ago a whole nation was rooting for Dem Bums of Brooklyn to win a world championship in baseball. But that doesn't seem so important now, does it?

A lot of things that normally excite the interest of sports lovers now seem relatively unimportant. And for a while, I suppose, when uncertainty as to conditions causes grave concern, there will be small attention paid to other matters.

Time changes a lot of things and eventually Americans will resume the American way of life, and it is to be hoped that the resolve of a certain congressman to probe American boxing conditions is then carried through.

This country should enter into a great new era of boxing after the present madness ends. Out of the far-flung Army camps will come a wonderful group of fighting men. But a precious lot of good that will do if present conditions in the fight game persist.

I speak of a wholly unjust and thoroughly unpopular monopoly exercised by one Mike Jacobs, New York City.

On the eve of war's outbreak a congressional investigation into the monopoly held by Mike Jacobs was promised. But Jap treachery spoiled it all. There will be no investigation now. Many a fighter has been saved by the bell; Jacobs temporarily has been spared by Nippon. But it can't last forever.

Triner Speaks Out I have just read an article by Joseph Triner, a former president of the National Boxing Association. It is an article dealing with the boxing stranglehold which Jacobs has had almost since the death of that great promoter, Tex Rickard.

Triner's article has a pertinent heading, as follows: "Manhattan's boxing monopoly, more than the draft, is killing the sport for the glove-hungry patrons of the hinterlands."

Pointing out that boxing is on the ropes, Triner declares for the edification of Esquire readers that "the game today has two serious weaknesses. One is the dearth of boxing material. That will not be a lasting defect. In Army camps, at naval stations and on battlefields, fine instruction by experienced and conscientious men is developing a potentially great corps of boxers among physically and mentally superior specimens of American youth."

"But the other grave peril in American boxing may destroy the game as a leading professional sport before the boys get out of the service to furnish more extensive expert competition."

"That peril is the Mike Jacobs monopoly in big-time boxing."

"This monopoly will kill major boxing just as certainly as professional baseball, football, golf and tennis would not be able to survive if the vast majority of their most attractive contests were held in New York City for entirely financial reasons."

Jacobs not only is sole judge of time, place and principals—he controls the contracts of all leading fighters, or else they don't fight—but he tells boxing commissions where to head in. Fancy that.

That congressional investigation is coming when more

Crackers Play Dixie Aces at Arena Sunday

Atlanta Police Crackers will launch their home season Sunday afternoon against the powerful Dixie Aces, of Chattanooga, and are hoped to lose their first start before home fans at Warren Arena.

The Aces have won the Southern Textile court championship for the past two years and will bring a powerful squad here, stronger even than the one which shellacked the Jewish Progressive Club on its home court last season.

The "Noogans, led by their playing coach, Harry Anderson, a former All-American, possesses considerable height and bulk. Anderson stands six feet four and his other forwards are Bill Cordell, six feet one, and Lee Lawing, six feet two.

Center Fred Ballard, at six feet three, is rated a whiz. Fred Shirley, six foot four-inch giant, is another good center. Crack guards are available in Charles Cox and Charles Tolbert, both six feet or better, and Grayson Davis, the team's midget, who stands only six feet nine.

Shep Lauter, Police Cracker coach, hopes his boys can make a creditable showing. He will have Happy Ginsberg, Charlie Womack, Lester Garrison, Gabby Greenberg, Tom McKeon and Slim Mitchell to toss at the invaders, in addition to Whack Hyder, former Georgia Tech luminary who has just joined the squad.

Richardson High Names Grid Slate

Cardinals Get Catcher O'Dea And Lohrman

$25,000 Fund Set Up for Army, Navy Athletics.

BY JUDSON BAILEY.

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals tonight traded First Baseman Johnny Mize to the New York Giants for Catcher Ken O'Dea, Pitcher Bill Lohrman and an undisclosed sum of cash.

Mize, a 6-foot-2-inch slugger, had been with the Cardinals since 1936, when he came to the majors from the St. Louis club's Rochester farm in the International League. He has hit better than .300 in every season with the Cardinals.

Lohrman, a member of the Giants' pitching staff for the last five years, won nine games and lost 10 for New York last season. He is a right-hander. O'Dea participated in only 59 games for the Giants in 1941 and batted .213.

The deal came after baseball made a preliminary gesture of help to the armed forces today and then disbanded the winter meetings with only a handful of trades still hanging fire.

In the joint session of the two major leagues a fund of $25,000 was set up to buy bats, balls and other equipment for Army and Navy teams and a decision made to raise, perhaps double, the price of tickets for next year's all-star game, from which all receipts will go to the "Bat and Ball" fund.

An attempt to increase the number of night games from seven to 14 in each park was voted down by Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis after the two leagues split on the issue.

An amendment proposed by the minor leagues to allow farm systems to advance players through the minors without incurring optional service restrictions was voted down and the present major-minor agreement extended for one year intact.

The possibility of Brooklyn selling First Baseman Dolph Camilli to the New York Yankees cooled off, meanwhile. President Larry MacPhail, of the Dodgers, said he had had a better offer from within the National League than he had received from the Yankees. President Ed Barrow, of the world champions, said he had made MacPhail an offer, but wasn't going to bid in any auction for the National League's most valuable player and probably would make no other offer.

The top bidder in the National League was believed to be the Boston Braves.

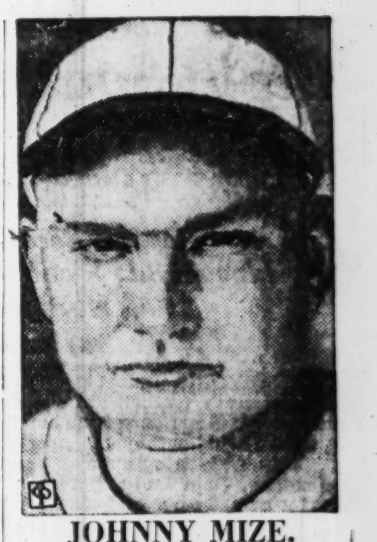

A three-cornered swap between the Washington Senators, Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox flustered out the window as the meetings broke up. The deal was believed to involve six or more players and to have been stymied by the Tigers.

The only deals announced during the day saw Washington sell Pitcher Vernon Kennedy to Cleveland and the New York Giants send Second Baseman Burgess Whitehead to Toronto.

Billiard Champion Wins Match, 125-56

Willie Mosconi, 1940-41 pocket billiard champion of the world, bounced balls over the green felt with extraordinary control yesterday at the Big Town Recreation Hall and downed local expert Jimmy Kinnard, 125 to 56.

The cue king demonstrated his skill by an exhibition of trick shots after the match.

Conner Sees Use of Frosh Due to War

SEC Coaches Expected To O. K. Freshmen for Varsity Play.

BY ROMNEY WHEELER.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 11.—(AP) Athletic Commissioner Mike Conner, of the Southeastern Conference, said tonight he expected a majority of coaches in the 12-member federation to ask varsity eligibility for freshmen athletes.

In the 10th annual meeting of the conference, Conner said war developments made it likely that the draft and voluntary enlistments would cut heavily into college football squads.

"Right now," he said, "college athletics are about as uncertain as anything you can think of. But certainly it looks as though we may be needing freshman athletes by next fall."

He said, however, no affirmative action would be taken at the two-day meeting opening tomorrow, since amendments to the by-laws must be offered in writing at least three weeks prior to a meeting. The question likely will be considered at a special meeting, tentatively proposed for next March.

President G. D. Humphrey, of Mississippi State College, immediate past president of the conference, said the conference probably would convene again in three months to consider freshman eligibility and a proposal for rotating football schedules.

Conner's recommendations to the conference tomorrow will include several constitutional amendments intended to exert greater check on "snatchings" of freshmen athletes.

Presidents of the member schools are to meet at breakfast with President Herman Lee Donovan, of Kentucky, while coaches and athletic directors have arranged an informal session with Conner. The first conference meeting will be held at 1:30 p. m. The two-day session concludes with election of officers Saturday morning.

By precedent, President Rufus C. Harris, of Tulane, is expected to succeed Dr. R. C. Foster, of Alabama, as conference president.

Sinkwich Makes Associated Press All-America With Dudley

Eight Southern Players Listed on Squad of 33

Lach and Rast on Second Team; Nelson and Jenkins on 3d; Webb and Sanders, of Tech, on Honorable Mention.

By HERB BARKER.
Associated Press Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(AP)—For the second successive year, the middle west's football strongholds gain plurality control of the 17th annual All-America team, chosen today by the Associated Press after a nation-wide survey of expert opinion.

This wide geographical sector, where Minnesota, Notre Dame, Michigan, Ohio State, Northwestern and Missouri were conspicuous performers, furnishes four men to the All-America and nine players all told to the full All-America squad of 33.

Trailing the midlands are the south with eight men on the full squad; the far west with six, and the east and southwest with five each.

Minnesota's Gophers, mythical national champions for the second year in a row, place two great competitors on the first team—Captain Bruce Smith, brilliant back, and Captain-elect Dick Wildung, powerful tackle.

The far west offers two "repeaters" from the 1940 team in Frankie Albert, Stanford's canny quarterback, and Bob Reinhard, versatile tackle of the University of California.

Founding out the All-America backfield along with Smith and Albert are two spectacular southern stars, Frank Sinkwich of the University of Georgia, and Bill Dudley of the University of Virginia.

Sinkwich, Wildung and Schreiner are juniors; all the others, seniors. Last year nine seniors and two juniors—Albert and Reinhard—were named.

THREE FIRST-TIMERS. Virginia, Missouri, Texas and Wisconsin never previously have been represented since the Associated Press began selecting All-America teams after the death of Walter Camp. Harvard and Georgia both return to the All-America list for the first time since 1931 when Barry Wood was the Harvard standard-bearer and Vernon (Catfish) Smith was Georgia's representative.

Selection of Dudley breaks precedent in several ways. Only 19, the Virginia triple-threat is the youngest back ever selected by the Associated Press and no younger player ever has been chosen for any position on the team. Gaynell Tinsley, Louisiana State's end, was 19 when selected for the 1935 team. So was Jose Martinez-Zorrilla, Cornell end, when chosen in 1932.

Few players caught the imagination as did Sinkwich, main-spring of an offense that carried Georgia through a fine season and gained for the southern Bulldogs an assignment to the Orange Bowl New Year's Day against Texas Christian.

Sinkwich suffered a fractured jaw in the game with South Carolina, second on the Georgia schedule, and played the rest of the season with a special harness designed to protect the injury. If this handicapped him on the playing field, it wasn't discernible to the naked eye.

STANDOUT EVERY WEEK. Before the curtain closed down on Georgia's regular season, Sinkwich gained approximately 1,100 yards rushing; another 700 yards passing; scored seven touchdowns himself, passed for 10 more, and booted a field goal. His passing record, impressive as it was, probably would have been much better had his receivers been more effective. The loss of one of his chief targets, End George Poschner, because of a broken arm in midseason, hurt.

Chosen unanimously for the All-Southeastern team, Sinkwich was a standout week after week. He never had an off-day. Even in the losing game with Alabama—Georgia's only defeat—Sinkwich outgained the entire Alabama team. What this Youngstown, Ohio, ace might have accomplished behind a really first-class line is an interesting subject for speculation.

In addition to his running and passing skill, Sinkwich averaged 40 yards kicking, although he seldom was called on for this assignment. He handled regularly by Georgia's blocking back, Cliff Kimsey, Sinkwich's coach, Wally Butts, called him one of the team's best blockers and a truly fine defensive back as well.

Dudley, playing with a school that has no conference affiliations, might well have been overlooked except that his record, in cold figures, is nothing short of amazing. The nation's leading scorer with 134 points in nine games, Dudley piled up the stupendous total of 2,467 yards in rushing, passing,

Coaches Vote Sanders 'Tops' In SEC Season

Shades Butts for Annual Nashville Banner Award.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Coach Henry R. "Red" Sanders, of Vanderbilt, was the South-eastern Conference's outstanding mentor of the season—so say his fellow coaches.

Sanders was announced today as the winner of the Nashville Banner's sixth annual award for the best coaching performance of the year, based on a poll of coaches in the conference.

The youthful Sanders, whose Commodores won eight of 10 games after being doped to land near the bottom of the conference standings, led Wally Butts, of Georgia; John Barnhill, of Tennessee; and Allyn McKeen, of Mississippi State in fourth place balloting for the first four places.

Harry Mehre, of Mississippi;

Bernie Moore, of L. S. U., and Jack Meagher, of Auburn, also received mention in the poll. On a first, second and third-place basis, Sanders received five first-place ballots, one second and two third to total 61 points. Butts had 55 points, Barnhill 43, and McKeen 35.

Tech-California Grid Game at Berkeley December 27 Canceled

VANDY CAGER DRAFTED.
NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Tony Corcoran, former all-city basketball player, will not play this fall for the Vanderbilt hardwood team. He has been called to the Army.

Mac Peebles, Vandy griddier, reported for cage drills yesterday. Other basketball players, but not key men, are expected to enter military service after Christmas.

Both Schools Agree on Step As War Breaks

Nine Jacket Seniors Expect To Enter Military Service Soon.

By THAD HOLT.
Georgia Tech's colorful but unsteady football series with California, which has experienced interruptions even in peace time, yesterday became a victim of the World War, with announcement from Berkeley, where this year's contest was scheduled for December 27, that the game had been called off.

Kenneth Priestly, graduate manager of California, made the announcement following a long distance telephone call from Professor A. H. Armstrong, faculty representative of Georgia Tech. Officials of both schools were said to have reached a speedy agreement on cancellation of the game because of the war's outbreak in this country.

Coach W. A. Alexander and Professor Armstrong were out of the city last night. They will attend the Southeastern Conference meeting at Lexington, Ky., today.

A Georgia Tech spokesman, however, disclosed that Tech favored calling off the game because nine senior players expected to be in the military service of their country almost immediately and desired to spend Christmas with their families.

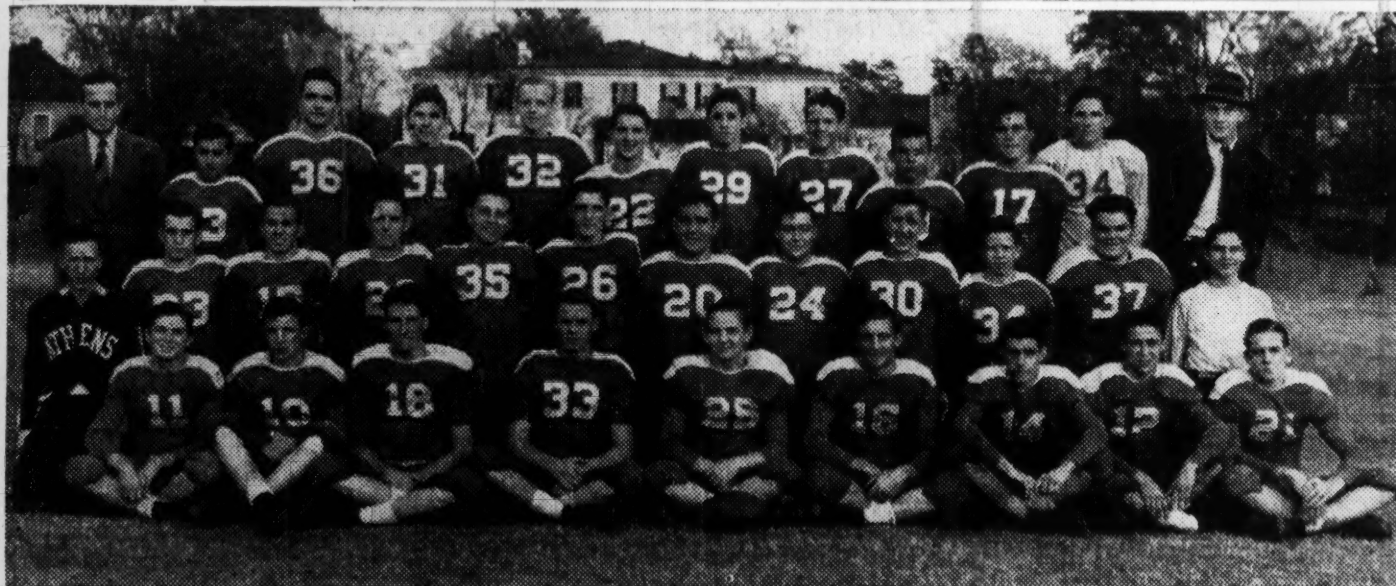

The powerful threat of a Japanese attack and intense military preparations on the west coast also prompted the move. Tech officials had no guarantee that they would be able to obtain transportation for their party to California and had been informed by the railroads that supporters who wished to go in a large body could not be accommodated.

Charlie Sanders and Jim Wright, captain and co-captain of the Tech eleven, will be among those Jackets who enter naval service as commissioned officers in the near future. This is true, also, of Harry Arthur, stellar end; Wex Jordan, Elmer Dyke, Slim Sutton and Charlie Burroughs, stalwart linemen all.

Johnny Bosch will go into the Army Air Corps. George Webb will probably enter naval service, for which he has been trained. The big flankman is color-blind, but the Navy doubtless will find a place for him. Preston West, sophomore tackle, will join the Navy immediately.

Tech and California inaugurated this late-season series following Tech's 8-7 victory over the Golden Bears in the Rose Bowl on January 1, 1939.

Six games have been played and two have been called off, once because Tech accepted the Orange Bowl bid and another time when California was selected for the Rose Bowl.

He was virtually the entire Virginia offense. He picked up 957 yards rushing in 157 tries and completed 58 of 107 passes for 857 yards, and picked up more than 500 yards on returns of kicks. He did virtually all of Virginia's kicking and averaged 36 yards for the season.

Comparatively small, Dudley was an iron-man all the way. He played 50 or more minutes in every game, a total for the season of 500 out of a possible 540 minutes. He has been injured only once in three years of varsity competition, leaving the Washington & Lee game this year for about ten minutes for treatment of a lacerated nose.

He closed his college career in sensational fashion against North Carolina, scoring three touchdowns, passing for another and kicking four extra points. He carried the ball 19 times against the Tar Heels and gained 204 yards; completed six of 11 passes for 118 yards. His longest touchdown run was an 89 yard punt return against Lafayette, but he broke loose for 79 and 67 yards against North Carolina.

Captain of the team, Dudley also was a star on defense and a good blocker. He also rates as a fine pass-receiver although he seldom was used in that role this season because he was Virginia's lone effective passer.

ALBERT IMPROVED
Albert is named to the team once more despite the fact that Stanford's record this season is mediocre compared with that of the unbeaten 1941 array which defeated Nebraska in the Rose Bowl last New Year's Day.

There was no slackening in Albert's play. In fact most critics agreed he was an even greater back this year than last when he had better all-around support. Ranked the greatest quarterback in Stanford history and one of the smartest who ever has played in the Far West, Albert polled 44 out of a possible 46 votes for the All-Pacific team and led all other candidates for any position on that all-star array.

Selection of the All-America backfield never is easy and this year was no exception. Competition for Dudley Smith, Albert and Sinkwich came particularly from Jack Crain of Texas, Steve Lach of Duke, Derace Moser of Texas A. and M., and Bob Westfall of Michigan, who make up the second team backfield; and from the third team combination of Bill Sewell of Washington State, Jimmy Nelson of Alabama, Jack Jenkins of Vanderbilt, and Steve Filipowicz of Fordham.

pressing matters subside, and it will provide quite a commentary on the American way of life.

Good Old Days I thought about boxing, in the first place, upon recalling a recent visit with Edward P. Corley, the former Fearless Ferns of Atlanta boxing fame. Ferns achieved an even brighter rep after leaving here when he campaigned through the east and middle west.

Ferns, for a dozen years now on the Jacksonville, Fla., police force, was a crowd-pleaser in his day. He fought Young Stribling and beat him. Another time they fought to a draw. Some of the other deserving boys he met were Battling Budd, Red Herring, Jack Lawler, Larry Avera and Battling Kelly.

They had fights back in those days . . . just a few short years after the Armistice.

If anybody is interested in Atlanta boxing it is necessary to go back to the good old days . . . days of Jake Abel, Young Stribling, Fearless Ferns, Ted Goodrich, etc.

Atlanta was a great boxing town then. Still is. There aren't any good local fighters any more. Poor promotion hurt the town, but the interest is still here. That was easy to see when Ben Brown pulled a 10-grand house for his first fight with Teddy Yarosz at Mr. Earl Mann's ball park.

Brown faded . . . and so did the fight game locally. But it readily would come back under the right conditions. Nationally the game is going to boom again when Mike Jacobs is removed as a dictator.

And let's hope it happens before that great new army of hopefuls comes upon the scene in a few short years.

Richly Deserved Joe Louis' selection by acclamation for the Eddie Neil trophy is a well-deserved honor. Louis has been a creditable fighting champion and a fine example for his race.

DOWN THE ALLEYS

Fifty-four bowlers have signed up for the "blind pig" tournament to be held Saturday night at 7:30 at the downtown alleys. Among the latest entries are J. L. Maffett, James Brooks, H. W. Belcher, Frances Labowsky, J. P. Belcher, Frances Leathers, John Ruff, D. Ferro, Roy Dobbins, L. R. Polk, H. Murphy, Guy Reid, Jimmy Dugree, Bill Beaupre, J. H. Dillard, Ross Towns, Bailey Ruby Towns, Steve Bryan, Ben Goodwin, Bob and Bill French, Johnnie Hall, Lewis Quinn, Era Hattaway, Estelle Warrington, Reba Painter, R. Cloud, S. Garner, Evelyn Traber, Tommie Carter and others.

All the bowlers expect to draw good partners after the third game has been bowled, and the idea of allowing each bowler his or her individual handicap in the combined scores on which the prizes are to be awarded has met with unanimous approval with all the bowlers, both men and women. Entry lists will be held open until bowling begins.

Frost-Cotton team of the Ladies' Commercial League climaxed a long, uphill battle Wednesday night by climbing into the league leadership. They did it the hard way, by conquering the leaders, Wilson Shirt, in three straight games, with the excellent scores of 534, 512 and 512.

All the members of the team bowled well. Jewell Jones had 328; Miss Cloud had 302; Ruth Jones had 298; Martha Cleveland had an even 300 and Johnnie Carter had a big set of 330, which included games of 117, 121 and 92. For the losing Wilson Shirt team, Virginia Harkey had a nice set of 317.

In the same league, Georgia Power Company and Belle Isle Garage teams have featured the last few weeks' bowling by climbing from eighth and ninth places in third and fourth in the current standings. Both teams won three games this week and now are in a position to challenge the leaders.

Katherine Moon featured Georgia Power's bowling this week with a fine set of 321, and Flossie Boland threw in a big game of 125 for Belle Isle. T. T. score was second only to the 128 by Jewell Jones.

Estelle Warrington maintains her average leadership with 107;

Morris Brown Rated on Top For 2d Season

By ROMNEY WHEELER.

Associated Press Sports Writer.
If any Negro football team is to stop Morris Brown College, of Atlanta, this season, it will have to be the Langston University Lions, of Oklahoma, in Birmingham's "Vulcan Bowl" game January 1.

Morris Brown, claimant of the 1940 Negro national grid championship, roared through the 1941 season with nine straight wins over regularly scheduled foes and wound up the campaign with a 7-6 victory over North Carolina College, of Durham, last weekend in a Peach Blossom postseason contest at Columbus, Ga.

Final standings under the Dickinson rating system, accepted by all four major conferences of Negro collegiate football, put Morris Brown at the top for a second successive year, with Florida A. & M., winner of the Orange Bowl classic last weekend, as runner-up. North Carolina College finished third and Langston fourth.

For the second straight year, the Negro national scoring crown was won by John (Big Train) Moody, Morris Brown fullback, from Freeport, Pa. He piled up 91 points, finishing just three points ahead of Albert Gant, Florida A. & M. sophomore from Gainesville, Fla., who was credited with 89.

Hogan's 64 Ties Mark In Miami Open Play

Ben Goes Six Under Par To Lead Laffoon Two Strokes as Tourney Opens.

By JOHN WILDS.

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Off with a bogey five, Ben Hogan, of Hershey, Pa., suddenly found his touch today and turned in one of the greatest golf scores of his brilliant career—a 6-under-par 64 that gave him a two-stroke lead over the record field playing the first round of the $10,000 Miami Open tournament.

He tied the Miami Springs course record held jointly by Wild Bill Mehltorn, Willie Klein and Sam Snead, but did it on a layout changed this year to make the going tougher for the professionals.

Making the turn in three-under-par, 32, the diminutive Hogan caught fire again on the 12th, when he laid a pitch within 18 inches of the pin and sank it for a birdie three. A five-footer dropped for him on the 13th for another birdie, and he ended the dazzling part of his performance with a fine 15-footer for a duck on the short 16th.

Second place in the field of 218—largest group ever to tee off in one day for the round of an open event—went to Ky. Flafloun, of Chicago, whose 66 appeared certain to set the pace until Hogan went into action.

Pressing Laffoon with 67's were Jim Ferrier, the former Australian amateur champion, playing out of Elmhurst, Ill., and Bill Henlein, of Noblesville, Ind. Ben Snead, Ben Loving, of Miami,

Five Golfers Hit East Lake's Bogey

Five players hit the winning number—71—yesterday afternoon in the mid-week blind bogey at East Lake. They were E. L. Wight, L. W. Hill, Dr. H. W. Ridley, W. W. Burns and J. L. Morris. W. C. Thompson Jr. had a score of 70 and Robert Ingram posted a 72.

and Paul Runyan, of White Plains, N. Y., brought up next with 68's. Leading the play-for-fun contingent with a sparkling 69 was a Dick Chapman, of Coral Gables, Fla., the former national amateur champion.

Darkness caught 14 players on the field and they will finish the first round early tomorrow. None, however, threatened the leaders. C. J. Gaddie, of Milford, Ohio, contributed a hole in one to the scoring spree, dropping an eight iron tee shot on the 125-yard 16th.

DRIVE WORKERS—Uniformed workers for the Atlanta Tuberculosis Association will take their places in booths situated all over the city next Tuesday for the annual sale of Christmas seals. Generous Atlantans will be asked to buy the seals to aid Atlanta and the nation in the fight on tuberculosis. Seated, left to right, are Mrs. Robert Ingram, Mrs. M. R. Hirsch, Mrs. H. K. Fulmer and Mrs. Zell Hancock. Standing, left to right, are Miss Elizabeth Center, Mrs. Karl Markert, Mrs. Ben Dasher and Mrs. Harry Bolman. The sale will continue through December 20.

Christmas Seal Sales To Begin Here Tuesday

Booths Will Be Opened at Many Downtown Locations.

Working forces of the Atlanta Tuberculosis Association will swing into action Tuesday with opening of booths throughout the city for sale of Christmas seals, which will continue through December 20.

Spurred on with the knowledge 2,000 beds are needed in Georgia for victims of tuberculosis, workers will take the field in an effort to make a personal appeal to the numerous Atlantans who did not receive seals in the mail.

An unlimited number of stamps are available, each bearing the double-barred cross, the symbol of the association. Seals are one cent each and this will be the 35th annual sale held in the United States. The project is an outgrowth of the first sale held in Denmark in 1904, inspired by a postal clerk, Einar Holboll. The first sale in the United States was conducted by Miss Emily P. Bissell in Wilmington, Del., in 1907.

Mrs. W. M. Graham, booth chairman for the drive and a member of the board of the local association, said yesterday Atlanta's tuberculosis death rate was the fourth highest in the large cities of the nation and was only exceeded by that of Washington, D. C., Baltimore and San Antonio. The Christmas seal has largely furnished the funds for the nation-wide program of education and treatment of tuberculosis. The sale from the booths this year will mark the first direct appeal to the public for funds. Headquarters

Apple Fruit Cake

This is a comparative newcomer among the family of cakes which are most popular at Christmas-time. But those who have put an apple in the box with the fruit cake and noted the moist fragrance it imparts will not be surprised to know that apples in this cake add much to its keeping qualities. This recipe makes a cake of about 12 pounds weight. A picture of this cake, decorated with nuts and pieces of candied fruits, is seen at right.

Apple Fruit Cake

- 5 cups sifted cake flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1-2 teaspoon mace
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon cloves
- 1 pound butter or shortening
- 1 pound brown sugar
- 10 eggs, well beaten
- 1-2 pound candied cherries
- 1-2 pound candied pineapple
- 1 pound dates, seeded and sliced
- 2 pounds raisins
- 1 pound currants
- 1-2 pound citron
- 1-2 pound orange and lemon peel
- 1-2 pound nut meats, chopped
- 3 cups chopped apples
- 1-2 cup cider

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, soda and spices and sift three times. Cream shortening, add sugar and cream until light. Add eggs, mix. Add cider and one-half of flour, then add remaining flour with fruits and nuts. Bake for about 4 1/2 hours in 250 degree oven.

In These Foods You'll Find Economy and Good Health

No meal is really economical unless it contains foods essential for health protection. Following are a variety of dishes which while being very economical are rich in food values.

Baked Beans With Sauce

Make the baked beans pictured below this way: serve it as the main dish, and with it serve baked potatoes. Add a green vegetable salad, a fruit dessert, and you have a balanced meal.

Baked Beans Rarebit

Use plain baked beans, either canned or home baked, and allow a generous portion for each person. Heat beans in a large casserole or baking platter. Make a depression in the middle of beans and fill depression with a rarebit sauce made as follows:

Rarebit Sauce

Melt 2 tablespoons margarine in top of double boiler, add 2 tablespoons flour and blend well. Gradually stir in 1 cup rich milk. Cook, stirring, until mixture thickens. Add 1/2 cup grated sharp cheese, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard and 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Heat until cheese is melted and mixture smooth.

Dinner-in-One

This dinner-in-one combines braised steak and vegetables. 4 tablespoons margarine 2 pound round steak cut 1-2 inch thick

With our country now at war, everyone is asking the same question, "What is there for me to do, how can I help?" It is important for women to realize how vital is their share of responsibility in this time of crisis. Women fight a nation's battles on the economic front; women are largely responsible for a nation's morale. Calm and intelligent buying without fear or panic, without waste or hoarding always is a main factor in economic stability. But now it will be as meritorious as naval and air engagements.

This country is blessed with an abundance of all essential foods, and no shortages even in wartime are expected by those best qualified to judge. Our problem as homemakers will be one of choice of foods for best health and nutrition, and the correct preparation of these foods to retain their maximum nutritive values.

A patriotic duty will be well served if we guard carefully the health of our families with well-planned meals, cooked with consideration of essential food elements. Wise homemaking, always vital to a nation's well-being, is raised by the exigencies of this time to a place of greatest significance.

- 1 teaspoon salt
- Flour
- 2 cups hot water
- 6 medium-sized potatoes
- 6 carrots
- 8 small onions

Wipe steak with damp cloth. Sprinkle with flour and pound. Brown on both sides in 1/2 margarine, in deep skillet or Dutch oven. Add water and cook slowly about two hours. Add vegetables and cook 30 or 40 minutes longer, or until vegetables are tender. Serve on platter, as shown in photograph, and garnish with parsley. Serves 6.

Try eggplant prepared in this simple way: Stuffed Eggplant 1 eggplant

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- Salt and pepper
- 1-2 cup water
- 2 cups bread crumbs

Cut eggplant in half lengthwise. Scoop out center pulp, leaving rind about 1-2 inch thick. Cover shells with cold water. Chop pulp fine and season with salt and pepper and cook in margarine about 10 minutes. Add water and 1 cup crumbs. Drain shells, sprinkle interior with salt and pepper and fill with pulp-breadcrumb mixture. Sprinkle remaining crumbs over top, dot with margarine and place in baking dish. Put hot water in bottom of baking dish to come about 1-3 up the sides of egg plant shells. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees about 30 minutes. Serve hot.

- Shrimp a la Spaghetti
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 tablespoon chopped celery
- 1 cup cooked or canned shrimp
- 1 teaspoon minced parsley
- 1-4 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 3 cups canned spaghetti in tomato sauce

Melt margarine in frying pan. Add celery, cooking until soft; add shrimp, drained. Add other ingredients, heat thoroughly and serve at once.

- 1 cup cream of celery soup

Mix all ingredients, except salmon. Drain salmon and flake and fold in. Pour into greased mold and bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, about 50 minutes. Serve with cream, egg or vegetable sauce.

An unusual salad, full of health, is this:

Sliced Cucumbers with Sour Cream Sauce

- 3 cups sliced cucumbers
- 1-2 teaspoon salt
- 2-3 cup thick sour cream
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 1-4 teaspoon minced onions or chives
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1-4 teaspoon paprika

Cover cucumbers with ice water and place in refrigerator for 30 minutes. Drain and cover with other ingredients which have been well mixed and thoroughly chilled. May be served as a salad on crisp greens, or as a vegetable, as desired.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

Edited by SALLY SAVER.

ATLANTA, GA., FRIDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 12, 1941.

Fondant Facts

Soon you'll be making candies for Christmas boxes, and since fondant is one of the basic candies here are pertinent facts concerning its making.

Bitter cold weather is the ideal time for making fondant. It should never be attempted on muggy, damp days; even windy days make it temperamental.

Other warnings are: Fondant should not be stirred after the sugar is melted. The sides of the kettle must be wiped with damp cheesecloth to remove any grains of sugar that adhere to it.

Fondant must be handled carefully when you take it off the fire and when you pour it. The final beating must be timed when fondant or fudge is just cool—not hot nor cold. Candy turns grainy when beaten while still hot.

Smooth results in fondant are aided by using cream of tartar, lemon juice, vinegar, or corn syrup.

Fondant should stand 24 hours before it is used for candies that are to be dipped in chocolate.

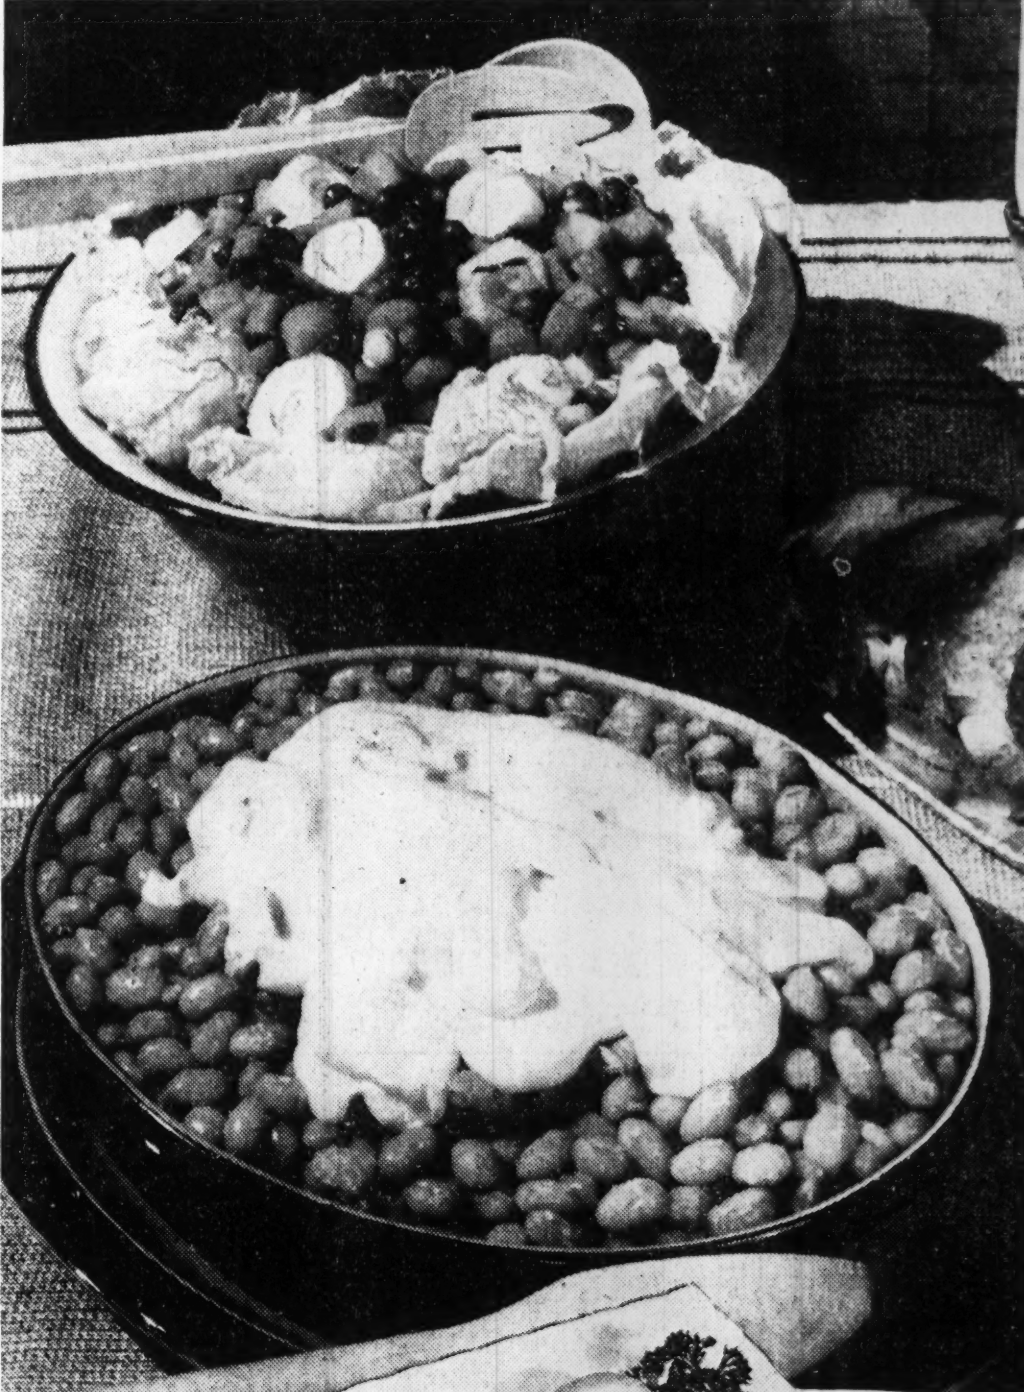

Cream Fondant

- 2 cups sugar
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 1 tablespoon light corn syrup
- 1-8 teaspoon salt

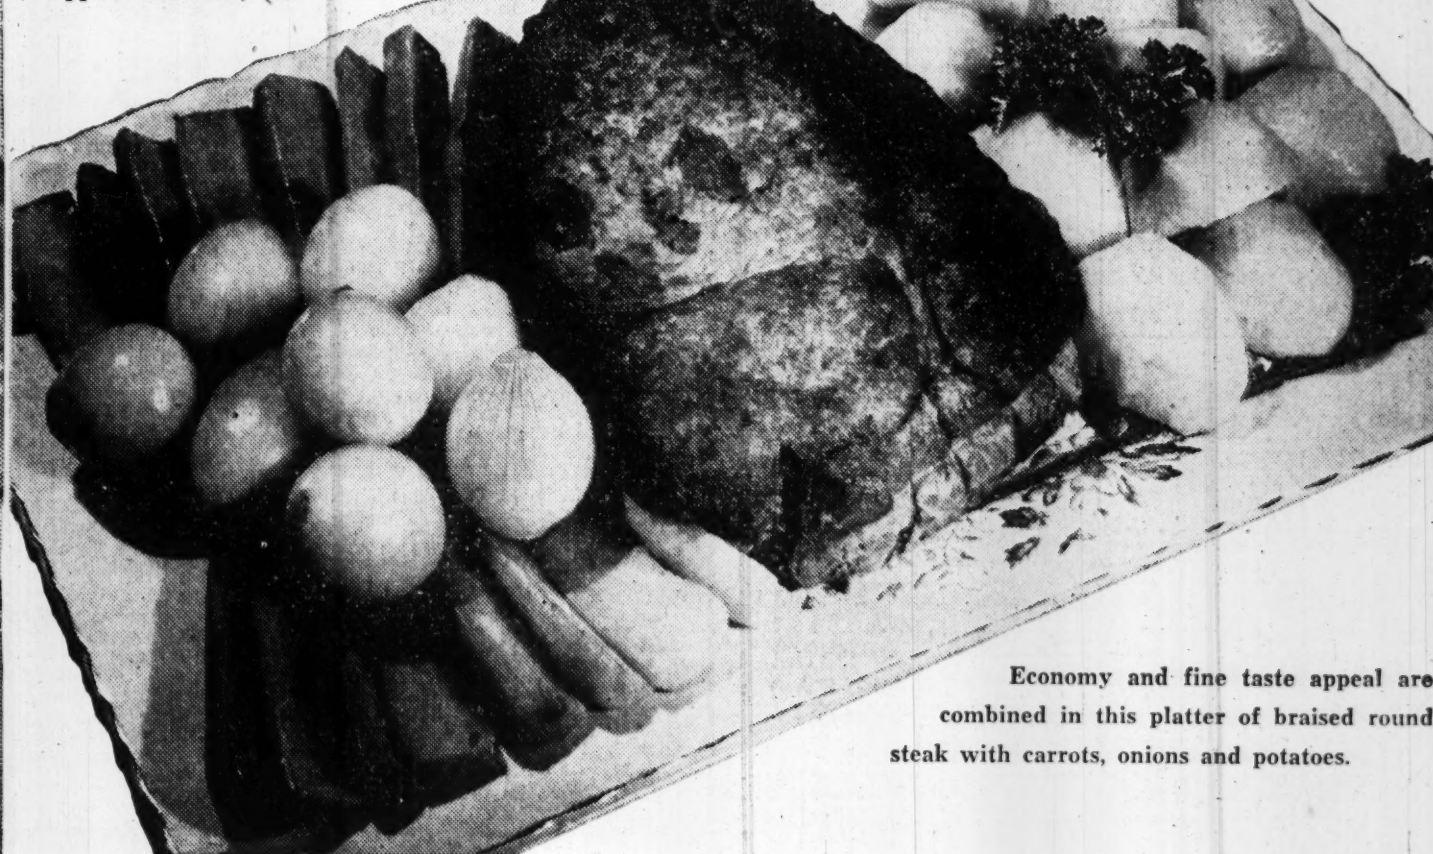

Place all ingredients in a pan and cook over a slow fire until the sugar is dissolved. Then continue cooking until it forms a soft ball when tried in cold water (234-240 degrees F.) Pour on a wet platter or marble slab, sprinkle with cool water to help it cool, but do not move platter while it is cooling. When lukewarm, begin working candy to the center of the platter, using a spatula with a forward and backward motion. When mass is creamy white, it can be taken up in the hands and kneaded. Place in a bowl to ripen for at least two days before using. This will keep for several weeks.

This may be varied with different flavorings and colorings; combined with nuts and fruits; with coconut, or chocolate coated. Use it plain or with nuts for stuffing dates and prunes. Roll in sugar, finely chopped nuts or coconut. May be flavored with a sliver of candied ginger.

Baked beans with rarebit sauce, raw salad make a balanced meal.

Economy and fine taste appeal are combined in this platter of braised round steak with carrots, onions and potatoes.

Walter Denies Claim Mozart Was German

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(NANA) Hitler's Propaganda Department went to some trouble recently to prove that Mozart was really a German and in that case it was all right for the citizens of the Reich to hear and enjoy the compositions of the great master. (Mozart was born in Austria in 1756.)

Recently, Bruno Walter, the greatest living batoneer of Mozart music, commemorated the 150th anniversary of the death of the composer with a performance of "Don Giovanni" at the New York Metropolitan Opera House.

Herr Walter was born a German—in Berlin. But unlike Mozart, the conductor can himself decide the country of his allegiance.

"I have just taken out my first American citizenship papers," Walter said in the apartment he shares with his wife and daughter. "We have all of us taken out American papers," he continues. This adds up to the third change of nationality for the 65-year-old conductor.

When Hitler's storm troopers marched into Austria with the Anschluss, Walter with his family found refuge in France. The third republic invited him to become an honorary French citizen. With France under the dominance of the Nazis the maestro joined the distinguished group of intellectuals seeking the permanent protection of the United States.

The conductor's deeply lined face is sensitive and sad. He prefers not to discuss the present politics of Europe, but recently when someone suggested that in view of Nazi brutality it might be advisable to avoid the works of Wagner and other German music makers, he replied:

"We are making war against the Nazis, not against the composers." He describes the current conflict as a fight between the forces of good and evil—"which makes it quite different to the 1914-18 and most previous wars."

Loathes 'Jazz'

Walter, the guiding spirit of the Salzburg festival in its pre-Hitler days, has a loathing of what he terms—"jazz music." "It's like looking at a Rembrandt through a distorted mirror." As for the current practice of syncretizing classical music, the conductor considers a great outrage has been perpetrated against lovers of beautiful sound.

The appreciation of good music is something you are born with, Walter believes. It cannot be acquired by the non-musical. "But," he says, "systematic subjection when young to fine compositions will increase appreciation—if it is already there."

The conductor, in the tradition of all great musicians, revealed his future metier at an early age. He started piano lessons when he was four. At nine, Walter made his musical debut—at a students' recital in Berlin. At this time he composed a duet for piano and violin for his father's birthday.

When Walter was 17 he mounted his first podium, directing a performance of Lortzing's opera "Der Waffenschmidt" in Cologne. While coaching the Hamburg opera, he met Gustav Mahler with whom he remained for three seasons. Since then Walter has conducted all over the world.

Cost of Living Up 1 Pct. in Month

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(AP)—The cost of living for wage earners in the United States increased one per cent in November, the National Industrial Conference Board, private research organization, reported today.

The board estimated that the level had increased 10.6 per cent since August, 1939, or since the outbreak of war, but remained eight per cent below November, 1929, and, in fact, was still lower than during the entire period from 1918 to December, 1930.

Rail Fire in Louisiana

Called Act of Sabotage

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 11.—(AP)—A fire which partially destroyed the Missouri Pacific Railroad bridge near Lott, La., about 25 miles west of here, was definitely an act of sabotage, Steve Alford, superintendent of state police, said this afternoon.

Alford said he had received a report that a deliberate attempt had been made to burn the bridge early this morning. An investigation is being conducted by state police.

Hungary Recalls Minister to U. S.

BERN, Switzerland, Dec. 11.—(AP)—The Budapest radio said tonight that the Hungarian premier had ordered their passports handed to United States diplomatic representatives in Hungary, at the same time recalling the Hungarian minister to Washington.

The radio quoted the Hungarian telegraphic agency as saying that these steps were taken in agreement with Germany, Italy and Japan under the three-power Axis pact in which Hungary is a protocol member.

Schley Forests Bring Big Income to County

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. ELLAVILLE, Ga., Dec. 11.—Forestry in Schley county is one of the largest sources of income with the exception of cotton and peanuts.

According to information released by the Alexander Lumber Company and by a local pulpwood representative, the combined profits from forests have amounted to $34,500 for 1941. These two enterprises have created a business within the county amounting to approximately $146,945.69.

J. D. Davis, county agent, stated that "to continue the yearly returns from the forests, it is necessary to plant seedlings, control fire and to use the proper thinning methods when cutting over a stand."

Thousands of acres in Schley county, practically bare now, could be well covered in timber if proper planting and care were given them, it is stated.

Ward Tells Polly He Won't Fight for Joy

SYNOPSIS. Polly McMurray is a raven-haired, bronzed girl of the wide open spaces. She is a senior at Frontier University, a college for girls near the McMurray ranch. Dr. Kenyon Thomas Palmer has just been named president of Frontier and when he arrives at the school he brings along his son, Ken, tall, handsome and in his early twenties but very bashful. Polly and her brother Ward take Ken under their wings and are trying to acquaint him with western ways. Ken has been granted special permission to become the only male student at Frontier. Joy Kathryn Boone, wealthy glamour girl and orphan from Bar Harbor, New York and points east has decided to transfer to Frontier. She makes a dramatic forced landing in her private plane on the McMurray ranch after her secretary, Bettina Carlson, bails out and floats down safely during a desert storm. Doctor Palmer takes an immediate interest in Miss Carlson and is anxious to make Joy happy at Frontier. Polly, Ward and their father, Bill McMurray, ranchman and trustee of the university, are co-operating with Doctor Palmer in making Joy content for the good of the school, but Polly feels pangs of jealousy when Joy demonstrates unusual interest in Ken. A climax is reached when Joy tells Polly that she loves Ken and is thinking of marrying him.

INSTALLMENT XXIV. "No! That's ridiculous, Ward." "The hell it is! Excuse me, I mean—why is it?" He spoke vehemently. "Are you my little sister or aren't you? My business is to look after what's mine. If anything got to upsetting my herd of fine horses, do you think I'd just twiddle my thumbs about it? Now I can tell Ken that—"

"You'll do nothing of the sort. Only a moment ago you yourself said that we must keep our mouths shut. That ranch folks can take it!"

"All right. We can take it, then. Unless—do you wish me to help you get Joy? Do you? It isn't like you to sit down and do nothing when there's something you want!"

He grimaced at her, in mild exasperation. "Nuts to that, Sis! If you're sold on Ken—"

"It works both ways, Ward."

He shut up then. For another mile. Each was thinking glumly, staring through the windshield at cactus and palo verde and greasewood bathed in the car lights. They saw the odd little kangaroo night rats jumping beside the road. Once an owl glared at them, and a gorgeously marked skunk ambled off, leaving no scent. But the two youths were unresponsive to nature's outdoor lures tonight.

"It's all right to go after the man you want, Sis," Ward said, after an interval of silence. "Girls are supposed to, uh, to compete with one another in their romancing and all. All you got to do is keep it clean, see? I read once where—"

"No. You won't fight for Joy." "That's different, confound it! Can't you see how it is? I admit I fell for Joy, but if I elbowed in with fists doubled I'd just mess up the works. I'm a roughneck cowpuncher and she's a diamond on blue velvet! What's the pot-teen? Sis, I'm not one to—cheapen it! Know what I mean? She's beautiful! Didn't you see her tonight? Haven't you seen the wonder in her eyes? Seen the way she moves, and talks; and thinks, too, so help me! That's what I like about her. Joy's not just a shapely little heifer with good promise for calving time. She's show stock! Right on through the sweepstakes. A man'd nigh about work himself crazy just doing for a girl like her. She—"

"Why—War-r-r-d!" Polly was impressed. She had never heard her brother talk so. There was no levity in his speech, for all its picturesque quality. Something had impelled the young man to open up his heart.

"That's a fact, Polly, he would. Now you say I won't fight for Joy. No, I won't. The situation is different, see? She has already committed herself, in private and openly. She's gone on Ken Palmer. Ken is counted a friend of mine; he figures I'm on his side since he came to Arizona, and, by George, that's not to be treated lightly! Most important thing though—Joy has made her pick already. She wants him. Okay, she oughta have him. I wouldn't butt in! I—well, I want her to be happy, that's all. She figures her happiness means getting Ken. Okay, then, I must help her get him if I can."

Polly looked at him a long moment, with a new greater admiration.

"You'd do that!" she breathed. "It's the real thing! Oh, Wardy!"

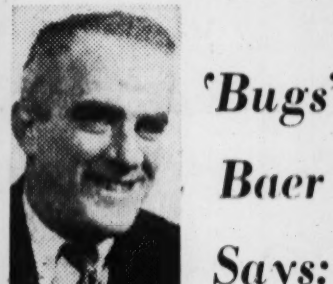

"She wanted to cry for some time how his speech had touched her more than she had imagined a brother could. Normally, her reactions to Ward would have been amusement; teasing and devilment and careless repartee. Now, though, he had stimulated her in a strange new way. She felt older, more mature than he, despite his five-year advantage."

Suddenly she squeezed his hand. "I know how you feel!" she whispered, impressively. "It's the same way with me. But—listen, don't let it get you! I know you, Ward. You'll mumble and think about it, and then you'll blow up and go into action of some kind. So listen to me—you do nothing for a while. You are a darling, and you are expert at handling Hereford cattle and prize stallions and all that. But you let your sis do the heart thinking! You hear? You hear me? Promise!"

His handsome young face was set. Jaw firm. Lips tight. He glared straight ahead. The ranch house was picked up in the car light now.

"What'll you do?" he demanded. She continued to whisper as if she might be overheard.

"I don't know—yet. Nothing tonight. Nothing when they come in. It's a good idea never to do your deciding when you are tired."

'Bugs' Baer Says:

When Rear Admiral Rossiter was surgeon-general of the Navy some years ago, he told me: "Bugs, the Japanese have the suicidal complex. When they get bogged down in China, they will declare war on the United States."

Rossiter has proved to be as correct as an eye in a needle. He certainly hit the nail on the big toe.

The suicidal complex reasons thusly, "If you're getting whipped by one man, you might as well get walloped by two."

And that's the way it's happened as sure as yards make miles. Here is a little information that I've known some time. War didn't start with the bombing of Hawaii. It started with the bombing of the Fanny and the sarcastic apologies and smiling sneers. It started when the first American sailor died.

Tomorrow is another—oh yes, dad says he wants all of us to go on a deer hunt. Joy included. He told you?"

Ward nodded. "That sounds good."

"Yes. I'll think up a plan, Ward. If you're up first in the morning, tell Pancho to saddle his horse. I'll want to ride."

"Okay."

"Remember—no talk tonight. Ken hasn't brought Joy back out yet anyway, so you just go on to bed."

From the time he had picked up his date at the Paradise Ranch this evening, big Ken Palmer had been a young man technically sitting on pins.

He had never been to a dance before, save to peek in.

He had never before attended any sort of masquerade.

3-Ring Time Bows Tonight Over WAGA

Laughton and Berle Prepare for Fun Making Tonight at 8:30.

Having in past encounters easily outmaneuvered the ribald heckling of Jack Barrymore and the splintery snipings of Charlie McCarthy, Charles Laughton is feeling quite confident about his forthcoming jousts with Comedian Milton Berle beginning tonight, when Three-Ring Time makes its debut on the NBC-Blue network and WAGA at 8:30 o'clock.

Laughton believes that a man of his own stature, who has so superbly played Henry VIII and Captain Bligh of "Mutiny on the Bounty" notoriety, should have a craniometrical pushover in Berle, who made his early reputation chiefly by pilfering gags and listening to his mania-manager.

An imperious lift of the haughty Laughton eyebrow, a transfixing sneer such as only Laughton can sneer; or at best, a guttural grunt should be sufficient, Charles believes, to halt any proleusmatic innuendoes from the bellicose Berle.

All the septisyllabic language simply means that when Laughton and Berle collide weekly on Three-Ring Time no holds will be barred. Suitable music will be supplied by Bob Crosby and his orchestra and lovely Shirley Ross, the vocalist.

Robert Young Paired Today With Shirley

'Mr. Ideal,' Comedy, Is Play on 'Temple Time' at 10 P. M.

Robert Young, one of Hollywood's most popular comedy stars, is the guest of Shirley Temple on her CBS series, "Shirley Temple Time," over WGST tonight at 10 o'clock.

The child actress--now 12--is paired with Robert Young in a radio comedy written by Harry Kronman and entitled "Mr. Ideal." It's a memory-tickling tale of an adolescent daughter and her first love--when she gets a crush on the laundry man.

Variety is brought to the program through the music of Billy Airtz's orchestra and the Mellowsaires, previously known as the Quintones.

Maynor Soloist On Concert Hour

The great Negro soprano, Dorothy Maynor, will be the guest soloist with the Philadelphia Orchestra, directed by Eugene Ormandy, when this distinguished musical organization broadcasts exclusively over the Mutual network and WATL today at 2:30 o'clock.

The program is aired direct from the Philadelphia Academy of Music, shortwaved via WRUL, Boston.

Dorothy Maynor has selected arias by Mozart, Handel and Beethoven for her part in the proceedings.

The program: Handel-Ormandy: Andante (Sonata da Camera No. 9, Opus 1).

Mozart: Pamina's Aria, "Ach ich fühl's," from "Magic Flute."

Handel: "Vadroe pupille," from "Julius Caesar," (Dorothy Maynor).

Bonnet: White Nights. (Intermission).

Beethoven: "Abscheulicher, we, elst du hint" from "Fidelio," (Dorothy Maynor).

Sibelius: Symphony No. 2 in D Major.

WIP, Philadelphia, feeds the concert to Mutual.

Black's Music Satire

To Feature Concert

"Good Morning, Mr. Kreutzer," an original composition by Dr. Frank Black satirizing the famous "Kreutzer Sonata," will be presented on the Friday concert program tonight, Dr. Black conducting.

Lucille Manners, soprano, and Ross Graham, baritone, are featured soloists on the program, heard over WSB at 8 o'clock.

Miss Manners will be heard in Strauss' "Tales From the Vienna Woods" and "Indian Love Call," from Fritz's "Rose Marie." Graham's solo will be "Little Boy Blue," by Nevin. In addition to his own composition, Dr. Black will direct the orchestra in "Maiden" by Irving Berlin and "Cloe," by Moret.

Manufacturers To View OPM Defense Train

LeCraw and Commissioners Scheduled To Inspect Special Today.

Georgia manufacturers, large and small, eager to do their bit to defeat the unholy alliance of Hirohito, Hitler and Mussolini, will receive visual guidance in how they can help in a big way—and incidentally make money for themselves and the south—when they go through Uncle Sam's Defense Special Train, which rolled into the Atlanta Terminal station early this morning.

The train will be welcomed to Atlanta by Mayor LeCraw and Fulton county commissioners, who will inspect the train beginning at 8:40 o'clock this morning.

After that, the special will be open only to 800 north Georgia manufacturers to whom tickets have been sent.

The manufacturers will go through the train in half-hour shifts. At 5 o'clock this afternoon the exhibits will close and the train will move on to Macon, where south Georgia manufacturers will see it tomorrow.

The manufacturers will be shown by OPM experts every phase of production, while industrial engineers will be ready and anxious to work out with them any problems they may face, according to W. C. Cram Jr., district manager of the Contract Distribution Division of OPM, sponsor of the train.

Six Cars of Exhibits. The six cars in which the exhibits are housed form a marvelous picture of American industry in miniature, arranged against a red, white and blue background in a manner to make the visitor thrill with patriotism. Marvin Cox, regional information official of the Atlanta office for emergency management, yesterday urged small manufacturers not to be awed by the perfection of the exhibit, nor to be timid about asking questions.

Many of the most complicated machines used in modern warfare have extremely simple parts. He pointed out that a firm with only seven employees obtained a lucrative contract for building tripod legs for an elaborate piece of field radio equipment.

"If you don't see anything you think your firm could make, tell one of the engineers what equipment you have and ask him what you could do," he said.

Cox Reports Preview. Cox went to Greenville, S. C., yesterday for a preview of the train. He reported the experts in charge had already turned many peace-time factories into factories producing vital defense goods.

Cars 7 and 8 of the train contain the living quarters of the experts in charge and the manufacturers will enter it at car 6, the OPM office, in which they will register. There they will be given report cards.

Each manufacturer carries his card with him on his tour of inspection and on it he will list the displayed articles which he thinks he can make. This card is turned in as the manufacturer leaves the train and serves to give the Army and Navy lists of new possible bidders for each item needed. The train necessarily cannot carry all of the myriad items needed by the Army and Navy, Cram said, adding that manufacturers who do not see products they can make should ask the experts about them.

For example, he said, few wood-work products can be carried because of their bulk, yet the Atlanta office of the Contract Distribution Division receives numerous invitations on wood items daily. To manufacturers, Cram gave the following instructions: Admission to the train is by ticket only. Two representatives of each manufacturer will be admitted. Every effort will be made to see that every manufacturer sees the train.

Instructions to Visitors. Each manufacturer should write down in his own notebook and on the report to be left with the train the numbers of items and the branch which produces them which he sees in each car. He leaves a record of this with the train and keeps a copy for his own information.

After going through the train, each manufacturer is urged to visit the Contract Distribution Division office in the Hurt building and discuss with engineers there the items on the train they think their plants can produce.

Car 5 contains numerous articles required by the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics, Ordnance, Supplies and Accounts and Navigation and the Marine Corps. In car 4 they will see articles needed by the Maritime Commission, the Army Quartermaster Corps and the Navy Bureau of Ships. In car 3 they will see articles needed by the Army Engineers, the Signal Corps, the Medical Corps and the Chemical Warfare Service. In this car they will see gas bombs, showing that the United States will not be caught unprepared if the enemy resorts to gas warfare.

Car 2 is devoted to the needs of the Air Corps, from pilots' jackets to airplane propellers. Car 1 is devoted to the Army Ordnance Department.

LAFAYETTE SPEAKER. LAFAYETTE, Ga., Dec. 11.—M. D. Collins, state superintendent of schools, will be guest speaker at the father-son banquet of the Future Farmers of America here tomorrow night.
